County Commissioners Get $28,454.44 Check As Share Of Receipts

Natural gas production in the Accident, Mt. Lake Park, Gortner and Red House areas over the past three months ending March 31, has come close to the all-time previous record of three months ago, it was learned from the report received this week by the County Commissioners.

The number of cubic feet produced in the 90-day period totaled 1,557,598,000 and was the sixth time that the amount exceeded a billion cubic feet. The marketable gas was valued at $406,491.99.

The company sent a check for $28,454.44 as the county's total from the seven percent tax on the marketable gas which was just $119.38 less than the last check of $28,573.82. The first check was received by the Commissioners for the first report back in 1951.

The breakdown of this latest tax showed $11,381.78 as the purchaser's proportion (2.8 percent) and $17,072.66 as the producer's proportion. (4.2 percent).

Production from the thirty-three producing wells during the months of January, February and March totaled almost 17 and one-third million cubic feet per day with the Herman and Hanlin well in the Accident area being responsible for 3.6 million per day. No new wells were tabulated during this period and the Beachy well was not recorded. The B. Miller Well in the Accident area showed a production of 326,150,000 cubic feet, the Earl Knox well showed a production of 248,002,000 cubic feet, the Mitchell Rush well showed a production of 207,420,000 cubic feet. Other large producers were the Arnold well with over 51 million, the Bowser well with over 48 million, the Ford-Fike well with over 22 million, the Swartzentruber well with over 16 million, the Miller well with over 111 million, and the Collier well with over 98 million. The N. K. Welch well, one of the oldest wells still producing, showed a total of 17,529,000.

Mt. Lake Park will receive a portion of the tax through the County Commissioners from gas produced within the corporate limits of the town.

Since the first check for the tax on the marketable gas was received by the Commissioners in July of 1951, the county's governing body has received $273,385.18 which has been used to help pay off the school bond indebtedness. Any amount in excess of $50,000 during any one year will go toward the expenses of the Garrett County Memorial hospital. During the past year $11,238.55 was placed in the hospital expense fund. Should the returns continue to remain at a high level this year it would be possible to place over $50,000 in the hospital expense fund and would relieve the Commissioners of making any levy for that item next year.

The complete report of the production for the ninety-day period is shown in tabular form in today's issue.

Is Your Name SELBY?

Do you know that

Selby, an old and honored surname, is of English origin. Authorities on nomenclature appear to be in unanimous agreement that it was the name bestowed in many towns during mediaeval times upon recently arrived emigrants from Selby, a place in West Yorkshire, England. It should be noted that the Old English "sele" denoted "dwelling, mansion or hall of a landlord," and that the suffix "by" stands for a "town or settlement." Thus the community by the name of Selby owes its name to the fact that it was a "village by the mansion."

Nicholas Selby (1750-1825) and James Selby (1760-1809) served as privates in the Maryland troops during the Revolutionary War. The former lived in Anne Arundel county and the latter in Worcester county.

The Selby family is one of the oldest in Maryland, for the first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has forty five listings of individuals, bearing that name, who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time.

M. L. Selby was a school teacher in Ryan's Glade, District 8, Garrett county, during the year ending May 13, 1881.

There are six listings of individuals, bearing the name of Selby, in the latest directory of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

The genealogy "Mary Ann Selby, Her Ancestors and Descendants" was compiled by Ruth Thayer Ravenscroft, of Colorado Springs, in 1948. A number of pages in this work are devoted to the Selbys of Maryland.

August Dawson Selby (1859-1924) of Wooster, Ohio, earned widespread recognition as a botanist and authority on the diseases and breeding of plants.

Sam Selby is professor and head of the department of mathematics, University of Akron (Ohio).

Roger A. Selby is chairman of the board of directors, Selby Shoe Company, Portsmouth, O., nationally known manufacturer of footwear.

Milton Lloyd Selby is president, Safeway Stores, Inc., substantial retail grocery chain.

Just How Little Can One Get? . . .

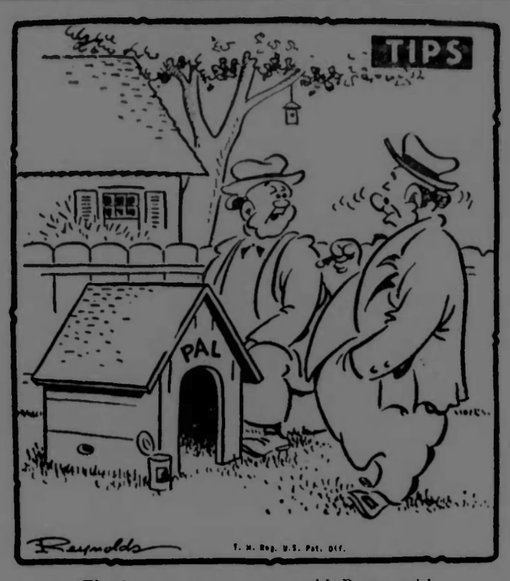
Things have a way of cropping up to prove the smallness of people. Here's an insignificant item, and yet one that shows to what lengths some people will go at times just for spite—for what else could it be?

The list of sixty some appointments as notaries public came through last week. Usually the list continues about the same from year to year. The Secretary of State hands a list of notaries, presently serving, to the State Senator. The Senator may have additional names to add, and so he puts them on the list. He also has the right, if he wants to use it, to blue pencil ones on the list. Apparently he used the blue pencil on Mrs. Virginia Fizer and Virgil Steyer, Jr., which could have been for no other purpose than spite.

A notary public first of all is a convenience to people who have to swear to certain documents. Notaries certainly aren't noted for making money from their notarizing.

So the elimination of these two notaries isn't going to cause any financial flurry. But it does mean that if someone in the roads office needs a notary he will have to go elsewhere to find one. Likewise, in the Commissioners' office. So all that the Senator has done is to cause inconvenience to the general public to prove his excessive smallness.

King Hussein put Jordan under military governor and launched war against communists in his kingdom.



"That's my name — we sold Rover with a Want Ad!"

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

As I recall the many words of my Master, Jesus Christ, one which has always stuck in my mind is his statement 'Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of my Father Who is in heaven."

The age old story of the griping minister who says that too many people come to church but once a year is new as well as old. In my particular congregation there were less than half as many who came to the services on the Sunday after Easter as came on Easter Sunday. I imagine that this story is familiar to most churches. The quality of the message of the Word is the same, the sins of the people still need to have forgiveness; the people still need the Word of God, but it seems that most do not want it. When I think of the many who cried "Lord, Lord," on Easter I cannot help but wonder what happened in one short week to make them think that they had had enough. Does a man go through a day without thinking of physical nourishment? How can he go through a week without the food of the Word of God? If he believes, as he claims he does when he comes into a church to confess his faith, how can he help but remember the word of Christ that "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds out of the mouth of God in heaven." So spiritual nourishment is every bit as important, even more so, than physical nourishment. This becomes particularly true when we think that our physical bodies perish at the end of this life, but our souls were created for eternity. All the worrying about how much money we have will not amount to anything in eternity, for as I have heard said, "I never saw a casket with a pocket for your money."

Our Lord recognized the fact that many would pay him lip service, as he clearly indicated in the statement that I have already quoted. The Prophet Amos also clearly indicated this attitude in his statement: "Thus says the Lord. This people honors me with their lips, but their heart is far from me." So I guess maybe the minister should not complain, but merely recognize the fact that not everybody will be as faithful as they should be and let it go at that. But this is not the attitude that a Christian pastor takes, for he realizes just how important it is that people walk in the path laid out by God's Word, and he wants more than anything else for an opportunity to preach the Gospel and for people to hear it.

So I challenge you as a pastor interested in your souls, do not take lightly the Word of God, treat it with the respect that comes from a knowledge that God made this world, and that in order to live properly, we must follow where He would lead us. This requires your constant consideration of His Word, by prayer daily, by study of His Word, and by a full participation in the Body of His Son, the Christian church. Come out to hear the Word of God in your church this week.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Senator Harry F. Lyrd has just finished a careful detailed study of the $73.3 billion Federal budget for 1958 as submitted by the President. And in a major Senate speech he has called for specific reductions totaling $6.5 billion. Senator Byrd told Congress, the President and the people of America just where the cuts should be made and why. He set forth "three perils" which he said the country would be accepting if the full $73.3 billion budget were to be approved.

"First," he said, "it is the largest peacetime budget in the history of our country. It is the third largest budget of any kind, considering the war periods—the many wars that we have been in.

"Secondly, it embraces a number of new avenues for spending. It has 14 aids to the States for federal grants. It opens up a Pandora's box in building the public-school buildings... We went into foreign aid, the Marshall Plan; we were told that would last for four years; guaranteed that. Mr. Truman said, 'I guarantee to you that we'll not spend it for more than four years—15 billion dollars.' We've spent 50 billions of dollars on the Marshall Plan. Whenever you start these things, you can't stop them.

"Thirdly, this budget presents the peril—the fact—that it is not soundly based on a balance of revenue, because it has two unpredictables: One is that there must be an increase in postal rates of 700 million dollars, which the Congress has not yet enacted. Very frankly, it is my expectation to vote for some reasonable increase—that is justified in the postal rates, because I think the Post Office Department should be self-sustaining. But Congress has not enacted that. Yet the budget includes the revenue from this increase of 700 million dollars in order to balance the present budget. Also the budget anticipates an increase in income—that is to say, in the national prosperity—of 6 per cent for the year 1957. I think...you will agree with me that's a very dangerous basis on which to balance the present budget."

"So this budget," continued Senator Byrd, "is not only the largest budget, but it mortgages, so to speak, the future prosperity of the country. This budget continues entrenched spending and opens up new federal programs... I would be unfaithful to my own conscience and to those things that I have stood for during the time that I have been in public life if I did not denounce this budget."

While in Washington recently many men on Capitol Hill told me they were getting an almost record-breaking mail demanding curtailment of federal expenditures. If this grass roots clamor continues, the "Byrd" budget cutting $6.5 billion from the recommended spending for the next fiscal year will get ever more serious consideration in the Congress and taxes might begin to come down.

The exhibit may be viewed any time during regular library hours. It is part of what is recognized as one of the finest collections of Currier and Ives lithographs in the United States. It was assembled by an insurance company and arrangements for its display in Oakland were made by Carlton Bowser, insurance agent.

The collection was started 20 years ago and 228 of the prints have been reproduced in calendars published by the insurance company which have awakened an interest in portrayals of "Americana" which present the urban and rural life of the mid-19th century as well as some of its historical events.

Gets All Expense Trip

Jerry Lee Liller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Liller, of Fairfax, Va., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Friend of Deer Park, won an all-expense trip to New York City, April 23 and 24.

The trip was earned by merits in delivering the Evening Star newspaper in his community. His merits were good delivery service, new orders written, no justifiable complaints, prompt bill payment and his attitude toward his Star route. Jerry will have had his Star route one year on May 1.

While in New York City he toured the NBC building, Rockefeller Center roof, Statue of Liberty and was on a three-hour yacht cruise around Manhattan Island. He was an overnight guest at the New Yorker hotel.

County Has Light Frost on Tuesday

Garrett county has had several days of warm and clear weather this week, indicating that summer was here, but cold mornings have dispelled that idea. In fact there was a light frost reported on Tuesday morning with the thermometer hovering around 33 degrees. One other morning the mercury dropped to 35 degrees. The frost apparently did no damage.

There were two electrical storms during the week, one last Thursday and one on Sunday evening. The storm last Thursday caused a power failure in sections of the northern end of the county, and because it was impossible to use the cafeterias in Northern High, Friendsville and Accident elementary schools, schools were dismissed at noon Friday. The current was resumed shortly thereafter.

An electric pole on the Fingerboard road west of town on Thursday was struck by lightning, causing power failure in that area for a short time.

Otherwise the week's weather has been mostly clear and warm. Farmers are stating the ground is very dry and that rain is needed.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Pots Call The Kettle

Some weeks hence, Mr. David Beck, who is being denounced—and properly so—all over the country as a corruptionist and a scoundrel, is scheduled to be thrown out of the AFL-CIO combination of which the teamsters union which he heads is the largest unit—and otherwise scorched, panned, penalized and held up to scorn and contempt.

* * *

A great deal will be said and written—and none of it favorable—after Mr. Beck's national colleagues of the unions and the courts get through with him. "Very little skin," as the saying goes, "will he left on his hide." At least such is the expectation. In brief, Mr. Beck is slated for the exceedingly unsavory role of the "horrible example" and all the other labor hosses, big and little, in the union rackets are about to heat their hreasts and proclaim the purity of their hearts, while they swat the unfortunate Mr. Beck who got caught. The whole game of the present labor hoss, like the "moderate Republicans," is to appear honest and respectable, even noble. Of course, very few of them are, which makes their so-called "code of ethics" more or less a joke.

* * *

In the case of Mr. George Meany, the present president of the AFL-CIO, this would seem a tragic joke, indeed. Because, for Mr. Meany to lambaste and denounce Mr. Beck for violating the "code of ethics" so piously erected hy himself and his exceedingly unveracious and truculent friend and colleague, Mr. Walter Reuther, would probably he the worst example of false pretense and hypocrisy in the whole of American history. They would become the prize Pecksniffs on record. For, it does not appear possible that in ten or twelve years, either in the ranks of union labor or among professional politicians, the cases of Joseph S. Fay and James Bove, one a president of the International Union of Operating Engineers, the other vice-president of the International Hod Carriers, Builders and Common Laborers Union of America, would he completely forgotten. District Attorney Hogan, who prosecuted the case, said that "well over $1,000,000 had been paid on the Delaware aqueduct job." And in reply to a plea of leniency declared—"Both these men are ruthless and greedy thieves and their long and greedy conspiracy, from 1936 to 1943, is a record full of overt acts."

* * *

Such was the view of these two powerful trade-union leaders—Fay being the more powerful of the two—taken hy the sentencing judge and the prosecuting attorney, both men of proven ahility, honor and experience. On April 3, 1945, each was sentenced to from 8½ years to sixteen years. After their appeals were rejected they were both confined in one of New York's penitentiaries. Almost immediately Mr. Fay attained a greater degree of leniency than any other prisoner previously known.

* * *

His friends gathered weekly in his rooms at the penitentiary and he carried on not only his trade-union activities but his political activities as well. Among his most regular callers was Mr. George Meany, now head of the AFL-CIO combination, which is all set under Mr. Meany's direction to kick Mr. David Beck out of his organization. Mr. Westbrook Pegler recently repeated that week after week this Mr. Meany, now the outstanding labor figure of them all, sneaked into the jail of this convicted thief and crook in the "dark of the moon" admittedly on close and intimate terms with him.

* * *

Eventually (largely through Mr. Pegler) this state of affairs caught the attention of the Governor of the State, one Thomas E. Dewey. Governor Dewey at once took steps to break up those weekly, little conferences and ordered the lordly Mr. Fay transferred to another penitentiary, Dannemora, run on far different lines and known in the New York underworld as "Siberia." There Mr. Fay remained quite unhappily, it is said, until 1956. It was reported that Mr. Fay not only did not like the change but did not understand it. Then, the Governor having changed from Republican to Democratic, friends of Mr. Fay again got busy in his behalf. Last year he was freed by the new State Board of Parole, appointed, it was believed, by Gov. Averell Harriman. It is said conditions of his parole are that he shall neither engage in political nor union activities. What do they expect him to do at his age and with his record? One wonders. One also wonders if Mr. Beck is kicked out and his name made equivalent with a dirty word in the higher ethical labor circles just how Mr. Beck would take it. Would he not seek reprisals against his former ethical colleagues? He would be more than human not to. And he might thereby benefit the country and labor as a whole, too.

THE AMERICAN WAY

AS YOU READ IT

By Dr. Alfred P. Haake, noted economist, public relations consultant, author and lecturer.

Whenever I write something for publication I feel some apprehension lest someone read into what I have written something that is not there, or twist my meaning to make it something different than I intended, or miss my real point to emphasize something of lesser importance.

Much depends on how you read it, and not even the most careful writer can escape entirely being at the mercy of those who read what he writes.

Several weeks ago I wrote a piece entitled "A Problem For All America." In it I tried to make clear that the Supreme Court decision of more than a year ago really mixed two issues that should be dealt with separately. One was that of segregation in the public schools, which is really the problem and responsibility of the several States and not of the Federal Government, since the entire question of education and its administration, by virtue of the 9th and 10th Amendments to the Constitution, is the responsibility of the several States.

The other issue is that of relative responsibility and power of the States and the Federal Government. Over a period of years, even before leadership in the Democratic Party deserted the principles of Thomas Jefferson and led the parade of collective good through concentrating power and responsibility in the Federal Government, the Constitution of the United States has been pushed further and further into the background of futility by interpretations which successively contradict each other as well as by the actual ignoring of its provisions by left-wingers in our administrations.

I asked that we restore respect for that Constitution, even by the Congress, the Supreme Court and all Public Officials who swear to support that Constitution when they take office.

A reader who took exception to my article accused me of neglecting the rights and equality of men, and the brotherhood which should motivate us in our dealings and relations with our fellow men.

He pointed out, among other things, that the black race is not inferior to the white race despite differences in evolution, and illustrated his point with an example of negro children who were found superior to another group of white children. He denied what I had pointed out as biological taboos against the mixing of certain blood strains and hooted at the danger of the white race being diluted by mixture of races. He called for equal treatment in all respects.

But he missed the real point. What I emphasized then, as I do now, is that we cannot legislate goodness into people, nor establish social relations by supreme court edict. Real integration can come only if and when people are ready and qualified for it. Our task is to encourage all men to do their utmost to become worthy, within as well as between races, and encourage them to give others the opportunity to make themselves worthy.

It is sheer nonsense to insist that men are equal in all respects. There are inequalities among my own five children. Equality before the law, in responsibility to the laws that govern life, and in the sense that we are all children of a common God—that equality is ours. But there are tremendous differences in endowment, ability, performance and individual deserving according to individual behavior. Such inequality keeps life moving. Life with utter equality would be like an ocean without motion, a vast stagnant pool covered with the miasma of rotting things and death.

Brotherhood does not require equality in social or economic activity, or life on the same level. The Greatest of them all found brotherhood with slaves and those persecuted, without first demanding that slavery and persecution cease or that tyrants cease their tyrannies. The Spirit He engendered proved itself the most effective of all remedies for human ills through the years, and will carry men infinitely further toward real brotherhood and full opportunity for individual growth, than all the power of all governments seeking to control the economic and social lives of their citizens.

Critically Injured In Unusual Accident

Richard Carl Dodge, 22, of Terra Alta, W. Va., is in critical condition at Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland after a mishap near Hopemont early last Saturday morning.

He suffered a fractured skull and other injuries when he fell from his car and was run over by another car.

West Virginia State Trooper Jack Gribben, of Kingwood, said the door of Dodge's car opened unexpectedly, that he fell to the pavement, and that a machine operated by William F. Johnson, ran over him. The mishap occurred on a curve.

Trooper Gribben quoted Robert W. Feather, Terra Alta, and Bernard Lee Martino, Corinth, as saying they were riding in the front seat with Dodge, who was driving, but did not see him fall from the vehicle. They were traveling at a slow speed, they added. The two other youths were able to stop the car in the middle of the roadway. The investigation is continuing.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer again pledged that West Germany would not make its own atomic weapons.

A slight increase in welfare expenditures for March was noted with 654 persons receiving $24,082.42 through the Garrett County Welfare Board. Figures were released by Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Department of Public Welfare. The total did not include costs of administration.

The report showed the total number receiving assistance was four more than the number receiving assistance during February, and that the total amount was $245.45 more than for the previous month.

Three hundred one persons in 106 families received $8,675.17 under the aid to dependent children category, an average of $81.84 per family. There were three new applications with six cases added and two cancelled.

Five blind persons received $298.75. Ninety-six persons listed as permanently and totally disabled received $4,415.52, an average of $46. Two new applications were received here with one case added and two cancelled.

Thirteen persons listed under general public assistance received $640.15, an average of $48.47. In this category there were three new applications, with one case added and two cancelled. Twenty-four children listed under Foster Home care received $1,348.50, an average of $56.19. In this group there was one new application with one case added.

Throughout the state the expenditures for March amounted to $1,899,356, compared to $1,731,266 for March a year ago and $1,878,981 for the previous month.

Court Hears Case

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company sought to convince the Maryland Court of Appeals Tuesday it should reverse a $5,000 judgment awarded Steven Adams of Consolidation near Frostburg.

Adams claimed he and his family became sick after eating lettuce he bought at the A and P Store in Frostburg. An Allegany County jury could not come to a decision and the case was moved first to Washington and then Garrett where the verdict in favor of Adams was returned.

The company argued before the Court of Appeals that no evidence was offered that the lettuce wasn't wholesome at the time of purchase. The company attorneys also contended that the doctrine of implied warranty of wholesomeness of food does not apply to unprocessed, perishable raw vegetables if purchased and not eaten promptly.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Let's Live It Up

Beauty, beauty, everywhere and we of Garrett county know how to make the most of it. Not every spring unfolds like heaven itself, so when one does we learn to live it up.

That pause, on the way to the clothes line, to listen to the bees in the apple blossoms and to sniff deeply the glorious fragrance of the bloom of the wild plum, is indeed the most refreshing of them all.

Little girls have discovered the thrill of playing at the spring and have given way to creative mood and fashioned all kinds of lakes and pools and waterfalls—for the fairies, no doubt. So I steal away between baskets of clothes to let my mind go fancy free, and dream too of the days I played at a pasture spring.

Clear running water on a spring day with the air tinted delicately with the scent of arbutus would be salve for a sick soul, and buoyancy for a well one.

As I look beyond the little spot of earth we call our own I can see blooming service trees everywhere. Other places may have their dogwood and red bud but where on earth does one find so many service trees as on this mountain range?

Then the birds have all returned, a robin nesting in the forks of a crooked branch at our bedroom window—in a limb that should have been removed, but we wouldn't think of frustrating a mother robin until she's hatched her second batch of babies.

Last week the Papa cardinal was announcing to the world "I'm here." This week he is adding another line to his song, "you cute thing." The Baltimore oriole arrived April 26, a week early, which exploded my neighbor's theory that they always arrive on St. Monica's day.

The brown thrushes are singing too, and according to the same neighbor, does not sing any other time during the year except at mating. Do you suppose he gets bogged down with responsibility?

Yes, these are good days—to work, to plan, to dream, to plant, to visit with the neighbors and to get rid of dandelions. "Rejoice and be glad in it."

Remember When?

One of the greatest achievements of spring was to get out of long underwear and to get to go barefoot. This great accomplishment was done with whining, begging, nagging and every conceivable way of breaking down parental will power.

I'm sure, down deep, they feared we would die of pneumonia for no parent would willingly torture as we were tortured, as that scratchy underwear built up a temperature of 110 in the shade.

A Lean Ambition

Culture Comes to Us

Often, as we take stock of all the things we have in our rural area, we sometimes wish that cities might be more accessible so we could visit museums, art galleries and other things of culture.

The Junior Civic club is bringing something to us that should have appeal to many. They are having an art exhibit of original Currier and Ives prints at Ruth Enlow library. They should bring back memories to the oldsters, while portraying to the youngsters a colorful way of life that belonged to their great grandfathers.

—o—

The art exhibit for high schools displayed at the state AAUW convention at Frostburg last week was an interesting one and I wish more of the folks could have seen it.

I've heard through a round about way that a history professor at Yale said that the art of a nation tells whether the country is ascending or declining, and American art tells us that we are still a young and climbing country.

I'm no judge of art but I did sense in this youth exhibit freshness of thought and originality.

Grantsville Youth Killed Instantly In Auto Mishap

A four-year-old Grantsville boy was killed instantly when he fell beneath the wheels of an automobile operated by his grandmother Monday afternoon in front of the grandparents' residence about five miles west of Grantsville.

Killed was Larry Marvin Warnick, son of Marvin and Mary Durst Warnick, who live near Grantsville. State police said the youngster was riding in the front seat of the car being driven by his grandmother, Mrs. Nellie Mae Durst, when the accident occurred.

Trooper Glen Folk, who investigated, said the child fell out the door of the car when it opened accidentally as Mrs. Durst was backing the vehicle in order to turn it around. The child apparently fell under the front wheels of the car which passed over his head before Mrs. Durst could stop. The boy died instantly of a fractured skull, Trooper Folk said.

The child was born October 28, 1952, at Meyersdale, Pa., and is survived by his parents, two brothers, William Warnick and Wilmer Warnick, at home; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Durst, of near Grantsville; and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Warnick, New Germany.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the New Germany Methodist church with Rev. Clarence Moyer, pastor of Maple Grove Church of the Brethren, officiating. Interment was in the New Germany cemetery.

A Message from Clinton W. Englander, "Your Pharmacist"

Mothers are loved all year long, but one day each year is always singled out to remind everyone of her importance.

This year May 12 is Mother's Day. That is when she truly becomes everybody's "Queen for a Day."

"God could not be everywhere, and therefore He made Mothers," an old saying tells us. Napoleon said, "The future destiny of the child is always the work of the mother."

We, too, want to add our tribute to mothers. We know them well. When they visit our pharmacy it is usually to obtain something for the better health or comfort of their loved ones. We can testify to Mothers' constant devotion.

Our pharmacy is really one of Mother's helpers. We are proud of the fact that she often calls on us for information about the health products we supply.

New Dial Equipment Is Being Installed

Installation of the complex dial telephone equipment which will serve Gormania, Bayard and Mt. Storm started on April 8th and according to I. F. Anderson, commercial manager for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of West Virginia, will be completed by Saturday, May 18.

The installation of this equipment requires the service of skilled Western Electric company craftsmen, who have been specially trained for this type of work.

This central office equipment is being installed in the telephone company's new building located on Route 90 south from Gormania, and is of sufficient size to serve all applicants for telephone service in Gormania, Bayard and Mt. Storm.

The actual cutover to dial telephone service for these three communities is scheduled for Sunday, June 2, at 2 a. m., after which time all customers of the telephone company in this area will be able to dial each other direct by dialing, first, the two letters of the central office name, OW for OWen, followed by the five numerals of the telephone number being called.

Just prior to the cutover to dial service, Anderson advised that all customers will be provided with a new telephone directory that will list all the new 2-letter 5-numeral telephone numbers for Gormania, Bayard and Mt. Storm.

Forest Camp Plans Ready For Builders

Drawings and specifications for the two proposed new state boys forestry camps in this county are nearing completion and James J. O'Donnell, director of the State Department of Public Improvements, anticipates that they will be in the hands of contractors in about two weeks.

A total of $100,000 was provided in the General Construction Loan of 1956 for the two camps. Of this amount $89,000 is for construction and $11,000 for equipment.

Each camp will accommodate 25 boys and supervisory personnel. Eventually each camp will have three basic buildings, one for dining hall and kitchen, hobby room, recreation room, small laundry; the second, dormitory, toilets, shower rooms, counselor room and locker room; the third for staff, with living facilities for supervisory and training personnel.

The boys themselves, during warm weather, will apply the finishing touches to the buildings and grounds. The work by the boys is to provide training and education.

One camp is located four miles west of Lonaconing, in this county. The other is to be on Meadow Mountain at New Germany. The first such camp was opened at Green Ridge forest in Allegany county in May, 1955.

Male pheasants, ruffed grouse, rabbit, and partridge may be hunted November 15 to January 5, inclusive, with restrictions during the deer season in this county. Bag limits are 2 per day for pheasant, 2 for grouse, 4 for rabbit and 6 for partridge.

Deer may be hunted December 2 and 7, with a limit of one per season.

Open season on game birds conforms with Federal regulations within dates set forth by the General Assembly of Maryland in chapter 537, Acts of 1957.

County Has 6 Spots For Roadside Picnics

Garrett county now has six of Maryland's 98 roadside picnic areas.

The sites are equipped with tables, benches, trash cans and off-road parking spaces, with a number of them having fireplaces. Seventeen are combined with ponds or streams where fishing is available to the public. Each of the nearly 300 trash cans in these areas is emblazoned with the familiar legend "Keep Maryland Beautiful."

The picnic area program is one of Governor McKeldin's pet projects. The sites are located at random points throughout the state on excess strips of land or on property donated to the state by private parties for the purpose of establishing picnic areas. Garrett county's areas are listed as follows: U. S. route 40, three miles west of Grantsville, with two fireplaces, 6 tables, space for ten autos, and 2 trash-cans; U. S. 219, 3.3 miles north of Oakland with three fireplaces, 8 tables, 4 trasheans and space for 12 autos; U. S. 219, 11 miles north of Oakland with four fireplaces, 8 tables, 4 trasheans and space for 15 autos; U. S. 219, 11.1 miles north of Oakland with four fireplaces, 8 tables, four trasheans and space for 15 autos; state route 38, 5.5 miles east of Deer Park, with four tables, 2 trasheans and space for 10 autos; U. S. 50, 4.5 miles west of Gorman, with four tables, 2 trasheans and space for six autos.

Receives Promotion

Ray M. Gilpin, a son of Ira and Clesta Gilpin, of route 2, Grantsville, who is serving with the 464th installations squadron at Pope Air Force base at Fort Bragg, N. C., was promoted to the grade of airman second class.

A letter to Mr. and Mrs. Gilpin from the airman's commander indicated that Gilpin had earned his promotion, that his conduct was excellent and that he was setting a fine example for other airmen in the squadron.

Another son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilpin, Pvt. Julius Gilpin, is near the completion of his basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C., where he was inducted into the army, February 2. He will spend a fourteen-day leave at home starting May 4, then will return to Fort Campbell, Ky., for a course in engineering school.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

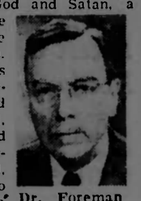
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Genesis 1:27-23; 3-9
Devotional Reading: Psalm 90:1-12.

Resourceful God

Lesson for May 5, 1957

THE BIBLE has a plot, take it as a whole, as much as any thriller you ever read. In fact the Bible is more thrilling, because it directly concerns each one of the human race. It is the story of age-long conflict between Good and Evil, portrayed as a personal conflict between God and Satan, a struggle for the control of the earth and of man. The story begins in a sunny, hopeful way. God makes a world, an unfinished world but nevertheless beautiful, and he calls into existence Man and Woman, to live on this earth, to beautify and complete it further. They are to be God's friends and fellow-workers. But before the reader quite knows how it happens, the Serpent appears on the scene and persuades man that God is not his friend but his enemy. So the man rebels against his Maker, is faithless to his divine Friend. Philosophers and theologians have other ways of telling it; but from the simple picture-stories of Genesis shines the same double truth and tragedy: Man is made for fellowship with God and other human beings, but he has broken the fellowship, he has turned against his truest Friend.



Dr. Foreman

God Planning

Mysteries darken our knowledge here. But of some things we can be sure. One is that God does not deal with his world and his creatures haphazard. He is a planning God. Another thing that seems clear is that man has freedom to obey God or to disobey; to fit in with the Plan or to reject it and the Planner. God could, no doubt, have made a race of beings who could not possibly do anything but right, a race of perfect robots; but for some reason God chose to make man free. One suspects that the reason is that God would rather be loved by persons who would love him freely, than to be loved by creatures "wound up," so to speak—bound to love him whether or not. (Would that be real love?) Another thing that stands out is that God is resourceful; in one sense his Plan can be broken, when men go contrary to his will. In another sense men do not break his Plan, for God appears in Genesis like a wise general who has more than one plan of strategy—all pointing to victory.

God Rejected

Man is not free unless he is free to do wrong as well as to do right. And if he is free to do wrong, which is a short way of saying free to go against the will and plan of God, then he is free to destroy himself. For the Plan of God for man, born as it is infinite Wisdom and infinite Love, is always for man's best. For man to resist God, to ignore him, scorn him, live by man-made plans, is to choose the way of death. Genesis shows dramatically how the sin of man grows worse as a snowball grows larger—the farther it goes the more rapidly it grows. Adam's sin seemed a rather slight thing—then his son is a murderer, and his descendants so bad that God could scarcely find one good family among them. The story in Genesis is the story of mankind; men prefer their own way to God's way—the way of hate and conflict rather than the way of fellowship and love; and they suffer the judgment of God; namely that those who take their own way must accept the inevitable disaster.

God Undefeated

Many religions know of just and righteous gods who have been rejected by wicked or careless or ignorant men. But the God revealed in the Bible does not act as the "gods of the gentiles" are said to act. For man's sin other gods may have resentment, vengeance, punishment. But these things leave man as he was, an enemy—a conquered enemy perhaps, but with rebellion still smoldering in his soul. Other religions provide elaborate methods by which men may pay for their sins—going long pilgrimages, undergoing self-imposed tortures. But the true God is quite different from the gods whom men imagine—a god undefeated, infinitely resourceful. He never gives up his Plan for a people in fellowship with him. Men are changed, saved, made fit to be God's friends, only by steadfast undiscouraged love.

United States Senator from Maryland

The following is a report on the answers I have received to the questionnaire I sent out on various matters of local and national interest.

Of the 5,000 question forms mailed from my office, 1,249—or 24.9 percent—were returned with answers. I have been told that this is an exceptionally good response.

Another 143 sets of answers were received from persons who saw the questionnaire in one of the various newspapers which printed it.

Additional Comments Received

In tabulating the results, I used a category listed as "Other" for those answers which contained possibilities completely different from the ones I had mentioned or which were qualified so extensively that I could not accurately list them under "Yes" or "No".

A large perecentage of the completed questionnaires were accompanied by additional comments, many of which were contained in lengthy letters, and I intend to discuss some of these in a future newsletter.

The compilation which follows was made from the questionnaires returned between February 24, when the first ones were mailed, and April 24.

Although I do not pretend to be a professional pollster, I do, nevertheless, feel that the 5,000 Marylanders to whom the questionnaire was sent provided a good representation of all sections of the State and all walks of life.

A few answers are still being received and are being studied as carefully as those which were used for this report.

Note: On No. 14, some persons checked fewer or more than 3 items, and this accounts for the fact that the totals for this question do not agree with the others.

Eight Vestrymen Named

Eight persons were elected as vestrymen for St. Matthews Episcopal church at the annual congregational meeting held Sunday.

Those named were Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, Dr. E. Irving Baumgartner, Merrill C. Cargo, Emile L. Germain, Joseph C. Frantz, Clinton W. Englander, all re-elected; and Irving R. Wolf and Ralph H. Beachley. The latter two replaced John C. Getty and Earl L. Zepp. The two new men will be installed Sunday, May 5 by Judge Fraley.

The Vestry will meet at the Parish House, Friday, May 3, at 8 p. m. to organize. A senior warden, junior warden, registrar, treasurer and secretary are to be named and committees are to be appointed.

SWANTON

Scouts Plan Hike-Picnic

Swanton Girl scouts made plans for a hike and picnic for next Monday evening at their regular meeting. Over the week-end six girls and one committeewoman toured Washington with the Tri-Towns scouts. Making the trip were Mrs. Freda Teets, Carolyn O'Brien, Evelyn Warnick, Linda Teets, Kathy Sweitzer, Mary Lou Teets and Charlotte Rhodes.

For Easter the girls made favors for the Oakland hospital and Cuppett Nursing home. A committee met to plan a meeting of the Tri-Towns Lone Troop association, to be held in Swanton May 8, at the home of Mrs. Mary June Harvey.

Swanton boy scouts had a weekend of hiking, camping and fishing in the Savage river area.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

Newfangled Aid

The defenders of perpetual and global foreign aid have come up with a different wrinkle. Though mutual aid was originally advocated as a temporary expedient, today, ten years later, this fact of our foreign affairs continues to flourish to the chagrin of most taxpayers. In place of a limited concept, a long-range approach, precluding annual approval by the Congress, is now being suggested. To this, a new element is to be added, that of economic aid to countries behind the Iron Curtain.

At this writing, a delegation from communist Poland is in Washington seeking a loan of up to $150 million, and there are indications that $75 million has been assured that communist dominated nation. That an everlasting desire for freedom is shared by the Poles, there can be no question. The Poznan insurrection of last year is an eloquent, yet tragic, testimonial to this thirst for liberty. In a true humanitarian spirit, the American people will continue to extend the hand of friendship and cooperation to those unwilling prisoners of the communist tyranny.

But, aiding and abetting the promoters of the communist conspiracy, through economic assistance, is hardly a proper medium for the restoration of freedom to these peoples. Support and reinforcement of the political and economic objectives of the Kremlin will be the ultimate effect of loans or grants to the communist regime in Poland, or for that matter to any of the Soviet satellites. Thereby, the inclination for freedom on the part of the oppressed is not strengthened—the power of their oppressors is fortified.

To illustrate this point, the Polish delegation is seeking funds for coal and mining equipment. However, it was recently revealed that, in 1947, Poland received from Russia "a dollar a ton for coal that sold freely in Western Europe for $16." Elsewhere, a political leader in Iceland, firmly stated that: "U. S. loans are paying the ticket to keep communists in power." It is also generally believed that loans to Britain, immediately following World War II, strengthened the intentions and ability of the party in power to socialize that country.

Senator Knowland of California put this matter in proper perspective in these words: "the basic issue involved, though it may not be so clear today, is whether we are now to embark upon a program of supporting the political and economic systems of international communism in the countries which are behind the Iron Curtain . . . " With the essential need for economy, U. S. funds should not be used for these highly dubious purposes, and I shall vote accordingly.

"FORTY-FOUR YEARS OF THE LIFE OF A HUNTER" by Meshack Browning, Maryland's famous pioneer hunter, is now available.

Although it was first published 98 years ago and is now in its 12th edition, it is more widely read than ever before.

His truthful accounts of desperate encounters with the savage beasts of the forest, his superhuman efforts to maintain his family in the wilderness, far from human aid or associations, and his undaunted courage in facing the hardships of pioneer life cannot fail to captivate the reader.

It really deserves a place in every Marylander's library.

Along The Potomac

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

My mail continues to be concerned with the budget, taxes, and the problems of small business. Some form of tax relief for the small businessman is his most pressing need. I have a bill pending in the House which would permit business firms, incorporated and unincorporated, to deduct from taxable income an amount for reinvestment purposes not to exceed 20 percent of net income or $30,000, whichever is lower. Enactment of this bill would greatly assist small firms needing funds to carry on their business activities.

There are other areas, however, in which legislation helpful to small business is being considered. One of these is clarification of pricing policies to meet competition under the anti-trust laws. A number of so-called "quality of opportunity" bills are pending before the Congress which would limit the use of "good faith" as a defense in price discrimination to meet competition.

Under H.R. 11 and similar bills, "good faith" would not be a complete defense in meeting prices of a competitor if such pricing leads to "a substantial lessening of competition" or "tends to create a monopoly."

One of the problems confronting the members of the House in considering these bills stems from the phrase "a substantial lessening of competition." There is lack of agreement as to the meaning of the words as used in the bills. Another difficulty encountered is the possible harmful effects on a small manufacturer in his attempt to compete with big industry.

Out of the "equality of opportunity" bills and proposals, which would write the "good faith" principle as an absolute defense into law, it is hoped will come legislation that will aid both the small retailer and the small manufacturer. There is controversy over these bills and the question the legislator must resolve is whether price discrimination as a means of meeting competition is a sound part of the nation's overall anti-trust policy.

On My Calendar

May 1, I plan to attend the 6th annual breakfast meeting of the Tri-State Packers ass'n., for members of Congress from this area, in the Senate Dining Room. Later that morning I will attend a meeting of state highway officials in Senator Beall's office to discuss the proposed highway from Route 240 to Washington. May 2, I am to be a guest of the Maryland League of Women Voters at breakfast at the Willard hotel. May 3, Mrs. Hyde and I will be guests of Grocery Wheels of Washington at the Norbeck Country club at 6:30 p. m. May 4, I will be the guest speaker at the National Federation of Federal Employes' dinner in Hagerstown.

Oh, Consistency . . . .

An ancient poet in one of his plays once remarked, "Oh, consistency, thou art a jewel." These words were brought to mind this week while studying two statutes passed by the recent legislature, and due to become laws the first of June. Consistency is not one of their virtues.

The one law adds $1,600 a year to the annual salary of sheriff, from $2,000 to $3,600, and instead of $600 a year expenses, the amount for expenses is unlimited, depending upon the discretion of the County Commissioners. The sheriff does not get his increase until the next election.

The other law upped the County Commissioner salaries from $900 to $2,200. At the same time it took away necessary traveling and lving expenses incurred while traveling amounting to $600 annually. It also took away the sum of $500 per year for expenses incurred by reason of his duties as member of the Road board. In other words it added $1,300 and took away $1,100.

Both of these measures originated in the House, and the Senator must have concurred. We are forced to wonder —why the great difference when the reason for increasing salaries is basically the same?

Going the rounds among the rumor spreaders is the following explanation. They declare that Paul W. Fisher, sheriff, is the largest vote getter in the county and that he was considering seriously running for the senate. They intimate that our legislators conceived a bright idea of feathering the sheriff's nest by making the salary so attractive that he would aspire to that office again instead of having his eye on the legislature.

Politics creates strange situations. Perhaps the rumor spreaders are wrong. Perhaps there is another reason why one office would deserve such a boost and the other such a "kick in the pants." Perhaps "spite" had nothing whatever to do with it. Perhaps that legislation was on such a high plane that it was beyond our comprehension. It would be interesting to know all the whys and wherefores. It might make the voters think.

Battle Forest Fire

A forest fire of undetermined origin burned from 15 to 20 acres yesterday afternoon between Crellin and Hutton before being brought under control.

Not only the forestry personnel but the Oakland Fire department members were at the scene, combining the damage to a small area.

Magistrate Friend Inherits Rather "Bare" Courtroom

"If it's good enough for the county, it's good enough for me." Newly appointed Trial Magistrate Earl Friend looked around his "courtroom" in Oakland Monday morning for the first time. It was rather bare.

Over the week-end, his predecessor, W. O. Bitzer, had moved the magisterial desk and other personal property and the incoming magistrate faced the prospect of presiding over a dozen assorted folding chairs and a small pine table. There was not even a gavel to signal order, and the single drawer in the pine table just wouldn't go shut.

There were a few other mementos. On the wall was a highway fatality map of Garrett County with a large picture of a Packard automobile pasted at the bottom; a five-inch-thick volume of the Annotated Laws of Maryland with four-inch initials, "W. O. B." penciled on the edges of the pages, and the "No Smoking" signs. It was recalled that the previous magistrate, when taking office, had the ash tray removed and a cuspidor installed. The latter, too, was missing.

Mr. Friend settled himself behind the pine table, opened the book and prepared to do business. During the day he conferred with various officials concerning the operation of the office, and said he planned to be open from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. each day, and, if necessary, several nights a week during the "busy" season.

Mr. Friend was sworn in Monday, April 29, but did not assume his position until this week. He is one of four trial magistrates in the county. The other three are C. S. Zeller, Grantsville; Melvin E. Arnold, Kitzmiller, and Ivan O. Humberson, Friendsville.

NO SMOKING

Mr. Friend returned to Garrett county in 1953 after having been absent since about 1914. He was born in Deer Park in 1887, a son of Lafayette T. and Susan A. Friend. He was employed by the B. and O. railroad in 1912 and remained with that organization until 1919 when he served as a lieutenant and later a captain in the B. and O. police. He went into the automobile business in Parkersburg, W. Va., in 1919, and in 1940 he went into the real estate business and remained active in that until he was advised by his physician to return to the mountains. He returned to the county in 1953 and has resided in Deer Park since that time. He is married to the former Sue Lohr.

Last year's Bee, the first one to be held in the county, was termed quite successful by the teachers and educational staff. Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said he hoped an even larger interest would be shown this year. He said he felt the Bee gives pupils a definite incentive to improve themselves in the spelling skills.

Remains a Patient In Local Hospital

Mrs. Betty James, of Oakland, remains a patient in Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland in a semi-conscious condition, following injuries which she sustained in an automobile wreck last Friday night.

Circumstances concerning the wreck are not available, since she was traveling alone at the time. From the meagre information it was learned that Mrs. James was returning to Oakland Friday night about 10 or 11 o'clock on route 219, near Silver Lake Park, when the accident apparently occurred. She was not discovered until about 8 o'clock Saturday morning, apparently having been thrown from the car and pinned beneath the wreckage all night.

She was brought to the hospital Saturday morning where she has remained since that time. Authorities have been unable to question her about the accident.

Hawkins, Mrs. Howard Naylor, Mrs. Guy William Hinebaugh. Judging the intermediate grades will be Mrs. Earl Zepp, Mrs. William Sharps and Mrs. Robert Sincell.

Attorney Feels Board Has Right To Hire Workers

Cites Decision Of Court Of Appeals In Giving His Opinion

The Board of County Commissioners received a reserved opinion this week that would indicate that it has authority to employ such officers, agents and servants needed to perform the duties of the board.

There has been some question about this since the passage of a bill in the recent legislature which declares that the clerk to the County Commissioners must perform all the duties of his office without any additional help and stipulates that the office shall be kept open from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 4, daily except Sunday.

At present there is a clerk to the County Commissioners, Reginald T. Brohawn, an assistant clerk, Mrs. Virginia Fizer, and two stenographers in the Assessor's office. The latter two are paid directly by the County Commissioners but work cooperatively with the State Tax Commission and the local supervisor of assessments.

The opinion was written by W. Dwight Stover, attorney to the Board. Quoting the law which goes into effect June 1 which says that the clerk "shall be in charge of the office of the County Commissioners, shall perform the duties pertaining to his office and such other duties as may be prescribed by the County Commissioners or imposed by law," it set the clerk's salary at $3,600 instead of $1,800. It also declares that "The Clerk shall perform all the duties of his office without additional help."

Mr. Stover quoted sections of the constitution, and opinions from the Court of Appeals, one section stating that "the county commissioners of each county are declared to be a corporation and shall have full powers to appoint road supervisors, collectors of taxes, trustees of the poor, a clerk to the board and all other officers, agents and servants required for county purposes not otherwise provided for by law or by the constitution, and they shall have charge of and control over the property owned by the County . . . ."

He said the Court of Appeals had interpreted this section many times and that such words were intended to confer upon the commissioners a power to appoint "all other officers, agents, and servants, required for county purposes" in addition to those whose existence was provided for either by the constitution or act of assembly.

Stover declared in his opinion, "therefore, it would appear from the cases I have referred to that your board does possess the authority to employ such officers, agents and servants needed to perform the duties of your board."

Stover pointed out that the clerk should be in charge of the office of County Commissioners and must perform his duties without any assistance.

His duties he interpreted as "being in charge of a true meridian line, compiling a list of male taxable inhabitants for jury purposes, delivering all orders for payment of monies to the treasurer, checking animal skins for bounty purposes and any duties imposed upon the clerk by the board."

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the County Commissioners, said yesterday that the Board was still undecided just what action to take in regard to the number of workers to maintain in the office, in order to adequately do the job.

Golf Course Again Open For Season

Oakland's municipal golf course is again open for the season, under the direction of the Oakland Golf club.

The club announced the appointment of Bill Waller, native of Keyser, W. Va., as the new manager of both the course and the clubhouse. Members' dues are payable to Earl Zepp, Oakland, treasurer.

Club officers announced that the tees were being resodded and would be usable within a few weeks. Greens were said to be in good shape. Efforts are being made by members to interest non-golfers in trying the sport.

The new manager, owner of a German Messerschmidt airplane, said he planned to bring his plane to the golf course, and keep it there for the summer months.

Back On Job

William Webb DeWitt, county roads engineer, returned to work in Garrett county on May 1st following an absence of some four months.

During Mr. DeWitt's absence the county road work was in charge of Paul DeWitt, assistant county road engineer.

Workers Preparing For Church Census

Some sixty-five persons of the eighty or ninety who will make a complete church census of Oakland, Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn were present last Sunday evening at St. Mark's Lutheran church in Oakland to receive preliminary instruction and to receive a picture of the over-all evangelism program to be carried out this summer.

Another meeting is scheduled for this Sunday evening when final instructions will be outlined and a short movie will be shown.

It is the plan of the church to visit every home in the community in an effort to classify individuals as to whether or not they participate in church activities, whether or not they are interested in church, and to obtain names of all children and others who reside in each home, and whether or not they attend some Sunday School.

The census is aimed to help all community churches, since those who indicate their preference for a church other than Lutheran, will have their cards turned over to the particular denomination expressed.

It is planned to begin the census on Sunday afternoon, May 19, and complete it as soon aspossible, not later than June 1.

Oakland has been divided into five areas, Mt. Lake Park into two, and Loch Lynn into one. Team captains will have anywhere from seven to a dozen helpers each in their attempt to visit every place where a person resides. Next week a copy of the religious census card will be published in The Republican with a request that residents who do not expect to be home on Sunday, May 19, fill in the form and attach it to the front door so that the census taker can obtain the needed information.

The census is just one of the activities of the evangelism program planned for this summer. Other plans are for a series of evangelism meetings August 25 to 30, concluding with a mountain top rally in Southern High school gymnasium. Missioner for Oakland will be Rev. Ralph C. Robinson, of Harrisburg, Pa. Each Lutheran church in this area will conduct similar evangelism missions on the same dates, and will have its own missioner.

Corporate earnings showed increases but businessmen were still cautious.

Heavy Frost Kills Fruit and Flowers

Heavy frosts during the past week killed most of the fruit and early flowers in the county and even caused some damage to early crops.

The weather continued clear and the lack of rainfall over the past ten days or more was causing farmers some concern. The ground is exceedingly dry for this time of year.

Coldest morning of the week was officially registered at Weber's, south of Oakland, at 22 degrees above zero, which occurred on Saturday morning. It also dropped to 25 degrees above zero on Sunday morning. Other mornings have remained cold with frost on at least two other days. All days this week have been clear with moderation in the daylight hours.

Accident Is Getting Modern Dial System

A new and completely modern dial telephone system is being installed at Accident in preparation for a June 8 changeover from the present system in effect there, according to C. I. Stem local manager of the C and P Telephone company.

Mr. Stem said installation crews already had reached the halfway mark in putting in the equipment to change the Accident office to the "2-5" dial system. Mr. Stem said the "2-5" dial system means simply that a person dials two letters and then five numbers to get his party.

The Accident dial interexchange serves around 203 telephones in Accident and Friendsville. Under the new system customers in the county will have a VAlley 6 exchange. The system will handle all incoming calls on the new exchange and calls may be dialed directly in Accident and Friendsville. However, for the present, toll calls from the county communities will continue to be dialed through the Oakland exchange when the changeover is made.

Outside construction crews are placing almost two miles of additional cable that is needed for the conversion, and installation men have changed over approximately 40 percent of the Accident exchange telephones to the new dial type.

Mr. Stem said every precaution would be taken to avoid interruption of service during the next month. He said that if there is an interruption while placing a call the customer should hang up for a few minutes and place the call again.

An Exhibit Of Old Prints To Be Shown

An exhibition of twenty-two original N. Currier and Currier and Ives prints will be presented by the Junior Woman's Civic club of Oakland from Monday, May 13, through Sunday, May 19, at the Ruth Fulow Library in Oakland.

The exhibit was made possible by arrangement with Carlton Bowser, insurance agent. Regular library hours are week-days 9 to 1, and 2 to 5, closing on Thursday afternoon. The library is open on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, however, from 7 to 9.

The exhibit was selected from the large collection of lithographs assembled by the insurance company, and is said to contain rare and unusual items.

The prints illustrate the customs and costumes of the half century which followed the publication of Nathaniel Currier's first lithograph in 1835. There are scenes of domestic life, adventure on the frontier, hunting, fishing and pioneer subjects as well as prints of racing.

Since the collection's first appearance ten years ago, they have toured the United States, Hawaii and Canada.

Demonstrations Given On Packaging Items

The demonstrations on quality selection and packing, to assist those who plan to sell on the Farm and Home Markets this summer, were held last week at the Accident Fire hall.

Mrs. Judith Pheil, nutrition specialist, Extension service, said all baked goods need to have a golden brown, smooth appearance, straight sided, evenly rounded top with weight at 14½ or 15 pounds as most desirable. She stressed that standard size pans be used for uniform pricing.

She said that bread when wrapped properly was as good frozen as not frozen, but that there probably would be both kinds at the market. It was pointed out that freezing foods to preserve freshness would be adding cost to the product. For an attractive appearance it was suggested that pan rolls not be crowded.

Harold H. Boecker, marketing specialist, stressed the need for most vegetables to be trimmed, washed and packaged properly for good appearance and staying fresh.

Various kinds of vegetables were discussed.

Three Births Occur

Only three births occurred during the past week at the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland, two girls and one boy.

On the 5th a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Eugene Friend, Mt. Lake Park.

On the 6th a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. David Albert Bowman, route 1, Oakland; a son to Mr. and Mrs. Galen Wilson, Hutton.

During the week the hospital admitted 21 patients and discharged 23. Census this morning was 36.

The 881 ships that passed through Panama canal in March broke all records.

Church Women Hear Youth Problems Discussed

The forty or more persons attending the meeting of the Oakland Council of United Church Women last Friday afternoon heard a panel discussion of local juvenile problems. Participating were Merritt Feather, S. R. Pagenhardt and Willard Hawkins.

The meeting was held in the newly redecorated U.B. church in Loch Lynn. Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, retiring officer, presided, with Mrs. William Bell, a past president, in charge of incoming officers, who were Mrs. Hope Moon, president, and Mrs. P. B. Naylor, secretary.

Due to the illness of Mrs. Moon, Mrs. Robert Lee was designated to turn over records to her. Mrs. Walter Moonaw, Mrs. James Elliott, Mrs. W. S. Patterson were named as the invitation committee. An offering of $22.12 was received, on third of which will remain in the local treasury.

Mrs. N. A. Coplin, program chairman presented Mrs. Edward P. Kahl and Rev. Bryan Blair who discussed leisure time of yesterday and today, after which the panel discussion was held. A social hour followed in the club room with Mrs. Albert Biggs, chairman of the refreshment committee, in charge. Mrs. Howard Riggs served as registrar.

Mt. Lake Woman Hopes Her Chinchillas Will Pay Off

FOR FUN AND PROFIT—Mrs. Earl Sebold and her son, Jimmy, hold four of the chinchillas the Mt. Lake Park woman has been raising for the past year or more as a hobby and, as she hopes, as an eventual source of income. The animals' cages are shown in the left background. Starting with three, Mrs. Sebold now has 14 of the valuable little animals. Smaller picture shows several chinchillas feeding on apple bark—a delicacy.

Mrs. Earl Sebold, of Mt. Lake Park, doesn't have a Chinchilla coat—but she does have Chinchillas. Fourteen of them, in fact.

Since January, 1956, her hobby has been raising the valuable little animals in her basement on Cozy Row. The project began when she purchased three of the animals from a Virginia breeder for approximately two hundred dollars each, and the others are offspring of these original animals and others which she has secured for breeding purposes by trading with other Chinchilla fanciers.

Mrs. Sebold hasn't realized any return as yet from her investment, which she estimates at about $1,000, but as the animals mature in about one year some of her Chinchillas are approaching the age when they can be sold.

The Chinchilla is a native of the Andes mountains in South America and made its first American appearance in 1923 when several of the animals were smuggled into this country. They are valued highly for their pelt, which is unusually soft and fluffy. Each hair follicle produces 60 hairs instead of the usual one, resulting in extreme fineness of texture. To make one full length coat requires from 150 to 200 pelts and the finished product is valued between $50,000 and $60,000.

The animals can produce as many as three litters each year, although this is unusual. The litters, Mrs. Sebold said are small averaging less than two. Recently, one of her pairs produced a litter of four, which is most unusual, she declared.

The full grown animals weigh only 12 to 20 ounces. Their diet is prepared in pellet form, supplemented with apple bark. They are extremely fast and active although dormant during the day.

To keep their fur clean and fluffy, Mrs. Sebold provides a bowl of fullers earth in which they tumble and turn, sometimes almost burying themselves in the soft substance which resembles sand, although much finer.

Mrs. Sebold keeps her animals in specially made cages and says they require very little care. What does she plan to do with them as the number increases? "I suppose I will try to sell them as they mature and get my investment back," she said.

On the other hand, if she perseveres, she could wind up with a new coat.

Two Are Injured In Three-Car Accident

Two persons were painfully but not seriously injured in a three-car collision on U. S. route 219, at Deep Creek Lake, last Sunday afternoon.

Injured were Mrs. Edgar Helbig, Richmond, Va., abrasions of the leg; and Mrs. John Rhodes, Fredericktown, Pa., abrasions and some teeth loosened.

Corporal Sam Conrad, of the State Police, who investigated, said the accident happened this way: Vivian McKay, Irwin, Pa., traveling north, stopped in a traffic lane, waiting to turn off the road, at the Perry Glotfelty stand. Edgar Helbig, enroute to Oakland with a new car which had just 88 miles on it, prepared to pass the McKay machine, and the latter had halted, waiting for the Helbig car to pass before turning off. John Rhodes, in a 1957 Chevrolet, traveling north, crashed into the rear of the McKay Ford, and then caromed into Helbig's car. Corporal Conrad said at least $3,000 damage resulted to the three cars.

Rhodes was charged with reckless driving and found guilty before Trial Magistrate Earl Friend in Oakland, who fined him $25 and costs.

Alva Martin, former county resident, now living in Ohio, while driving his daughter's automobile on Monday, ran off the highway at Cabin Lodge, U. S. route 219, where the paved surface ends and crashed into a bulldozer off the right side of the road. Martin was charged with reckless driving by Corporal Conrad and at a hearing Tuesday before Magistrate Friend was fined $15 and costs. He was not injured in the mishap.

Bloomington P.-T.A. Elects Its Officers

Mrs. Lillian Lacerbaire was elected president of the Parent-Teacher association of Bloomington Elementary school at a recent meeting.

Others named were Mrs. Hollis Wilt, vice-president, Mrs. Donadda Pattison, secretary and Mrs. Ruby Wildesen, treasurer.

Plans were discussed to get needed work done around the school before the current term ends. In observance of "Teacher Recognition Month," the Bloomington teachers were honored and presented with gifts.

Plans were made for a covered dish dinner at the next meeting on May 23. Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, will speak.

CLEAR THE DECKS—Jackie Calhoun as Buttercup and John Brown as Sir Joseph Porter, K.C.B., as they portray one of the scenes in "H.M.S. Pinafore," which will be presented tomorrow evening in the Southern High gymnasium.

"H. M. S. Pinatore," a two-act operetta, will be presented to the public Friday, May 10, at 8 p. m., in the Southern High gymnasium. Admission is 75 cents and 50 cents.

The entire operetta will be performed on board the ship, "H. M. S. Pinafore."

The scene opens on the quarter-deck, where "Buttercup" is selling her wares to the sailors. "Boatswain" is striving to keep "Dick Deadeye" from stirring up trouble on board.

"Captain Corcoran" arrives troubled for he has found out that his daughter, "Josephine," is in love with a common sailor on his ship.

"Sir Joseph Porter, K.C.B." comes on board surrounded by his sisters, his cousins, and his aunts, led by the devoted cousin, "Cousin Hebe." These admiring relatives accompany him wherever he goes.

"Ralph Rackstraw," the common sailor, finally reveals his love for "Josephine."

This causes confusion on board and "Ralph" is about to be thrown in the brig when "Buttercup" tells a secret she has kept to herself for many years. This confession straightens everything out and it brings about a happy ending for three merry couples. "The "Captain" marries "Buttercup," "Ralph" and "Josephine" are united, and "Sir Joseph" agrees to spend the rest of his life with "Cousin Hebe."

The main characters in this operetta are Sir Joseph, John Brown; Captain Corcoran, Eddie Sanders; Boatswain, Bill Burgwald; Buttercup, Jackie Calhoun, Cousin Hebe, Freda Cooper; and Josephine, Joan Paige.

There are five dance routines: "The Hornpipe," "Buttercup," "Masquerade," "Why and Wherefore" and "Gaily Tripping."

Dancers are Barbara Glotfelty, Bobby Sanders, Amanda Dixon, Nancy White, Libby Dilgard, Jane Duling, Pat Leighton, Lois Swartzentruber, Sandy Lee, Jean Paige, Alice Madigan, Lorraine Kight, Dick Snyder, Lester Bittinger, Harvey Winters, and Bill Burgwald.

Mrs. Ruth Brown and Miss Barbara Colabrese are the head directors. Student directors are dramatics, Helen Browning; dance, Barbara Glotfelty; and music, Carole Savage.

Preceding the performance, the Southern High Junior band will give a half hour concert under the direction of Raymond Burrell.

It doesn't seem so long since she was a little girl herself, picking out a card for her mother on Mother's Day. Yet this morning there was a card at the breakfast table, reading, "To Mommy, with love . . ."

On this day, she feels a special meaning as she goes to church with her little girl's white-gloved hand clasped tightly in hers. As they kneel in prayer together a wave of tenderness comes over her, and as she looks at the small figure by her side she at once feels grateful to God for making her a mother, and awed by the responsibility which is hers.

She prays God to endow her with the qualities all mothers need: common sense, a touch of humor, tenderness, wisdom, the capacity for comfort, a large measure of courage, quick laughter, and just a dash of sternness. And she is deeply thankful that in this, the most important task of her life, she has her Faith and her Church to guide her.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Genesis 12, 15, 17, 21
Devotional Reading: Psalm 105:1-15

Friend of God

Lesson for May 12, 1957

COUNTED a saint by three religions, Abraham is unique among the great men of the world. The Mohammedan name for him is simply "The Friend," meaning Friend of God. His greatness is not in anything that is especially admired and paid highly for in America, so that his reputation among us is not what he deserves. He was not a noted business man, executive, or popular novelist; no oil was ever discovered on his property. However, he might be introduced to an American audience as a successful cattleman. Even small boys might be interested to know that he was extra good as a deputy sheriff. But these facts were not the main point about him.

Dr. Foreman

Faith That Works

The big fact about Abraham was his religious genius. To some persons God seems very dim. Even Abraham's father worshipped "other gods"—we have no idea how many. But Abraham, out of an idolatrous home, came forth a man for whom God was his closest and most real Friend. To use the Bible word, Abraham was a man of faith. In one book of the New Testament (Romans) Paul says that Abraham was "justified"—that is, God looked with approval on him—for his faith.

Belief

Abraham believed God," it is said. No living man now knows how God spoke to Abraham. Long ago Saint Augustine debated, but did not decide, the question whether God spoke in tones that the ear could catch, or in a voice audible only in the soul. The point is that when Abraham knew it for God's direction, or God's promise, he believed that what God said was true. God made some pretty unlikely promises to him: that he would have a son at all was very unlikely, that this son's descendants would be more numerous than the stars was equally unlikely, that they would live in and own the countryside where Abraham was a landless nomad was still more improbable; but most incredible of all was that through Abraham's descendants the whole earth would be blessed. Yet we are told that Abraham believed all these things, and indeed they all came true.

Obedience

It is one thing to believe that what God says is true; it is another thing to set about living by that truth. Many a person will stand up for the proposition that the Bible is the inspired Word of God, but simply won't act and live in accordance with what the Bible plainly teaches. Such "faith" as James said is "vain"—but Abraham's faith was not vain. He took God at his word; when God said "Go," he went, and he went all the way. "Whate'er my God ordains is right" is a song Abraham could well have sung.

Patience

Abraham's faith was shown also by his patience. Most of us are like small children, whose clocks show only two times, NOW and NEVER. If Father has promised a ride, or Mother a lollipop, the child wants it right this minute. If it's not to be had, tears fall and wails arise. If I can't have it now, I'll never get it! So we pray and expect an answer as if it were by return mail. We can't trust God to time his blessings. Abraham knew better. He was willing to wait. Indeed some of the promises God made to him he never lived to see. But he did not think that God had cheated him.

Sacrifice

The story of Abraham's sacrifice (or near-sacrifice) of Isaac shows the endless lengths to which Abraham's faith would go. Psychologically and morally impossible for a sane American today, the act of child-sacrifice was not so impossible for Abraham, living as he did among people for whom human sacrifices were all too common. But it is impossible to exaggerate the meaning of this sacrifice to Abraham. It meant cutting off, so far as he could see, all the promises of God. Indeed it may well have seemed to him that God had changed his mind and was taking back all he had promised for the future. All this added to the deep love Abraham had for this child of faith, the child for whom he had waited so many years, made the act seem especially terrible. But Abraham's faith went the last mile.

Activities of Future Nurses Group Outlined By Students This Week

FUTURE NURSES—These are the members of Southern High's Future Nurses' Club which will be represented at the fifth annual convention of the Future Nurses of Maryland, to be held in Baltimore on Saturday, May 11. First row, left to right, Dorothy Glotfelty, Nada Fulk, Helen Martin, Jarlath DeWitt, Sandra Lee, Barbara Kreyenbuhl, Mrs. Bessie Price, adviser. Second row, Elaine Holtschneider, Lois Rodeheaver, Kay Keller, Pat DeWitt, Joan Wilt, Connie Savage. Third row, Sylvia Nazelrod, Mary Mae Paugh, Mary Lu Teets, Bonnie Nally and Nancy Arnold.

Nada Fulk, reporter of Southern High school's newly formed Future Nurses of America club, this week reviews the various activities of the organization. She presents this article as an example of how the school's extra curricular activities are related to the scholastic and vocational aspects of the educational program.

The club was formed this year under direction of Mrs. Bessie Price. There are nineteen members. Some of the year's activities:

Last November 4, the F.N.A. members traveled to Philippi, W. Va., home of Alderson Broaddus college and hospital. They toured both the campus and the hospital which is noted for its cancer clinic.

On December 15, the F.N.A. held a bake sale. The money collected from this sale was used to help make Christmas a little more pleasant for the people in nine local convalescent homes. Place cards were made for each person by cutting pictures and figures from old Christmas cards and stapling them to cardboard. Each person's name was printed on a place card with colored ink.

Along with these scrapbooks were also given to the patients. The scrapbooks were made by the Art and the Music departments. Nine small colored beads, balls, and candles for a table centerpiece were included for each home.

Southern's F.N.A. members assisted the health nurses and the county doctors in giving polio vaccine to 866 students.

Each week two future nurses work in the county health clinic for one half day. The schedule is planned so both the school and the clinic in each girl is given an equal opportunity to gain this experience. A summer clinic schedule has been set up.

"Cure for Colds," "Edward Jenner Small Pox Vaccine," "Florence Nightingale," and "The Salk Vaccine" are filmstrips that have been shown to the club. The filmstrips were evaluated by the club members and the report entered in the club's scrapbook.

A list of all the books on nursing in Southern's library and the Ruth Enlow library was completed by the club for future use.

Each member of Southern's F.N.A. club will take the following pledge which was written by one of the club members. "I ... hereby do solemnly pledge to the Future Nurses of Southern High school that I will live my life in purity, and do everything in my power to promote better health conditions in my home, school, and community. With God's help I will not distribute any information coming to me concerning any person or family."

The 5th annual convention of the Future Nurse Clubs of Maryland will be held Saturday, May 11 in Baltimore. Eight Southern students and their adviser, Mrs. Bessie Price, will attend. They are Sylvia Nazelrod, Sandra Collins, Ruby Sweitzer, Mary Mae Paugh, Joan Wilt, Bonnie Nally, Connie Savage, and Jarlath DeWitt.

Delegates will hear the guest speaker, Mrs. Barbara R. Norton, senior public health supervisor, Baltimore City Public Health Department.

A luncheon is being served to the delegates at the school cafeteria.

Members of the F.N.A. clubs will be the models at a teen-age fashion show given by Dorothy Lowell, Ltd., of Charles street.

"The Twenty-six Best Dressed Women of the Year" will be presented immediately after the show. These women are student nurses from the hospitals in Baltimore.

Southern's representatives will see exhibits which will be set up by the hospitals of Baltimore, the Red Cross and Civil Defense. There will also be a representative there from each hospital to talk to any interested girl.

"FORTY-FOUR YEARS OF THE LIFE OF A HUNTER," by Meshack Browning, Maryland's famous pioneer hunter, is now available.

Although it was first published 98 years ago and is now in its 12th edition, it is more widely read than ever before.

His truthful accounts of desperate encounters with the savage beasts of the forest, his superhuman efforts to maintain his family in the wilderness, far from human aid or associations, and his undaunted courage in facing the hardships of pioneer life cannot fail to captivate the reader.

It really deserves a place in every Marylander's library.

Something Haywire? . .

Something is not right. At a time of prosperity such as this nation has never before enjoyed, 5½ million Americans are on relief rolls, at an annual cost of 3.1 billion dollars. That is at a record high.

According to an article in U. S. News and World Report the money goes to more than 2½ million elderly people, 600,000 mothers with 1,700,000 dependent children, and to the blind, disabled and others.

Many wonder at such relief costs in boom times. The dominant factor seems to be a revolutionary change in the attitude of many Americans toward relief. Not too long ago the indigent were cared for by children or took refuge in a poorhouse. Relatives came to the rescue when misfortune struck families. Big-scale government aid, as a principle and a philosophy, was unknown.

In 1935, with depression in full swing, the Federal government embarked on a program of direct assistance to the needy, providing funds to states on a matching basis. The program was then regarded as temporary. Once business improved it was naturally felt that this kind of assistance would gradually end. But the realization has been enormously different from the expectation. Not only are more people getting relief checks but amounts are far higher. Old regulations which denied relief to people owning property such as autos, insurance and homes, have generally been liberalized or abandoned. As the magazine pointed out, "Many Americans getting public aid today are people of substance and respectability." In some states relief to elderly is not called relief at all—they get pensions.

U. S. News goes into some of the reasons advanced by sociologists for the growth in welfare. People live longer and require more medical care. Inflation has bitten deep into fixed incomes from savings and other sources. Families are separated by great distances and the close family relationships of another era are disappearing. No one seems to have any real solution to a social and economic problem that grows steadily more severe. But of this we can be sure. Across the nation people are turning over their family problems to the state. Big relief rolls are developing into a permanent part of the American way of life.

And, to our way of thinking, this is not good. Nor is it particularly American. Eventually it will destroy our long established social order.

Survey Of Cattle Losses Underway

Specialists from five departments of the University of Maryland Extension Service were in the county last week to begin an intensive program of research in an effort to determine the cause of recent extensive cattle losses here, it was revealed by John H Carter, county agent.

In the comty for the first phase of the program were Dr. J. C. Shaw, dairy department; Dr. F. C. Lethel, animal husbandry department; Dr. S. J. Plumer, live stock sanitary service; Dr. Charles Ellingston, agronomy department, Dr Frank Beutz, soils department, who visited a number of farms last Mouday, Tuesday and Wednesday, including visits to four farms where cows were stricken just prior to the visitations. They also went to farms where the owners have had continuous trouble.

They obtained complete case histories of the farms, the care of the animals, feeding, source of feed, where grown, water conditions, and also took blood samples, soil and hay samples.

Mr. Carter said the specialists noted that the sickness among the cattle was occurring mostly while dry feeding and that the disease was connected in some manner with calving time. They pointed out, however, that such was not necessarily the case in other areas of the United States.

Carter said the program was taking priority over other work of their varions departments in an effort to solve the problem. Mr. Carter said this was the first time that all departments had combined in an attempt to get to the bottom of the problem.

The disease is recognized as "Grass Tetany" which is world-wide and Garrett county is the first county in Maryland to be affected. It was presumed that a solution may take months.

18 Miles of Roads to Get Oil and Chips

Over eighteen miles of State roads in the county will receive a surface treatment of oiling and chipping, starting Monday, May 20, it was announced by Edward P. Kahl, roads engineer.

He listed 2.5 miles of Maryland route 12, between Friendsville and the Pennsylvania line; 3.3 miles of Maryland route 546, from U. S. Route 40 to Finzel; 7 miles from Accident to Keyser Ridge; 5.1 miles from Deep Creek to Hoyes road, and .65 mile from junction of route 135 to Weber Crossing, all on U. S. route 219.

Mr. Kahl said the 18.55 miles would require 54,275 gallons of asphalt and 3,041 tons of stone. The program is expected to take two weeks, providing the weather is favorable.

There are approximately 163 miles of state roads within the county.

Beautifying Plans Progress

GETTING FENCED IN—George Lipscomb, looking through transit, vocational teacher at Southern High school, is helping his students to survey and place stakes for the new fence which is soon to be placed on the school's campus. The fence and chain to be placed around the school are being financed from proceeds derived from this year's magazine campaign. In the group are Jim Mellinger, Roger DeBerry, Lonnie Rodeheaver, Walter DeBerry, John Roth, Harry Martin and Harold Selders.

Work on the development program in the rear of Southern High school continued to make progress this week when the National Guard bulldozer operated by Leroy Paugh began pushing back the dirt for the fishing and skating pond next to the Bennett Road.

William Nace and Cecil Kight from the Sod Conservation office are directing the grading and excavation which needs to be done. Also assisting is Richard Bishoff, vocational agriculture instructor at Southern.

During the past few weeks, Mr Bishoff and his boys from his vocational agriculture classes have plowed and seeded the entire area behind the school. Numerous other small projects have been completed by these boys.

Not only are these boys gaining practical experience, they are also contributing to a project which promises to make Southern's entire campus a place of beauty and recreation," stated Kenneth Johns, principal. "We sincerely appreciate all the voluntary help which is being given toward this project."

Dr. Calandrella Named President Of School Board

Dr. Ralph Calandrella, of Kitzmiller, was elected president of the Board of Education at a regular meeting in the Court House on Tuesday morning. He succeeds Ross Speicher, whose term on the board expired the first of May.

Maurice Brookhart, Oakland, was elected vice-president, with George Edwards, Grantsville, newly appointed to the board, as associate member.

Appointments Approved

The Board approved the following appointments for the coming school year: Miss Joyce Warnick and Miss June Mowbray to the Grantsville Elementary school; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Carson and Mrs. George Hanst to Northern High school; Mrs. Richard Travis to Oakland Elementary; Mrs. Mary K. Eliason, art teacher at Southern High school. The Board also approved the transfer of Mrs. Ruth Patterson from Northern High where she had substituted during the illness of Miss Kathryn Speicher, to Oakland Elementary to replace Mrs. Shirley Burley who resigned, as of May 1.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, reported that the teacher turnover up to this time was very low and that at the present time no vacancies existed. He said that some vacancies could be anticipated but felt that the turnover would not be large and that the teachers in the county were, in most cases, completing a very successful year.

The board members and County Commissioners discussed the problem that local communities of the state face as far as teacher salaries are concerned. Reports indicate that nearly all of the counties were moving the teacher salary scale upward and they discussed ways of providing some raise for the teachers of this county.

Hawkins said the school board felt that the minimum starting salary for the coming year would have to be at least $3,100 and maximum salary $4,900, or a $150 raise over the present salary scale, with the local salary scale even then being the lowest in the state. The Commissioners agreed that some improvement in the salary scale would have to be made and indicated a final decision would be made on the matter within the next few days.

The Board voted to transfer its purchase of bottled gas from A. D. Naylor company to the Dix-O-Gas company. Hawkins said this move was made as a result of considerable saving in cost to the Board.

The superintendent presented results of a questionnaire concerning athletic activities and policies of the two high schools. He said the study was made on the basis of number of games played, the amount of school time devoted to athletic sports, cost of program, distances to host schools, relationship of the athletic program to the total extra-curricular program of the school, etc. The board indicated it would study the report and make recommendations, where necessary, prior to opening of the next school year.

Resignation of Miss Ada V. Schrock as teacher in Northern High, was accepted.

Mr. Hawkins also reported that the rights-of-way needed for construction of the sewer line from the new elementary school to the town of Oakland should be ready for signatures by the end of the week.

Try-Outs Held For Pony League Teams

Twenty-six boys reported for practice try-outs in the Oakland Pony League last Friday, Monday and Tuesday. Officials said there are openings for more boys on each team.

Managers this year will be Paul Dixon and Ken Jones, Woodmen of the World team; Carl Schoonover for the Moose, Charles Grubb and Ed Quattro for the Country Club, Dick Travis and Don Stemple for the Rotary.

Another try-out will be held Friday evening at Spiker field at 5:30 p. m. after which time the managers will pick their teams. It was stressed that any boy who has not reached his 15th birthday by the first of August who would like to play Pony League ball should be at the field on Friday evening.

Two Are Injured In Auto Accident

R. C. McComas, supervisor of assessments, and Jerry Moyer, assessor, were injured in an automobile accident last Wednesday afternoon between Mill Run and Friendsville. The former was a hospital patient for six days, suffering with a broken chest bone and injuries to his legs. Moyer suffered two broken ribs but was released after receiving medical attention.

The accident occurred when McComas attempted to prevent striking a dog that appeared on the highway, and ran off the side of the road into a bank. The car was badly damaged.

McComas was released from the hospital on Tuesday morning but is still confined to his home.

Fashion Show And Exhibit To Feature Final P.-T. A. Meet

A Fashion Show and an all-school exhibit will feature the program at the final meeting of the Southern High School P.-T. A. Monday May 20, at 8:00 p. m., Delbert Gnegy, president, announced.

Mrs. Mildred Meyer, chairman of the Home Economics department at the school, stated that the program would be "streamlined" this year. "Due to an unusual number of activities this month, it has been necessary to limit the program to a forty-minute show in which only a few of many garments made this past year will be shown," she said.

Parents arriving early will also have an opportunity to visit classrooms and see some of the work accomplished by pupils during the past year. A display of industrial arts projects will be shown in the lobby.

A short business meeting will be held in the cafeteria prior to the fashion show. Officers for the coming year will be nominated and elected.

Importance Ot Blood Program Stressed

The importance of the American Red Cross blood program was emphasized by Arthur Koster, chief administrator of the program for this area, at a meeting last Thursday evening at the City Hall.

The group was called together by Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman for the county. Letters were sent to heads of 23 civic, fraternal and service organizations asking that each one have two representatives at the meeting. Mrs. Stemple said that 11 groups sent representatives.

Mr. Koster pointed out that the area's quota for the year which ends on June 30 was 371 pints of blood and that thus far 240 pints had been supplied. In order to meet the quota it will be necessary to provide 131 pints of blood at the next bloodmobile visit to Oakland on Wednesday, June 5, at the Oakland fire hall, from 12 to 6.

He said that since last July the local hospital had used 242 pints of blood and that 27 residents of the county had received blood in hospitals outside the area. Fifteen percent of all blood received goes to civil defense, it was stated.

Representatives of the groups attending the meeting agreed to make an effort to secure ten donors each for the next bloodmobile visit.

Forest Conservancy Boards To Convene Over Week-End

A joint meeting of the Forest Conservancy District Boards of the four Western Maryland counties will be held Saturday and Sunday in this county.

Board members will assemble Saturday afternoon at New Germany and will be taken on a tour of forests. That night they will stay at Herrington Manor and on Sunday will continue their tour. Some ten members of the four county boards have indicated that they will attend.

Participating with them will be state forester, H. C. Buckingham; A. B. Bond, assistant forester; Thomas Thayer and Clinton Irwin, assistant district foresters in this county and William H. Johnson, district forester.

Members of the Garrett County Board include Joseph P. Fahey, Grantsville; Virgil T. Steyer, Steyer; William Winterberg, Grantsville; George D. Browning and Fred Glotfelty, Oakland.

Rain Brings Some Relief On Tuesday

Refreshing rain, the first of any consequence within the past two weeks, fell on Garrett county Tuesday evening accompanied by a light electrical storm.

The rain was welcomed by foresters, firemen and farmers. Ralph Weber, veteran weather man of the area, said almost one-half inch of rain fell during the period.

There had been a slight rain on Saturday evening which did nothing more than dampen the top of the ground, but Tuesday's fall was considered of much value to crops.

It was learned this week that since the 24-degree weather of some days ago, late fruit blossoms had come out which did not appear to be damaged, so that hope of a crop this summer and fall had been increased.

A break-down of the week showed Friday clear and warm; Saturday cloudy with slight rain in the evening; Sunday, hot and dry, Monday clear until afternoon when there were just a few drops of rain, Tuesday was cloudy with thunder shower beginning about 7 o'clock. Wednesday was clear until evening when there was another slight rain. Today was cloudy and much colder.

Thirteen To Compete In Broiler Contest

Thirteen members of the 4-H and F. F. A. groups will compete in the county's broiler contest, to be held Saturday, May 25, at the Sterling Processing plant in Oakland. The contest will start at 10 a. m.

Participating are Ronald Glass, Harold Schmidt, Floyd Georg, Accident; Joe Wiley, Grantsville; Howard Alexander, Carl Wilson, Oakland; Jerry Wilson, Swanton; Dick DeWitt, Mt. Lake Park, all F. F. A. Ralph Buckel, Jr., James Buckel, Bittinger, both 4-H, Robert Knox, Accident; Larry Steedman, Kempton; Glenn Canan, Oakland, F. F. A. and 4-H.

Each boy will exhibit six wing-banded cockerels from his flock and a record book. Top boy will be picked by combining the scores of the record book and the bird sample. Top boy in the county will represent the Western Maryland Region at the state show in Ocean City in June.

Grover Harris, Extension poultryman, University of Maryland, will serve as official judge. James McHenry, assistant county agent; Marvin Callis and Richard Bishoff, vocational agriculture instructors, will assist in the contest.

Given Six Months In House of Correction

William Wilson, on a charge of assault preferred by Rose Starkey, was sentenced to serve six months in the House of Correction at a hearing before Trial Magistrate Earl C. Friend. Wilson already was in the process of serving sixty days in jail at the time the charges were preferred. The event occurred prior to his incarceration in the county jail.

Among other cases before the Magistrate this week were the following:

Walter Garrison, Westernport, pleaded guilty to reckless driving on May 12, in the town of Oakland and was fined $10 and costs. The arrest was made by Porter DeWitt.

Samuel Joseph Glotfelty, of Hutton, was found guilty of operating a motor vehicle at an unsafe speed and with an inadequate muffler on May 9, and was fined $10 and costs.

Russell Tasker, of the Bethlehem community, on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs on May 13. The arrest was made by Police Chief Henry Arnold.

There were two persons charged with exceeding 50 miles per hour on route 219. Ronald Eugene Winebrenner, Waynesboro, Pa., was found guilty. Max Reuben Ruddle pleaded guilty to the same charge. Both were fined $10 and costs. Arrests were made by Corporal Samuel Conrad on May 10.

To Serve Benefit Supper

A public ham and chicken supper, for the benefit of the West Vindex WSCS, will be held on Friday evening, May 17, from 5:30 to 7:30, in the Kitzmiller school building, it was announced by Mrs. Wood Evans, spiritual life leader of the Methodist circle. Tickets are 50 cents and $1.

Robt. Rodeheaver Named Principal Center St. School

New Building On Dennett Road Expected To Open Early In Coming Year

Robert Rodeheaver, art and core instructor at Southern High school for several years, has been named principal of the Center street school in Oakland for the coming school year, it was announced Tuesday by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools. Announcement was made following an official meeting of the Board of Education.

Heretofore one principal had served both the Annex and Center street school, but Mr. Hawkins pointed out that the new school will be opened early during the coming school year and is located such a distance from the Center street school as to make this plan no longer practical. The principal of both schools, Foster Riggs, will devote full time to the administrative and supervisory duties at the new elementary school.

Hawkins said Rodeheaver was selected as a result of his outstanding work during the past several years at Southern and for ways in which he has exhibited leadership qualities in his profession as well as for his ability to work well with pupils, parents and teachers.

Mr. Rodeheaver was graduated from West Virginia university and is working on his Master's degree at the university.

Fun Carnival Is Set For May 24th

Oakland Elementary's annual "million dollar" Fun Carnival will be held on the school grounds next Friday evening, May 24, it was announced by the general committee which includes Charles L. Briner, Mrs. Jack Getty and Darrell Malone.

Briner said there would be fifteen booths erected and that some 40 volunteers would be on hand to take charge of the booths. He said the committee also was endeavoring to obtain some ponies for that evening.

Operation of the booths is in charge of Mrs. Beeson Snyder, Mrs. Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., and Miss Josie Iden. The committee on prizes is headed by C. W. Englander, while the job of getting the booths erected is in charge of Fred Tichnell and Bill Martin.

Play money will be used entirely that evening with 100 bucks costing 5 cents. Tellers that evening will be Frank McDaniel, Glenroot Dilley, Rex Teagarden and Nordeck Shaffer, from the two Oakland banks.

In case of inclement weather the carnival will be held on Saturday, May 25. The carnival is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher association.

Oakland Firemen Called

Oakland firemen answered two calls during the week, neither one being serious.

They were called to Crellin Monday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock to extinguish a grass fire in the vicinity of Ashby's garage, at present leased to Zack Gibson.

The second call came Tuesday evening around 7 o'clock after lightning had struck the summer cottage of Charles Fox, of Jeannette, Pa., on the McHenry inlet of the lake, near the former Arden Boat club building.

The entrance electric wiring was burned, causing damage estimated at perhaps $50, but the blaze was extinguished by the use of fire extinguishers by neighbors. However, an alarm was turned in and both the Accident and the Oakland departments responded.

Annual Scout Dinner To Be Held May 21

The annual dinner and meeting of the Deep Creek district, Boy Scouts of America, will be held at the William-James hotel in Oakland on Tuesday evening, May 21, at 6:30.

All adult scouters and cubbers, committeemen, unit leaders, assistants, den mothers, etc., their wives or husbands are eligible to attend.

There will be reports by district operating committee chairmen, a speaker, and election of district officers. Present officers are Rev. John J. Atwell, district chairman; Paul Muha, district vice-chairman; and Elmer Updle, district commissioner.

Eighteen Compete In Tractor Contest

Harry Martin, driving a Farmall tractor, won the tractor contest conducted last Thursday. He competed with eighteen other boys.

Don Riley was second and the others from third to tenth were Burton Durr, Gay Roth, Doug Shank, Charles Moreland, David Otto, Kenneth Bachtel, John Harvey, and Larry Cooper. Equipment for the contest was loaned by the Oakland Equipment company, Shaffer Ford Sales, Garrett Truck and Implement company, B. and G. Sales, and Ralph Pritts garage.

The contest was held to create an interest among FFA members in the fields of tractor safety and maintenance. Following a written test all but eighteen boys were eliminated.

The driving contest started with a safety inspection of the tractor they planned to drive. The final phase was the tractor operation which consisted of pulling and backing a manure spreader through an obstacle course, and maneuvering a four-wheel wagon.

Six Clubs Assist In Ticket Sale Of Summer Theatre

Six organizations of Oakland will solicit advance subscriptions for the Garrett County Summer Theatre, it was announced by J. M. Jarboe, a member of the local board of directors.

Tickets were received Monday of this week and have been distributed to the membership of the American Association of University Women, the Junior Woman's Civic Club, the Oakland Civic Club, the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, the Oakland Rotary club and the Business and Professional Women's club.

The general admission to the seven plays this year will be $1.76 including tax, with children under 12 $1.10 including tax. Subscription for the seven plays plus a guest admission will be $10 including tax.

An opportunity is to be presented individuals this year to contribute more than this amount if they so desire. Patrons, for people who want the playhouse to continue and are able to afford a little extra, may pay $15 for one subscription and a receipt for $5, with names of patrons being listed in the program each week. Business sponsors will be any business firm which wants the playhouse to continue, $50 for two subscriptions, with the firm name being listed each week in the program.

Gene Yell, director of the playhouse, said he hoped to have 50 percent of the summer's expenses underwritten by advance sale of subscriptions prior to the opening play on July 9.

Mr. Jarboe is handling all distribution of tickets and will also handle the ticket sales at the door this year.

Brochures have been mailed to summer residents of Deep Creek Lake and other persons of the area which include a subscription blank, and Mr. Jarboe said that any person not contacted by mail or by solicitors, could apply to him for subscriptions.

Plans for ticket distribution were made at a meeting of the Board of Directors held at the C. W. Englander home Monday night. Members of the board include Mr. Englander, Irvin Feld, Edward Smouse, J. M. Jarboe, Earl Zepp, Mrs. Homer Bennett, Mrs. Glenn Randol and George K. Littman.

Yell, associate professor of drama at the University of New Mexico, and summer resident of the county, said that three of last year's players would be returning with the cast. Helen Camp, Bonnie Barton and Tom Calkins will be back again and Miss Barton and Miss Camp will be in Oakland by June 11, to assist in the subscription campaign.

Erroneous Impression On Natural Gas Tax Remedied This Week

A mistaken impression about what happens to the natural gas tax fund that is received by the County Commissioners every three months, is being remedied this week, following the complete reading of the law governing the action.

It had been reported on several occasions in The Republican that the first $50,000 received is used towards the liquidation of the present indebtedness of the public schools, and that any amount in excess of $50,000 during any one year would go toward expenses of the Garrett County Memorial hospital. This is in error. After the hospital gets $25,000 any additional tax money goes in a fund for new school building repair and/or addition fund for new construction.

Chapter 265, which is the gas tax law, has the following provisions: The first $50,000 will be used towards the liquidation of the present indebtedness of Garrett County Public School Building purposes; the next $25,000 to be used towards payment of expenses and maintenance and operation of the Garrett County Memorial hospital; the balance, if any, to be placed in a new school building repair and/or addition fund to be expended by the County Commissioners and Board of Education as they may deem expedient and necessary, subject to the approval of the State Superintendent of Schools.

So, if the present rate of tax continues the total for the year will reach perhaps $110,000, which might start a fund towards auditoriums for the two high schools.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

Don't Lag Too Long

It is interesting to note that the great effort of Democratic Chairman Paul Butler to discredit and deride President Eisenhower last week fell rather dismally flat. As the fair-minded and temperate Evening Star of Washington said of the whole performance, there were "no hits, no runs, no errors." In brief, an exceedingly dull ball game with the stars such as ex-President Truman, ex-Secretary of State Acheson and ex-candidate Adlai Stevenson repetitious, unwitty and unconstructive with the exceedingly mediocre and labor-ridden Gov. "Soapy" Williams of Michigan making the best speech, which is not saying much.

* * *

Leaders Lyndon Johnson of the Senate and Speaker Sam Rayburn of the House were conspicuously absent. There was disappointment among the New Deal - Fair Deal journalistic and television commentators who had expected some hot gunfire that would put Administrative spokesmen on the defensive and enable them to generate a really effective attack. The net result seems to be that this long - planned and concentrated Democratic attack has been singularly ineffective and the Administration reply expected either the end of this week or early next week will be more forceful than had the Democrats put on a better show. As it was, Mr. Acheson and Mr. Stevenson exhibited a personal bitterness hard to reconcile with their high character and Mr. Truman admitted that Mrs. Truman had rebuked him for his petty references to the number of days Mr. Eisenhower had been absent from the White House.

Thus, it is true that the President's political enemies have utterly failed to make an effective assault upon either his foreign or domestic policies. On the contrary, they have not presented a convincing case against him. They have exhibited both malice and bitterness, but when called upon for constructive alternatives they have completely failed to respond. It is rare, indeed, in our political history that the opposition party has been so destitute of alternatives on domestic policy or so devoid of a constructive suggestion in our foreign relations. There is, of course, criticism and denunciation, but when asked, as Mr. Stevenson was on a television panel a few days ago, exactly what he would have done before or would do now, his answer was vague to the point of incoherence.

And so were Mr. Truman and Mr. Acheson, and the gifted "Soapy" Williams, aided by the noble Walter Reuther, and all the rest. Unanimously they agreed that Mr. Eisenhower's fiscal policies were bad, that his budget was a mess, that he had alienated all our allies abroad and generally "botched" everything up pretty badly. But, as what to do about them now or what they would have done about them to start with they are, without exception, so muddy and murky that no sense can be made out of what they say at all.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Shortly after the end of World War II in the Pacific, a friend brought to my attention some literature being used in his Sunday School class which said the Communists in China were "different" from the Russion Communists, that they were really warm-hearted humanitarians who wished to bring about land reforms in China and otherwise aid the "downtrodden millions." This same statement about the "good" Communist leaders in China was being heard on overseas radio broadcasts to America and was being published widely in scores of books and magazine articles.

At the same time Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who opposed the Red hordes trying to take over China, was being attacked as a "corrupt leader" who sought to strengthen his power at the expense of China's "little people." We know what happened. Our own nation tried to make Chiang bring the "good" Communists into a "coalition" government. And American public opinion was so confused that our people took no effective action to give Chiang the kind and amount of aid he needed. China fell to world Communism. The U. S. A. lost 500 million allies. An immediate result was the Korean war.

When the events are reviewed there seems little doubt that the Communists engineered a propaganda campaign which confused people, dilnted the power of public opinion, and ultimately brought about the fall of China to the Reds. Today the Communists are working behind the scenes to bring about another great victory for World Communism—the recognition of Red China by the United States and the United Nations. Propaganda is their instrument of thought-shaping.

At the National Education Program's 18th Freedom Forum just concluded at Searcy, Hollington K. Tong, Ambassador of the Republic of China which now has its government on Formosa, took notice of successes which the Communists have achieved toward the creation of a public opinion in America which would accept recognition of Red China.

"There are some in America," he said, "who are proclaiming that the United States can safely coexist with a Communist-ruled China. They want to restore trade and diplomatic relations with the Communist regime and to admit it to the United Nations. Nothing," said Ambassador Tong, "could be more disastrous to both the United States and China. There can be no neutrality on the great moral issues which confront mankind."

The Ambassador cited magazine articles and literature being circulted to discussions groups, high schools and colleges which declare openly or subtly suggest that Red China should be admitted to the U. N. and recognized by America. Let's not be taken in by such propaganda which seeks to influence a compromise with evil. I consider Ambassador Tong's message and the morality of his cause of great importance to our nation and to the future of all mankind.

It is now officially announced that either the end of this week or next the President will take his case to the people, not in one long televised address but in two short ones. That seems a good idea because regardless of the flatness of the Democratic attack he needs very much to explain his budget to the people and his attitude toward it. There are other things, too, which need explanation, such as the Middle East policy and our attitude toward Red China. No doubt they can be explained, but it is not wise to let the explanations lag or the mis-representations stay long unclear.

In addition, there is unquestionably a desire among the people to hear more of and more directly from the President. They are not worried about his playing golf nor about his frequent absences from the White House. They know he is not neglecting his job, but they want to hear him say so. The press conferences are too short and not too well reported—except in a few newspapers. There are too many unimportant questions asked in which they are not interested. That is why this idea of several short television addresses instead of just one long one is a sound one. They will not—and should not—take the place of the press conferences, but they will supplement them, and they will quiet a lot of somewhat ugly rumors that emanate from Democratic publications. One of these reports which seems well founded is that the President is soon to lose by resignation the two strongest members of his Cabinet—Secretary Humphrey and Secretary of Defense Wilson. Both of these have served the President and the country well. In particular, Secretary Wilson has sustained a lot of criticism and abuse. From this he has emerged with the general liking and respect even of his critics.

Band Scoring Shows Much Improvement

Southern's band made its television debut May 4, on a Washington channel news telecast.

At the 21st annual Safety Patrol parade in Washington, D. C., last week the Southern High school band scored 87⅓ percent out of a possible 100 percent.

All bands in the parade were judged by three judges. The scores which were given by each judge were averaged to give the final score. The judges gave Southern 89, 90, and 83, which gave a final score of 87⅓ percent.

Each band was judged in four areas: playing, cadence, fundamentals of drill, and appearance.

Playing scores were as follows: tone and intonations, Southern 8-8-7 points out of a possible ten points; volume and dynamic contrast-balance, Southern 12-13-12 out of a possible fifteen points; rhythmic precision and articulation, Southern 12-13-11 out of a possible fifteen.

Cadence scores were: metrical tempo, Southern 5-5-4 out of a possible five; regularity, Southern 5-5-5 out of a possible five; suitability to style of marching, Southern 5-5-5 out of a possible five.

Fundamentals of drill scores were: straightness of rank and files, Southern 9-9-9 out of a possible ten; uniformity of interval and distance, Southern 9-9-9 out of a possible ten; uniformity of action and character of movement, Southern 9-8-8 out of a possible ten.

Appearance scores were: uniform, Southern 5-5-5 out of a possible five; personal bearing and carriage, Southern 5-5-4 out of a possible five; postion of instruments, Southern 5-5-4 out of a possible five.

These scores show a great improvement over previous years, it was stated.

The calls that aren't made mean a lot to us

I suppose if anyone asked my husband and me what we like most about telephone service we'd say it's the calls that aren't made.

Here's what we mean. We have two youngsters, Butch 5 and Joan 3. They're too young to leave alone, of course. So, like thousands of other couples, we get a baby sitter when we go out. She keeps an eye on the children and phones us if anything goes wrong. We feel we're almost as close to the kids as if we were at home.

And it's these phone calls, the ones that aren't made because there's nothing wrong, that mean so much to us. Just that silent phone tells us that Butch and Joan are all right. We can enjoy the evening without worrying about the kids.

Like everyone else, we use our phone a lot, but even if we never made a call all month long our phone would be well worth the cost. We can't think of anything else that adds so much to our peace of mind for a few nickels a day.

Selling Broilers At Nearby Plant Means More Profit

Saving on sizeable transportation costs by selling their broilers and turkeys closer to home at the new Oakland processing plant of Sterling Enterprises may mean the difference between profit and loss for many Upper Monongahela Valley area farmers, in this time of close profit margins for poultry raisers, according to officials of the Upper Monongahela Valley association.

With the Valley area's biggest broiler and turkey operation recently going into high gear with the opening of the processing plant and current production of 225,000 broilers at a time in Preston county, Valley farmers are offered an opportunity they did not have before.

By saving most of the transportation costs for the distance of 125 miles and more from Valley producing points to Harrisonburg and Petersburg, Valley farmers should be able to realize a half cent or better difference in price by selling at the new Oakland processing plant. This would be doubly true for farmers in Garrett county and nearby Preston and Monongalia counties, which are even closer to the new plant.

Helping the local economy in other ways, the area's first large-scale processing plant, is producing about half of its eventual 100,000 weekly capacity. Full production is expected shortly after June 1. Local and area-wide employment has been provided.

The Upper Monogahela Valley association, 10-county development organization, was told that only about one quarter of the processing plant's full capacity is now being produced by the ten Reedsville and Arthurdale broiler houses. These chicken houses are operated by Preston Poultry and Feed, Inc., subsidiary of Sterling Faucet Company of Morgantown. Most of the plant's chickens and turkeys have been brought in from outside the Valley.

The UMVA emphasized the growth and closeness of this sizeable new market for the Valley's broilers and pointed out that turkeys present a further opportunity for area farmers. Very few turkeys outside of those grown by Preston Poultry and Feed are raised in the area.

Russell Thomas, manager of Preston Poultry and Feed, said he now was buying some broilers in the Morgantown, Philippi and Oakland areas and that he definitely wanted to buy increased amounts of chickens and turkeys in the Valley. Even when in time the broiler and turkey production is increased to 50 percent of the processing plant's capacity, there still will be a large need for locally-produced birds.

Most Valley farmers now are producing broilers for about 18 cents a pound. Thomas said that when the price goes above 20 cents as it has been fairly often recently, "it's a good deal."

This biggest entry of a manufacturing industry into the farming line in the Valley's history is a broad operation with many phases. The poultry-turkey business starts with the 4,000-layer flock in renovated buildings at Reedsville. The steady flow of eggs will be taken in less than a month to the new hatchery set up at Preston Poultry and Feed's headquarters at Bretz near Masontown. There, four incubators and three hatchers being installed now in the basement will turn out about 25,000 chickens a week. The hatchery operation should start in early May. Feed also is sold to farmers from the Bretz plant.

Then the chicks are moved to one of the 10 large broiler houses in the Arthurdale - Reedsville area where in nine weeks plus three or four days, they grow to an average weight of from 3¾ to 3.6 pounds.

The number of these broiler houses has been growing steadily since the start of broiler production there by Preston Poultry and Feed in 1954. First were the five separate chicken houses holding about 60,000 birds at a time and next to the old Arthurdale school. Then another house with 23,000-bird capacity was built next to the Pittsburgh Valve company plant and still another holding 32,000 chickens was put up in the flat just off W. Va. 92 at Reedsville.

The most recent expansions are on the old strip mined area to the east of W. Va. 92 between Reedsville and Arthurdale. There, a 50,000 bird house and another 27,000-bird building have been completed while a 25,000-bird house is half finished.

Every nine and a half weeks, these houses are emptied and in the past three or four months the chickens have all gone to the Oakland processing plant as well as the 30,000 turkeys which are also a part of the operation.

Herschel Kitzmiller, turkey operation supervisor, pointed to the nine turkey buildings including three brooder houses plus six pole barns where the turkeys are finished between Reedsville and Masontown. Both White Beltsville SELLING BROILERS ....2 and Bronze turkeys are grown, ready for market in 12 weeks. Till now, all the young turkeys have had to be bought at the age of nine days outside the area. The turkey operation is expanding with one more brooder house started.

The turkeys and chickens arrive steadily at the processing plant. The plant deals only with white chickens. They are brought by truck in coops holding from 14 to 16 broilers each. Their legs are attached to shackles on a 450-long conveyor chain which at capacity will roll at 45 per minute.

The chain takes the birds past the butcher, through the 60-foot-long scalder and the multamatic picker removes the feathers. After four women take off the pin feathers left by the scalers, they go through a singer, then a washer and are transferred to the 125-foot eviscerating or full dressing line, where the rest of the cleaning is finished and the giblets are put in bags and a bag placed inside each fowl.

At the end of the line the chickens are sized and placed in vats holding 250 chickens depending on their size. The ice is added to the chickens in each vat for an hour to reduce their body temperature to 36 degrees. They are left for five hours in the ice. When the water is drained off, they can be held under refrigeration for 12 more hours before being packed. One room at the end of the 100-foot by 200-foot building just going into use is employed for overnight freezing of turkeys, with temperatures going down to 50 degrees below zero.

As for the waste feathers and offal from the processing plant, after being dried the feathers are ground and made into feather meal, while the offal goes into meat scraps for poultry and hog feed. Both are sold at a Harrisonburg rendering plant.

Meanwhile, the chicken and turkey manure from their many houses in Preston is spread back on the farms.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

One of the bitterest critics I had when I was a member of the House of Representatives — a man who later served a Federal prison term for violation of the Smith Anti-Communist Act—was accused recently of being the current head of the Maryland-D. C. region of the Communist Party.

The allegation was made by investigators of the House Un-American Activities committee during special hearings in Baltimore, but the man invoked the First and Fifth Amendments and refused to comment on the charge.

Hard Core Remains

The incident reminded me of information presented to the Congress several months ago by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

In his testimony, Mr. Hoover revealed that there were 17,360 communists in our country at the beginning of this year.

That is about 14,000 less than there were in 1951, but in the remaining group are the ones described by Mr. Hoover as the "hard core."

Courts Testing Control Laws

It should be remembered that at present it is not a crime for a person merely to be a member of the Communist Party in this country.

It should also be kept in mind that laws passed to make it illegal for anyone to participate in activities of the Communist party with full knowledge of the organization's aims are still being tested in the courts.

These facts, however, must not create a false impression that our fight against the communist menace is subsiding.

On the contrary, new information on subversive activities within our country is being developed continually, and on the occasion when it is made public—as in Baltimore—the disclosures indicate effective work on the part of the undercover agents working with the F.B.I.

Cruel . . . Merciless

The reason for this constant offensive against communist infiltration can be found in a public statement delivered by Mr. Hoover less than a month ago.

"The Communists in this country," said the F.B.I. Director, "are as cruel, as merciless, as conspiratorial, as their Russian masters.

"In very respect, they reflect, as does a mirror, the brutal philosophy of Moscow."

Those are strong, blunt, important words, and they should be given careful consideration by every loyal American.

Hundreds of persons who filled out my recent questionnaire added extra comments of their own, and I thought the following sampling of those opinions might be of interest to their fellow Marylanders.

To keep the identities of the writers strictly confidential, I have omitted all references which might lead to a specific individual.

"Be A Wolf"

The many additional remarks showed a wide diversity of opinion on each of the issues I included in the questionnaire, and, consequently, I have used a selection designed to indicate the variety rather than my own inclinations.

On our present foreign policy, for instance, I received comments ranging from "too wishy-washy" to "the best possible."

And one constituent even offered some blunt advice.

"It is all right to be a lamb among lambs," he wrote, "but among wolves you have to be a wolf to survive."

Federal Aid Projects

Other typical comments were:

On the National Debt: "The average person throws up his hands and cries: 'It's too much for me!' The national debt is a matter of plain, down-to-earth arithmetic and nothing else.

"Most of the people are interested in the immediate only—the weekly pay-check. They do not take time out to think of the children yet unborn who will be obliged to carry this heavy burden."

On Federal Aid Projects: "The impending bankruptcy of many local governments can be traced, in many, many cases, to the invidious and invalid belief that by matching Federal funds the community involved has gotten 'something for nothing'."

First Aid

On Increased Postal Rates: "I firmly believe that the postal system is a 'service', not a money-making proposition. Increased rates would place an undue burden upon the public, who are supposed to be recipients of this service."

On Foreign Aid: "Foreign aid should be like first aid—an immediate, temporary action of extremely short duration, to enable the person to get his own doctor's care locally. The Good Samaritan did not spend the rest of his life helping the injured man, he left."

Homes Before Cars

On V.A.-Guaranteed Home Loans: "It seems to me that there is a good deal of unusual red-tape, etc., about homes that is not at all concerned with cars. If there is a difference between a young couple borrowing $6,000 for a home or $4,000 for a car, I'm in favor of letting them get homes easier than cars."

On Federal Spending: "Leave more planning to the states, if possible."

Comments on Questionnaire

On Inviting to This Country Foreign Rulers with Whom We Do Not Agree: "Did not one of the earlier invaders of England, after capturing several Saxon spies, show them about their camp and then set them free instead of executing them? The true might and power of the invader was then well understood."

On My Questionnaire Itself: "I hope that you will not consider yourself to be simply a questionnaire counter. You should be informed of these things well enough to make some judgments that even we might not think wise on the outside.

"I am sure that helpful though this questionnaire may be, it should not be the basis of any and all of your decisions."

For each of the above ideas, there was a contradictory viewpoint expressed in some other letter, but I have offered these in the hope that they will be as thought-provoking to others as they were for me.

Notes from My Appointment Book

In addition to my work in committees and on the floor of the Senate, I spoke at the annual banquet of the Prince Georges County Municipal association, attended the Loyalty Day observance of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Cambridge, and was a guest at affairs sponsored by the Association of Commerce, the Tri-State Packers association, and the League of Women Voters.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Some Art

When I mentioned the exhibit of Currier and Ives prints that were to be displayed at the library little did I know what a treat I was in for. What a difference there is between a reproduction and the real thing! These are landscape and action pictures and cannot be compared with "Little Brothers" in their stiff red velvet and many other portraits of women who always looked like the beautiful but dumb variety.

I want to go again before Saturday and move leisurely from print to print. They're really terrific. Why, the horses practically move and the landscapes all but smell of fern and foliage.

—o—

And More Art

Regardless of what the critics wrote, I never expected to be impressed with Ingrid Bergman—never again. But I forgot all about being a stone thrower and was completely swept away with the acting of Anastasia, and it wasn't until after the movie was over that I realized the great actress, playing the title role, was Bergman.

Perfection of performance is always a thrill whether it's a ten-year-old giving a 4-H demonstration, or a skilled actress. Anastasia was packed with it, with Helen Hayes, Brunner and yes, doggone it, Bergman.

—o—

And Still More

'Twas no clumsy hand nor limp imagination that did the stage setting for Pinafore. As I studied the drape of the sails and the blue sea beyond I couldn't help being thankful that we have creative people in our midst—such as Pat Patterson. Sometimes I wonder if the expensive stage settings in television and movie haven't made us dull to the fine things we have at home.

A Dream Skating?

There's an old song, "Did you ever see a dream walking?" and from rumor afloat I may be able to answer, "Well I did." Except this one may be skating instead of walking.

I understand the school board and administration are now putting in the outdoor skating pond between Southern and the new elementary school.

When I see little fellows skating on a safe place in Oakland then I know that a dream has come true, as another old song says, "If you don't dream, how you gonna have a dream come true."

I'm really waiting for the day.

—o—

We could tune and fret and fuss over our drought-like condition, but since we can't do one thing about it, why not enjoy what may be once in a lifetime—summer in May?

—o—

A Little Wet Eyed

Every spring I feel a little weepy when I go to events at the high school. We watch youngsters from the time they get their first outing through the stages of their first steps, first teeth, no teeth, too much teeth on to the awkward fuzzy stage on to dating and so on. But it's the operetta and commencement affairs that make us realize that "this too will pass."

'Tis an extra nice group that moves on this year. Even I who can claim no kin felt a little pull at the operetta Pinafore as John Brown, Jackie Calhoun, "Weesie" Patty, Barb, Bobby and the others gave their good performances.

We hate to see them move on, but then we'd hate it more if they didn't.

College Bound

Our 9th grade daughter sat curled up on the sofa six months ago it would have been sprawled out) reading material her core teacher had given her about colleges. Sarah Lawrence, she was discovering, was the most expensive school in America, with a staggering $2,500 a year. She read on through Bennington, Vassar, Smith, down to an unknown in Connecticut that was a mere $400 a year.

Right at our own doorstep in another unknown—even to some folks in Garrett county. A teachers college by the name of Frostburg. I've heard young people say they would like to go to college but have no way. Yet they could go to Frostburg as cheaply as they could be kept at home. Many boys and some girls earn enough in a summer to get them through a year at Frostburg.

Attending the state AAUW convention there I was surprised to see a quadrangle of fine buildings just being completed.

While we would not expect students to be served the kind of food for which we are paying $2.50 a plate, we would judge that the same skillful seasoning would go in the food.

Let the rich have their high cost colleges but let us encourage those with ability to get learning where they can afford it—but get it.

Janet Wolf Weds William F. Sanders

Miss Janet Louise Wolf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wolf, of Oakland, became the bride of William F. Sanders, son of Mrs. Ruth Sanders and Mr. Francis W. Sanders, both of Oakland, on Friday evening, May 3, at 7 o'clock. The ceremony was solemnized in St. Paul's Methodist Church, Oakland, with Dr. W. S. Patterson, pastor, officiating.

The altar, lighted with candles, was decorated with white snapdragons, lilies, and carnations.

Miss Bettie Tenney, former roommate of the bride at W. Va. Wesleyan College, was soloist and sang "Through the Years," "At Dawning," and "The Lord's Prayer." She was accompanied by Mrs. Merritt Feather, organist, who played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle, fashioned with a high neckline and long pointed sleeves. The religious census of Oakland, Mt. Lake Park, Loch Lynn and adjacent areas, to be taken by the members of St. Mark's Lutheran church for the benefit of the entire community, will begin Sunday afternoon, May 19, at 2 o'clock.

Final plans for the census were completed at a meeting of some seventy church members last Sunday evening. Eight team captains and their workers laid out a system whereby every home in the area would be contacted to find out the names of persons residing in each home, whether or not they attended church or Sunday School.

Driver Is Injured In Truck Accident

Gordon Wells Bray, aged 31, of Swanton, suffered a fractured skull and multiple cuts and bruises when he was thrown from a pick-up truck he was operating on State Route 135 near Swanton last Thursday afternoon.

Bray was admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland after he was found beside his wrecked vehicle by a state forest warden about 3:30 p. m.

Tfc. Robert Henline, Maryland State Police, said Bray was traveling east on Route 135 when he lost control of the truck, careened across the highway and was thrown onto a pile of rocks. The accident occurred about 1½ miles east of Swanton.

A theatre building with apartments, and another building were destroyed by fire in Tunnelton on May 10.

culminate in an evangelism mission August 25 to August 30, and conclude with an area rally in the Southern High school gymnasium.

All Lutheran churches, of the Mountain Top are conducting evangelism missions at the same time, although all of them are not conducting the religious census.

In order for the census to be complete and accurate the cooperation of all residents is needed. A copy of a religious census card is being published along with this story. Workers are asking that residents who will not be at home on Sunday afternoon, May 19, fill in the form below and attach it to the front door so the census taker can obtain the needed information and does not have to make a second or third call-back.

A Masterpiece in the Flower Kingdom

The orchid is a flower of great beauty! It is recognized by horticulturists as a masterpiece in the flower kingdom, and reaches maturity only after seven years cultivation.

Physical beauty is the only requirement the orchid must fulfill to assume its place in the world. It is otherwise a soulless botanical specimen.

The botanist who cultivated this flower also possessed a son, and as the orchid approached maturity so also grew the child. The flower and the child were the objects of his greatest pride and affection. While his success with the orchid was certain, he failed in the greatest responsibility of his life—the training of his son.

The father's failure was caused by his inability to see the all important difference between the soulless flower and the immortal soul of his son. He thought only of the physical and mental prowess of his boy and thus neglected the child's greatest potential heritage—spiritual development. He had forgotten there was a Church! He had forgotten God!

The Church offers guidance and help to parents in the training of their children. Every parent and every child needs the sustaining strength of the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY Dr. KENNETH L. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Genesis 13; 18:1-19:29
Devotional Reading: Luke 11:1-13

In a Bad World

Lesson for May 19, 1957

THIS world we're in may be a bad one, but it never gets so bad we can't pray. The worse it is, the more reason to pray. There is a story in the Bible which shows a good man at prayer in an evil world. There are many such stories in the Bible, to be sure. The one which has been selected for our study is that of Abraham pleading for the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah. No man of his time was better than Abraham. No city of those times was worse than Sodom and Gomorrah. Yet this good man prayed for those wicked cities. There have always been puzzlers in this story, but they are not the main point. That point has nothing to do with such questions as "How can God eat hot bread and veal roast?" or "How could Abraham see God if it is true (see John 1:18) that no man has seen God at any time?" The point of the story, for us, is the kind of prayer a good man can offer, in and for an evil world.

Dr. Foreman

Realistic

First of all, Abraham's prayer shows that he had no illusions about Sodom and Gomorrah. They were cities which he preferred to stay away from, cities notorious for wickedness unashamed. We do not know how many thousand persons there may have been in Sodom, but Abraham ventures to think that in the whole city there may perhaps be 50 righteous persons. Abraham's series of prayers in which he begs the Lord to spare the city for the sake of fifty—then 45—40—30—20—10 good people, is often taken as a sign of Abraham's growing faith in God. But it can just as well stand for Abraham's decreasing faith in Sodom. At the end, he would not dare ask God to spare the city for "twenty's sake," if it is plain that he was very doubtful that there might be even that number of good citizens. Children may pray as if there were no evil in the world, but grown men even in their prayers must realize what kind of world they live in. Our Lord's Prayer mentions temptation and evil as real and dangerous, even for good men.

Generous

Abraham's prayer is not only realistic, it is generous. Readers of the Bible will remember Jesus' story of the Pharisee who in his prayer recalled the publican—no model citizen. But to the Pharisee the publican was not a man to be prayed for, only a man to be despised. Now Abraham was far better than the citizens of Sodom, if they were good at all, which seems doubtful; and he was better too than his relative, Lot, for whose sake he was chiefly praying. But he prays for them all the same. His prayer is of the highest sort—not for himself at all, but for others. The reader can test his religion by the kind of prayer he offers. One can ask oneself: How often do I pray for myself and how often for others? When I do pray for others, is it for good people only? Are my prayers an expression of selfishness, or can I offer generous prayers? How long has it been since I prayed for any one I didn't really like?

Daring

Abraham's prayer is humble; but it is also daring. Most of our prayers are safe; Abraham realizes that his is risky. It almost involves throwing a challenge to God: Shall not the judge of all the earth do right? This man realizes that he may actually be praying against God's will. He may be praying for the wrong thing entirely. But that does not stop him. He dares to believe that God was interested in a very small minority of good people. He dares to pray beyond his hopes, beyond his knowledge . . . but not beyond God. The God in whom Abraham believed, the God Abraham knew, was not like men. He did not—and he does not—share man's prejudices, man's pride. A man, even a good man, prides himself on not helping the unworthy; but God's mercy is untainted by conceit. Do we dare believe that God is just? Do we dare believe he will do the fair thing, or do we try to argue him into doing what we want even if it is not quite fair? Do we dare believe that God is merciful? or to pray for those who will not pray for themselves? Do we pray only for sure things, or do we dare go so far as to pray even when we fear that we may be asking too much? Can we stand and take God's No (as Abraham had to) and still hold our faith in Him?

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

The Beauty of Springtime

All of us rejoice to see the coming of spring, and once again to see all of Nature coming to life with new promise and new growth. Have you ever stopped to think how fortunate we are who live and work with the great life-giving and growing forces of nature? And how very fortunate we are to be workers with God who created all the orderliness of the universe with its beauty and majesty?

All around us are evidences of the triumph of life over death, of newness coming forth from the old. That apple tree in the yard recently outlined against the sky with bare limbs, dead and dry, is green with life and the promise of bloom and fruit for harvest. Here we see another sign of nature in its never ending miracle. There is the song of the returning birds, the noises along the creeks that tell us a wonderful new season has come again.

Most of us know springtime as a busy time, a time to clean house, plant the garden and get ready for the new growing season. On the farm, there are new lambs, calves, turkeys and chickens. There is the preparation of the soil for the growing crops. All of these to us are the means of our year's income to provide for our livelihood, pay our taxes, educate our children and provide some measure of economic security. But, somehow amid all this busyness, I think we should take out some time to see and appreciate the beauty all around us. There are the little flowers that grow wild in the fields and woods that come only in the spring. There are the sounds and smells that only come with the renewing of life in the spring. It is truly a unique season: young like the spirit of a very young child. Instead of seeing our spring tasks as ones that leave us with aches and pains (though they sometimes do), we can see ourselves as partners in the great co-operative process of nature whereby men are fed and clothed.

If we try, those of us who live on the land and till the soil can find in our daily tasks not only a means of making a livelihood, but a renewal of our spirit's life also. Our own lives can have a newness of life like those of nature when we raise our voices in praise and thanksgiving to God who gave to us beauty to see and appreciate and to be grateful for. Our work with growing things becomes not a drudgery to be endured, but a means by which our whole lives can be enriched and made new again.

Along The Potomac

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde • 6th District, Maryland

One of the most important questions that confronts us, as members of the House Judiciary subcommittee on immigration, is the demand for revision of the McCarran-Walter and the Refugee Relief Acts. Many proposals have been presented, including those of the President, to modify these laws. The most controversial involves the national origins system and an increase in the number of immigrants.

The most persistent demand for change comes — understandably enough—from first-generation immigrants who want to help friends and relatives. Revision of our immigration laws in an emotion-packed issue; but we ought not allow our feelings to sway our judgment either for or against revision. It is a mistake, too, to view our immigration laws just as a means of helping people in foreign nations who are in a tough spot.

Those who favor maintaining present laws point out that the McCarran-Walter Act is simply a codification of existing policies. It did eliminate race as a bar to immigration and nationalization, and provided for quota preferences for skilled aliens.

These proponents argue that proposed changes must be considered in the light of our current and future national problems. The question they raise is: Can the new citizen be absorbed without adverse affect on employment, schools, standards of living, etc. They note that a combination of dwindling water supply, pollution, mal-distribution of population and industry, and our natural population growth is already causing trouble.

Those who favor increasing the immigrant quota argue that large numbers can be absorbed in the future as they were in the past; that our greatly expanding economy can take care of all.

The point I wish to emphasize is that any revision of the immigration laws ought to be considered in the light of what's best for America.

On My Calendar

May 16, Regional meeting, D. C. Commission McLaughlin's office. May 18, welcoming address, National Secretaries Ass'n., Hagerstown. May 19, speaker, 2nd annual Brownsville - Gapland Memorial Day services, dedication of Brownsville Community pond, 2 p. m., Brownsville. May 21, 10:30 a. m., honor awards, Dept. of Agriculture, Sylvan theatre. May 21, 6 p. m., guest, National Small Business Ass'n., Mayflower hotel.

Among the many legislative proposals designed to strengthen the anti-trust laws are those that would require business firms to give advance notice of a contemplated merger. The House Judiciary committee, of which I am a member, is studying a number of pre-merger notification bills.

I greatly favor any wise legislation that strengthens our anti-trust laws and helps preserve a healthy economic climate for sane price competition. Many of us are concerned with the disappearance of thousands of small business activities through the merger route, and feel that "many mergers are the superhighway to monopoly." "Prior notice" is believed to be a means of slowing down mergers.

If the principle of "prior notice" is sound and provides a means of preventing the growth of monopolies, I would say the pending bills are not strong enough. I have argued that the penalties are too weak; that the enforcement provisions do not have the teeth to make them effective. For example, I feel that a fine of $50,000 to a giant corporation is just peanuts and would have no real deterrent value.

I am inclined to think that if our existing anti-trust laws were rigidly enforced and a more favorable tax structure enacted, many small business problems would be solved.

The Judiciary committee has been considering a number of public contract bills which would require bidders on government construction contracts to list their subcontractors. There is both strong backing and strong opposition to these proposals. My committee has approved a compromise bill which I believe will satisfy both the general contractor and the subcontractor.

I have introduced a bill proposing a constitutional amendment giving District of Columbia residents a vote for President with the same representation in the Electoral College as if it were a state.

The future can't be foretold, so the prudent person makes provisions to meet whatever it may demand. There is no better way than an adequate life insurance program to assure your future security.

For example, investing just 25c a day in a Woodmen Preferred Risk Whole Life Plan (based on age 30) brings you these benefits:

Immediate insurance, after only one payment .	$4,393.00
25c per day saved until age 65	3,193.75
At age 65, cash value of certificate	$2,576.19
*Plus accumulated refunds	970.28
Total cash availalde at age 65	$3,546.47
Gain in cash availalble at age 65 over total paid	$352.72

*Based on present refund schedule and interest rate. Subject to variation.

This plan provides protection at a minimum cost. There are many plans to choose from, including one that's just right for you.

"FORTY-FOUR YEARS OF THE LIFE OF A HUNTER," by Meshack Browning, Maryland's famous pioneer hunter, is now available.

Although it was first published 98 years ago and is now in its 12th edition, it is more widely read than ever before.

His truthful accounts of desperate encounters with the savage beasts of the forest, his superhuman efforts to maintain his family in the wilderness, far from human aid or associations, and his undaunted courage in facing the hardships of pioneer life cannot fail to captivate the reader.

It really deserves a place in every Marylander's library.

Church Women Meet

The Bllinger U. L. C. women met recently at the church with 20 in attendance. Mrs. Robert Glotfelty, president, was in charge. The club sent $25 to the synodical convention at Jackson's Mill for Miss Elsie Otto, the missionary supported by the West Virginia Synod. Mrs. Robert Buckel and Mrs. Robert Glotfelty were delegates to the Women's group at the Mill. Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, Mrs. Marvin Beitzel and Mrs. James Glotfelty also attended.

Mrs. O. C. Glotfelty was leader of the topic, "World Lutherans, Welcome to North America." The lesson aimed to make the individual Lutheran woman aware of what it means to belong to the Lutheran World Federation and told of the proceedings of the Minneapolis assembly. Mrs. Ruth Hetrick conducted the service for the quarterly ingathering of the Thank Offering.

Mrs. Robert Buckel will lead the June topic which is "People Do Starve for Books." Synodical reports are to be heard at St. John's Lutheran church at Meadow Mountain on Sunday, May 19 at 8 p. m.

Hon. John Marshall Butler

Drowning in Red Ink

It is frequently proclaimed that "looks are deceiving," and in this sense, many a healthy appearing tree is consumed internally by rot and eventually dies. Destruction is but a matter of time. Similarly, the illusion that America is still sound persists. Our fiscal structure is like that healthy appearing tree. On the surface, all looks well. But the foundation rests on the quicksand of a national debt of astronomical proportions. This indebtedness now exceeds $275 billion, and could not possibly be fully paid in our lifetime or in that of our children.

Senator Byrd of Virginia, perhaps one of the few persons in the country qualified to speak on the dangers of improvident fiscal policies and imprudent government spending, made this observation recently: "The $275 billion Federal debt equals the full assessed value of all the land, all the buildings, all the mines, all the machinery, all the factories, all the livestock, everything of tangible value in the United States of America."

An acute situation indeed, but the foundation is even less secure, the quicksands even more treacherous. Beyond this $275 billion sum, the Federal Government has another $250 billion in contingent liabilities, F.H.A. mortgages and such. Said differently, the Nation's primary and secondary obligations total $525 billion. Included are $19 billion borrowed from the Social Security contributions of American wage-earners, which amount must be repaid and available when these same wage-earners reach retirement age. In truth, our country is mortgaged for a debt equal to almost twice the assessed value of all the Nation's tangible assets.

To reduce and eradicate this staggering debt will not be an easy undertaking. In the doing, it will require years and generations. Yet, we are asked to continue foreign aid, already proven largely ineffective; to give economic assistance to the communist governments of Poland and Yugoslavia; to permit Britain to default again on its indebtedness to us; to approve a Federal budget of unprecedented dimensions; to give away costly nuclear materials; to support programs, such as Federal aid to education, which can only lead to more indebtedness.

Is there no end? The communists patiently await our destruction through bankruptcy—with red ink instead of bombs! In meeting this ever-present challenge, we can procrastinate no longer.

The Panama Canal — A Most Valuable Possession

With jurisdiction of the Suez Canal still in delicate imbalance, it can be anticipated that the call for "internationalization" of the Panama Canal will soon be sounded by the far left quarter of the political spectrum. Not a new innovation but merely another extension of a long-time objective of international communism. Internationalization, or some other equally misleading labels, has been the favorite jargon for concealing the real motives of the Red conspiracy.

Long ago, Soviet Russia suggested that the Panama Canal, as well as the Suez Canal, be internationalized and placed under United Nations control. To recall the "veto power" which the Soviets have used as a weapon of frustration in the U.N. is to make this proposal more frightening. Even so, the echo of the so-called "liberals" and their unwitting dupes frequently gains in volume.

At the 1945 Potsdam Conference, our representatives amazingly urged international control of all strategic waterways including the Suez and the Panama Canals. Alger Hiss, during his reigning days at the Department of State, almost succeeded in bringing about a transfer of the Panama Canal with a twisted, brazen interpretation of the U. N. Charter, but, in so doing, set a dangerous precedent which might yet rise up to haunt us. Earl Atlee, former Prime Minister of Britain, and leader of the British Labor Party, publicly stated four months ago that he favored internationalization of the Suez and Panama Canals.

Fortunately, by reason of treaties between the Republic of Panama and the United States, this goal will not be simple of attainment. Panama, in effect, holds the deed to the 10-mile zone through which the Canal traverses, but the U. S. has permanent rights to occupy, use and defend the area, as if it were U. S. territory. Through other treaties, the Canal is available to the commercial vessels and warships of all nations, without discrimination, except during wartime.

This Canal is vital to our national economy as well as to our national security. To the Kremlin provocateurs, the strategical significance of this waterway will always be viewed with an envy which can only be satisfied through "internationalization". Only a few days ago, the President of Panama stated that while communists in his country were few in number, they "are getting very active of late." With the knowledge of the devious methods by which communism moves toward world domination a matter of history, the American people must thwart all efforts to remove this essential defense artery from U. S. jurisdiction and control.

Just Won't Work . . .

Most individuals and groups are all for economy in government—so long as it is confined to someone else's interests. When it comes home to them they often rise up in wrath.

It never has worked and never will work. You can't pile up appropriations for this and that pet scheme, and at the same time cut the taxes.

Often we see and hear political candidates who make rash promises. "We'll vote you a soldier bonus, more money for this and that," they say, while at the same time give a long harangue about the high taxes. In the end they'll promise you a reduction.

In our national government Congress has voted for so many laws that require millions and billions in appropriations that it is almost an impossibility to reduce the budget appreciably.

In our own little county group the situation is the same. About 80 percent of the County Commissioner levy each year is fixed by law. Commissioners have a say in the expenditure of only about 20 percent of the funds they eventually will collect from the taxpayer.

People will resolve to spend less money, hut at the same time they will agree that they must take an automohile trip every week-end. The automobile trip is fine and perhaps relaxing, but one can't achieve the first without eliminating the second.

There is a lot of squawking about the huge Federal budget. But does anybody really want economy? "It is all right for the other fellows' projects to be cut, hut don't cut mine" seems to be the attitude of at least 150 million Americans.

The thoughts in these paragraphs are exact opposites. One is offset by the other.

Certainly there is waste in government and many items in the Federal budget could be eliminated. But the budget reduction will be comparatively small. Proportionately, the same thing could be said of state, county and city governments.

As long as laws are passed requiring expenditure of additional sums of money without eliminating some of the current requirements, then just so long are budgets going to rise, and eventually go out of sight.

He Went To Bed With His Shoes On

Allegedly William Waller went to bed the other night with his shoes on. This might have been overlooked by authorities except that he went to bed in somebody else's home.

Arrested by Deputy Sheriff James Frantz on Monday night he is being charged with being drunk and disorderly and will be given a hearing on Saturday before Trial Magistrate Earl Friend.

According to information furnished by Sheriff Paul W. Fisher, Waller went to the home of Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley Monday evening, and walked in without knocking. Judge Fraley was reclining and became quite startled, thinking possibly it was someone whom he had at one time sentenced.

When he asked what the man was doing there he replied, "I'm going to go to bed here." The judge excused himself and went to the sheriff's office nearby for assistance. Upon his return to his home with the deputy sheriff the man had disappeared but they finally found him in the judge's bed. He had removed his trousers but still had on his shoes.

Waller maintains that someone took him to the door and told him to go in there and go to bed. He doesn't remember how he got into the bed.

His automobile was found later that evening near the judge's home, with lights aglow.

Continuing Registration For Pre-School Children

Foster Riggs, principal of Oakland Elementary, said that about 80 parents had registered their children as first year students for this coming September last Thursday and Friday.

He said he felt there would be some 20 to 40 additional ones, so he announced that parents may come to the school any evening after dismissal, and he would complete the registration. He said parents would not have to appear with the child but that a birth certificate should be presented.

Manslaughter Charge Brings Fine Of $350.00

A 21-year-old Salisbury, Pa., man was found guilty of manslaughter by motor vehicle last Thursday in the Circuit court at Oakland and fined $350 and costs. Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley presided.

The man, Jack C. Kemp, was released from the Somerset County jail last Wednesday after serving a six-month sentence on another motor vehicle charge.

Following his release Wednesday he was turned over to authorities in Oakland.

Kemp had been freed on bond in January of this year after being convicted of manslaughter by motor vehicle by Trial Magistrate C. S. Zeller in Grantsville. Magistrate Zeller fined the man $1,000 and gave him a suspended sentence of one year in the Maryland House of Correction. Following the January hearing his attorney appealed the case to the Garrett County Circuit court.

At the trial William Wilson, Cumberland attorney, entered a plea of guilty to the charge for Kemp. He was fined $350 and ordered committed to the Garrett county jail in default of the fine. The fine and costs were paid and Kemp was released.

The conviction came as a result of a traffic accident in this county in which Miss Mary Ryman, Salisbury, was fatally injured.

On February 21 of this year Kemp was sentenced to six months in Somerset county on another incident, and only last Wednesday completed this sentence.

One Fatally Hurt In Car Accident

One woman was fatally injured, and two other persons injured, one of them critically, in a one-car crash on U. S. 219 near Keyser Ridge Saturday evening.

Succumbing Monday in Meyersdale hospital was Mrs. Patricia Trenton, 29, of Cumberland. Also injured were Mrs. Trenton's daughter, Cynthia, 10, in fair condition; and Raymond Wempe, 28, of Cumberland, who remains in critical condition.

Mr. Wempe, an employe of the National Shirt Shop in Cumberland, was the driver of the car. He sustained chest injuries, according to a Meyersdale physician. Mrs. Trenton, an employe of the C. and P. Telephone company, sustained chest injuries and internal injuries. Her daughter sustained a fractured pelvis and head injuries.

The crash occurred about 8 p. m. Saturday as Mr. Wempe was traveling about three miles south of Keyser Ridge. Cpl. Samuel Conrad, who investigated with Trooper Joseph Stakem, said Mr. Wempe attempted to negotiate a left turn but the vehicle went out of control on the wet highway. It careened across the road, traveled about 60 feet to the left of the road and struck two trees. The car struck the one tree and then swerved broadside into the second tree.

Victims were taken to the Meyersdale hospital in an ambulance from Grantsville. The car is a total wreck, being practically wrapped around the tree by the impact.

Telephone Numbers For Bayard, Gormania Given

All telephone numbers to be assigned in the Bayard, Gormania and Mt. Storm areas, beginning in June, will be in accordance with the new nation-wide 2-letter 5-numeral telephone numbering plan.

After the cutover telephone users will be able to call each other by dialing the first two letters of the central office name OWen (OW), followed by the five numerals.

Prior to the cutover on Sunday, June 2, at 2 a. m., customers will receive a new cutover directory, listing all of the telephone numbers for the area.

Rain Aids Crops

Plentiful rainfall during the week made certain the end of a period of drought that had lasted for two weeks.

Rain fell on Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with light showers also being experienced yesterday.

The wet weather was a distinct aid to crops that had been held back because of the dry weather. It also served to furnish a boost to grass and fullage.

Economic Program To Be Discussed At Joint Meeting

Economic development of the community will be the purpose of a joint meeting of the Oakland Rotary club and the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club, to be held at the Southern High cafeteria on Tuesday evening, June 4, at 6:30.

Speaker that evening will be William L. Ingersell, executive secretary of Indiana Chamber of Commerce, Indiana, Pa. His services have been procured by a joint committee of the two service clubs.

How the development in Indiana county began, progressed and has been accomplished will be the subject of Mr. ingersoll's address. Early last fall a feature article appeared in the Sunday supplement of The Pittsburgh Press, concerned with the economic development in Indiana county. The person who appeared to be most responsible for this development was Mr. Ingersoll, according to members of the local committee.

Committee members said they felt the talk would be of great interest and benefit to all citizens who are concerned with promoting the future economic development of the county.

A number of interested persons, other than members of the two service clubs are being invited to attend. Cost of the dinner is $1.65 per person. Reservations are to be made not later than Tuesday, May 28.

Red Cross Report Shows $2,354.56

The final report of the Red Cross fund drive showed contributions of $2,354.56, it was announced this week by Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, fund drive chairman.

She pointed out that this was far short of the goal, but with the $400 for emergency relief contributed before the drive began, the total reaches about the same as last year.

She said that in some areas, notably Friendsville, the amount collected was three times that of last year. She hoped local chairmen would send in their contributor sheets.

The report showed the following amounts: Accident, $190; Red House, $132.01; Mt. Lake Park, Loch Lynn and White Church, $161.02; Bittinger, $71; Crellin, $65.75; Swan Meadow and Gortner, $115; Friendsville, $136.01; Deer Park, $81.95; Grantsville, $328.30; Swanton, $12.50; New Germany, $9; Underwood, $6.25; Bloomington, $37.60; Kitzmiller, $143.54; Avilton, $23.50; Finzel, $19.70; Oakland, $821.43; total, $2,354.56.

Summer Maintenance Program For Schools To Begin June 10

Another summer program, the third consecutive one which will complete the renovation of Garrett County schools with the exception of Grantsville Elementary school, will begin Monday, June 10, it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools. The program outlined for the summer consists of work to be done at Crellin, Yoder, North Glade, Deer Park and Bloomington. In addition, both high schools will have all exterior metal parts, including window frames and support columns painted, and brick walls on rear of each building treated with silicone to prevent moisture penetration. The first schools on the list for the summer are Yoder, Crellin and the two high schools. Both Yoder and Crellin will be completely renovated and repaired as needed inside and painted on the outside. The same will be done for Bloomington while only minor improvements are needed at North Glade and Deer Park, as work was done on both of these schools last year.

A crew of 16 men, all full-time custodians but two, will provide the work force, with O. T. Graser, maintenance supervisor, directing the work. When children return to school in September all will be in newly renovated quarters, with the exception of the children in the Grantsville school, and those at Johnson, Finzel and the Annex building waiting to move into new buildings as soon as they are completed. The Grantsville school will be somewhat reorganized after the next school year, when about 75 pupils from the Avilton area will transfer to the new school on Route 40, Mr. Hawkins said. This school when complete will house all children in the Finzel, Johnson, Avilton area in grades one through eight. Grantsville school will be renovated during the summer of 1958. Some of the improvements contemplated for Grantsville call for provisions for a cafeteria, new classroom lighting, glass block and new windows for rooms on the west side of the building, provisions for larger library space, acoustical tile ceilings, asphalt tile flooring, improvements to toilet facilities, complete interior decoration, and new or reconditioned furniture for each room.

Mr. Hawkins said this will complete the three year program designed to place every school boy and girl in Garrett County in either a new or newly renovated and modernized classroom, and will be followed up by a continuous rotating maintenance program to see that all buildings and school premises are kept in first class condition. The school board hopes to be able to construct some hard surfaced, mud free play areas for all of the larger elementary schools within the next year or two, he added. Such improvements he regarded as absolutely essential for both the welfare of children as well as for the maintenance of buildings.

The school board also regards as needy projects a band room for Southern High school and closed covered walkways between the main high school building and the shops. The band room at Southern is needed not only as a matter of space but also to remove the noise from the main building. Covered walkways are considered necessary as a protection to students passing to and from shop classes during cold and inclement weather. Two high school auditoriums remain in the school board improvement plans, he emphasized, whenever such major improvements can be properly financed.

He declared the school board is confident that the renovation and improvement of schools is paying big dividends in improving the quality of education in the schools of the county.

Grantsville and Northern Are Spelling Bee Winners

DONNA BOWSER

SHIRLEY FIKE

The second annual County-Wide Spelling Bee sponsored by the Garrett County Board of Education was held in the Friendsville school auditorium last Thursday evening with Donna Bowser, Grantsville, and Shirley Fike, Northern, being declared the winners. A large crowd attended.

The sixth grade word test was pronounced by Mrs. Anna K. Beachy, teacher at Northern High school, while the ninth grade list was pronounced by Mrs. Bessie Price, teacher at Southern High school.

The ninth grade group spelled all the words on the junior high school list and the pronouncer had to use senior high school words before a winner could be declared. It took about twenty minutes longer to declare a winner among the ninth graders than had been anticipated. The performance of the entire group was rated as "excellent."

One speller was sent from each sixth and ninth grade class or section in the county. Local contests were held in each school to determine the best school representative.

The three winners in each grade were:

Sixth grade, 1st, Donna Bowser, Grantsville, taught by Mrs. Elizabeth Williams; 2nd, William Saltzer, Accident, taught by Edward Shuck; 3rd, Inez Broadwater, Grantsville, taught by Lloyd Winters.

Ninth grade, 1st, Shirley Fike, Northern, taught by Justin Riggs; 2nd, Martha Tice, Yoder, Mrs. Esther Yoder, teacher; 3rd, Joyce McClung, Southern, taught by Mrs. Virginia McManis.

Merle Frantz, principal of the Friendsville school, served as the chairmen of the committee for the contest. Certificates were awarded to all contestants by George Edwards, newly appointed member of the school board, and medals were awarded to the three top spellers in each grade by Willard Hawkins, superintendent of schools.

The third annual Spelling Bee will be held next year in the auditorium of the new Oakland Elementary school, now under construction.

Arrested on Two Charges and Fined

The mystery of home made bombs which had apparently been exploding in various areas of town may now be solved. They may have been just a contraption rigged up on a car owner's exhaust, according to authorities. Pieces of exploded bomb, however, have been found in several areas so the two cases may be entirely separate. There have been no explosions for several days.

At any rate, last Friday George Wesley Goff, Jr., of Terra Alta, was arrested and charged with reckless driving and tampering with motor vehicles. At a hearing before Trial Magistrate Earl Friend he was found guilty of both charges and fined $25 and costs on each offense. A thirty-day jail sentence was suspended upon payment of fines and costs.

Magistrate Friend said the man was annoying women in automobiles late at night. He would follow such cars, weaving in and out, back and forth, and shine his spotlight onto the women. The magistrate said the man said he was "just having a little fun."

Hearing Case Today

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley is hearing an appeal case today involving Harold Max Orendorf, claimant, against the H. Weber and Sons company, his employer.

The Workmen's Compensation Commission awarded total disability to Orendorf as the result of an injury allegedly occurring while Orendorf was in the company's employ. Weber has appealed from the order. The trial is before the court.

Memorial Day To Be Observed Here

Memorial Day, next Thursday, May 30, will be appropriately observed in Oakland with the usual activities, it was announced this morning by Harrison Stewart, commander of Proctor Kildow Post No. 71, American Legion.

Stewart said he was arranging for a parade next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock which would include a band, Legion, Knights of Pythias, fire company, boy and girl scout organizations, the National Guard, and perhaps Little League and other groups.

The parade will form at the City Hall and move north on Third street promptly at 10 o'clock. The parade route also will include the business section of Second street, and will disband at the cemetery where a Memorial Day address will be delivered at the tomb of the unknown soldier. Stewart said the speaker was yet to be selected.

Members of Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, are to meet at Castle Hall at 9:30. At the cemetery they will decorate the graves of departed members.

The National Guard unit will provide the color guard for the parade and the activities at the cemetery.

Bus Catches Fire Near Red House

A number of passengers traveling on a Greyhound bus bound for Clarksburg, W. Va., were delayed Sunday afternoon when the bus caught fire along U. S. Route 50, about a mile west of Red House. No one was injured.

Sheriff Paul Fisher investigated and directed traffic during the delay. The Oakland Volunteer fire department was called and quenched the flames.

Driver of the bus which was traveling from Washington to Clarksburg said fuel oil ran over the motor block and ignited. The rear of the bus also was damaged considerably by the flames. About 20 passengers were on the bus at the time the fire broke out. The driver called for another bus.

Oakland firemen answered another call on Friday evening about 7 o'clock, but apparently it was a false alarm. Firemen said the phone message said "opposite Dairy Queen," but they were unable to locate any tire anywhere in the neighborhood.

Winners of Poster Contest Announced

Winners of the poster contest, sponsored by the Oakland Elementary school P.-T.A. to make posters for the elementary school fun carnival, were announced.

Natural Gas
Travels Farther These Days
Not so long ago your natural gas supply lay practically in your back yard.
Today, much of the natural gas you find so useful in your home travels thousands of miles from the Southwest. Over seventy-five per cent of the gas served to you through Columbia Gas System companies comes from Texas or Louisiana.
It makes a four-day trip smoothly and dependably through miles and miles of huge steel arteries—the pipelines that spread northward from the Gulf Coast. Columbia Gas System companies now take gas from five cross-country pipelines and relay it to you through a network of distribution systems.
And today natural gas goes further in more ways than one—when you use modern, efficient appliances for this most modern, most efficient fuel.

On Salary Changes . . .

Figures we used two weeks ago in regard to the County Commissioners salaries, have been questioned, claiming the expense money previously allowed the Commissioners was $200 each and not $600, as indicated. Those who questioned are correct.

The previous bill declared that the Commissioners, all three that is, should receive $600 for expenses. This presumably would be divided at $200 each, although it also has been stated that some Commissioners in former years had allowed the president of the commissioners more than his regular amount, the other two members of the board taking lesser amounts.

Figures compiled by the legislative reference department at Annapolis which prepared the bill provided that each Commissioner would receive $3,000 annually. This is the way the bill finally passed. The bill allowed $2,200 for salary, $300 as a member of the Roads Board, and $500 as a member of the Board of License Commissioners.

Formerly each commissioner received $900 compensation, $200 for expenses, $300 as member of the Roads Board, with $500 expenses, and $500 as a member of the board of license commissioners, or a total of $2,400, according to Harry Edwards, member of the House of Delegates. The net result was an increase of $600 for each commissioner, instead of $200 as previously indicated.

There is still some indication that legislators may attempt again to make a separate board of license commissioners, and if this is successful the total salary of the Commissioners would drop to $2,500 unless some provision was made to maintain it at $3,000. Delegate Jesse J. Ashby has said they would certainly make such provision.

The figures on the sheriff's bill were correct. It gives the sheriff an annual salary of $3,600 instead of $2,000 and instead of $600 a year expenses, the amount for expenses is made unlimited, depending upon the discretion of the County Commissioners. The sheriff does not get his increase until the next election. However, the deputy's salary, which went from $1,500 to $2,700, goes into effect June the first.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

What Is Important?

A committee was planning a youth program as it lunched in a young married couple's home. To present a worth while program was considered a great responsibility by these adults. A small group will be hand picked from every county and there was no question in anyone's mind but what they will fill the places of leadership twenty years hence. What wedges should we drive into their thinking?

The question was thrown out to the group: What are the things that really count?

Our host, a young law professor, said, "Money," and spoke with the voice of experience. Or it would have been the voice of urgency. Having already married a girl of superior quality, education and with a wholesome cultured background, maybe he was anxious to give her the kind of home she was accustomed to.

I for one, was taken back a bit when he didn't say something about family. But being a normal youth perhaps he took good family life the way we take good mountain air.

Then, this week our sons who already have two feet and one wing out of the nest, put a question to me that I did not answer to their satisfaction. The question, "What do you consider success?"

I came back with something about making use of the talents God gave us. That doesn't mean much to young people when they don't know if God gave them one or ten.

What is success? I've been thinking about it ever since. What is it that really counts" Is it success, money, talents wisely used"

We mothers of vanity would like to see our children make enough money to live well and do a few of the extras—which to us would be more of the extras than we've ever had. But actually, when one sifts out the chaff the grains that are left are few. One of these grains is to really love your work. As someone has said, "The search for happiness is not doing what one likes, but liking what one does."

To be happy in our birthright. God must have meant it to be or he would not have so adequately supplied all our needs. Being happy is one way we can glorify God which is surely one of the grains that are left after the chaff is blown away. Knowing that your work benefits mankind would also have a bearing. Surely a dairy farmer would feel his worth more than the tobacco grower.

But back to money again. Wouldn't it have to be one of the grains? It's a lot like the conversation of the hired man and the rich rancher's wife in "The Giant."

"Oh, money's not important," she was saying to him.

He replied dryly, "It never is to them that has all they want."

White Church Girl Is Bride

Miss Marguerite Elaine Shillingburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Shillinghurg, of White Church community, near Deer Park, and Donald William Fink, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Fink, of Westernport, were united in marriage on Easter Sunday at the home of the bridegroom's parents in Westernport.

Rev. Rex Colfman, pastor of the Pentecostal Holiness church of Piedmont, W. Va., officiated.

The bride was attired in a ballerina length gown of net over taffeta and a white net bolero. Her shoulder length veil was accented with white rosebuds. She wore white lace mitts and a corsage of orchids. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Glenna Lake Loughry, of Steyer, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of orchid net over taffeta and a corsage of pink carnations. Paul Roderick, Westernport, was best man. Mrs. Donald Ferguson sang "I Love You Truly," and "Always."

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Mrs. Fink is a graduate of Southern High school, Oakland, class of 1956. Prior to her marriage she was employed in Cumberland.

Mr. Fink was graduated from Bruce High school in 1954. He is employed at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company.

North Hi Seniors Plan Class Night

Seniors of Northern High have planned their class night program for Tuesday evening, May 28, at 8 o'clock, under direction of Miss Kathryn Speicher.

Carolyn Savage, class president, will introduce Bill Goehringer, master of ceremonies. A feature will be a one-act play, "Life O' the Party." Other numbers will be a solo by Gloria McCullough, a piano duet by June Leydig and Lorna Ault. Max Bowser will give a monologue, Junior Kahl will portray a monologue and Eva Schroyer and Janice Kay Sisler will also do a dialogue.

Gloria McCullough, Thelma Hanlin, John Kolb, Larry McCurdy, Rosalee Sisler, Esther Friend, Jim Short, Dick Stanton, Donna Watts, and Janet Friend will sing "The Lord's Prayer," and other selections. Carolyn Savage will read the will and Louise Coddington will read the class prophecy. The entire class will sing the class song and dedication song.

$25,000 Damage Suit Settled Last Week

A $25,000 damage suit filed by a motorcyclist against a Garrett county automobile driver was settled last week in Allegany county Circuit court.

Attorneys announced settlement after the jury had been selected and were in the jury box.

Gordon Raley of Frostburg had filed the suit against Howard Hetrick of Garrett county.

The cycle of Raley and operated by Raley was struck by the auto driven by Hetrick on route 40 near the Allegany-Garrett county line. Raley, in his declaration, alleged he had lost his cap, was making a U-turn to go back to get it when he was hit by the Hetrick car. He claimed the Hetrick auto was too far to the left of the highway center line.

Amount of settlement was not announced. E. Ray Jones, Oakland, and W. Earle Cobey, Cumberland, represented Hetrick. E. J. Ryan and William L. Wilson represented the plaintiff.

Newlyweds Enroute To Europe

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Edward Offutt III, who were married in Columbus Avenue Baptist church chapel on May 7, in Waco, Texas, are enroute to Europe.

The bride is the former Miss Pollyanna Clawson, daughter of Mrs. Virgie Clawson of Waco, Texas. Mr. Offutt is the son of Mrs. Daniel E. Offutt of Oakland and the late Mr. Offutt.

Dr. W. J. Wimper, assistant to the president at Baylor University, performed the ceremony. Norris F. Clark, the bride's brother-in-law, gave her in marriage. The bride chose a waltz length gown of imported Chantilly lace. The sabrina neckline was embroidered with clusters of seed pearls and iridescent paillettes. The moulded princess bodice was fastened in back with tiny self covered buttons. The wide graceful skirt was enhanced with re-embroidered lace inserts. Her matching veil of French silk illusion extended in misty tiers to fingertip length from a crown of rhinestone and seed pearls. She carried a cascade type bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. Kay Clark, the bride's niece, lighted candles.

Miss Carol Anderson her only attendant, wore a gown of pink imported lace. The sweetheart neckline was enhanced by brief sleeves and short white kid gloves. The bodice was accented by a deep bias fold that extended to the back ending in a pouf bustle. She wore a matching maline hat accented by velvet bows, and carried a cascade type bouquet of pink cymbedian orchids. The bridegroom's attendants were Larry Beadle and James Fletcher. The organist was Mrs. Hanna and soloist was Mrs. Fletcher, sister of the bride.

The bride received her B.S.A. degree from Baylor University this month. She is a member of Phi Gamma Nu, National Business Sorority and Order of Artus, National Economics fraternity, and is an economics major.

Mr. Offutt graduated from University of Maryland in 1954. Did graduate work at Baylor after finishing an army enlistment. He is a member of Phi Beta Theta fraternity, Iota Lambda Sigma, professional fraternity, and holds a B.S. degree in industrial engineering. The couple will return to the states in September to live in Milford, Conn. They stopped in Oakland last week enroute from Waco to New York City.

"I like those extras you get in an Olds!"

HE: You mean the advanced styling, I suppose. The Accent Stripe and . . .

SHE: Oh, there's more to it than thru. For example, the "park" position on the Hydra-Matic Drive* makes it safer and easier to start, even on hills.

HE: Well, Olds has a reputation for attention to details. That's one reason the value lasts.

SHE: You can tell that someone took a lot of patience in planning and building it right. Even the two ash trays are lighted.

HE: I'll bet the Oldsmobile engineers would love that, but I wonder how they'd feel about you not mentioning the Rocket Engine? Now there's a power plant. There's still nothing quite like a Rocket!

SHE: That's for me too, but I look for lots of other things—like upholstery . . . and that glove box. It's big enough for an umbrella. I wish . . .

HE: Tell you what. Let's stop wishing. Let's go see our Olds dealer . . . right now!

BRAVE WORDS

That's my daughter Ellen standing up there in her cap and gown. Valedictorian of her class! I'd be a strange mother if I didn't feel a lump in my throat, and a tremendous surge of pride.

It just doesn't seem possible that my Ellen is grown-up. Like any mother, I have visions of a tiny baby . . . a little girl in pigtails . . . a child, beginning school.

And now here she is, speaking about the future that she and her classmates envision . . . the things they are going to try to do . . . their hopes and dreams.

They are brave words, all of them . . . brave dreams. And like all parents, I pray that most of them will come true. But I know that in times of failure, my Ellen will have an added strength because of her Faith, and her devotion to the Church.

How glad, how thankful, I am for that!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Genesis 26:1-5, 12-33.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 57:6-12.

Man of Peace

Lesson for May 26, 1957

IN a hospital for the insane, the patients may think the doctors are crazy. In a land of three-legged men, a man with only two legs would look deformed. Maybe that is why in the world today people who speak a good word for Peace are looked on as somewhat "touched in the head." This is a warring world. It is a fact that the heathen ancestors of most readers of this column followed a religion in which heaven was thought to be a place where fighting went on all day and drinking all night. But north-Europeans are not the only fighters of the world. Wars and fights, large and small, have been going on in all parts of the world since cave-man times. This Twentieth Century is the bloodiest of all, with fewer wars than formerly, but far more serious ones.

Dr. Foreman

Surrender

Isaac, second son of Abraham, is known as a man of peace. But he must have seemed to be a rather odd man, around Gerar where he lived. He did not seem quite normal. He was willing, even eager, to make peace; but what lessons he endured in the making of peace? In the famous story of the Wells of Gerar, which is in our Scripture this week, we see Isaac giving up his comforts, his profits and even his rights, in order to keep peace. He moved farther and farther into the wilderness; he got no return on all the labor put in on the wells; and he actually gave up what he had a perfect right to keep—the wells themselves. It is very likely that a man or a nation that is going to stay at peace with the rest of the world, will, like Isaac, have to surrender some comforts, some profits, even some rights. A nation, or an individual, unwilling to make any concessions, yield any points or lower their profits, is headed for a fight. And the fight will cost more than what they fought to keep.

Sons of God

Nevertheless, peacemakers shall be called sons of God. So Jesus tells us; let it be noted that he said peacemakers, not peace-seekers, peace-praisers. This means that peacemakers are like God; they belong to his family. It means that the peacemaker is in line with the purposes of God. Consider Isaac again. What became of all the nations whose battles reddened the earth, whose wars were the big news, whose generals were famous men, whose conquests made history? The nations of that day are now dead, so dead that until recently—we know better now—there were some who thought the Bible's references to them must be fiction. Only university professors know about the Girgashites, the Philistines and all the rest, and they don't much care. But what became of Isaac? His name is immortal, the family descended from him is found everywhere in the world. The sons of Isaac are the most indestructible folk of history. When God sent his Son into the world, it was to the sons of Isaac that he first came, not to the children of the Philistines.

Witness of History

Sometimes the most peaceful men or nations are forced to fight. But the truly great are not those who keep the fight going on for years and years, but those who bind up the wounds they have made. Germany, at the time these lines are being written, shows an example. That nation was conquered by America and Russia, along with other nations. Today America and Russia are the two principal powers occupying Germany with their armies. But the part controlled by Russia is being systematically bled. The great Russian war memorial in east Berlin is lined with inscriptions (quoted from Stalin) insulting the German people; most prominent in East Berlin are great ruined empty buildings. In the west zone, controlled by the United States, there is comparative prosperity; this country is devoting immense sums to the upbuilding of our former enemies; most prominent in west Berlin is the risen new city built on the ruins of the old. It cannot be said that Germans love to be occupied by foreign armies. But they know the vast difference between a former enemy who turns as quickly as possible to the ways of peace, and an enemy that never knows the war is over.

FORTY-FOUR YEARS OF THE LIFE OF A HUNTER" by Mesnack Brownan., Maryland's famous pioneer hunter, is now available. Although it was first published 98 years ago and is now in its 12th edition, it is more widely read than ever before.

His truthful accounts of desperate encounters with the savage beasts of the forest, his superhuman efforts to maintain his family in the wilderness, far from human aid or associations, and his undaunted courage in facing the hardships of pioneer life cannot fail to captivate the reader.

It really deserves a place in every Marylander's library.

IN THE MATTER OF THE ADOPTION OF THEODORE KEITH RICH, AN INFANT.

No. 1756 EQUITY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to procure the passage of a decree for the adoption of an infant boy by Emual L. Evans and Nellie Esther Evans, his wife, and to give him the name of Theodore Keith Evans.

The bill states:

That the petitioners are residents of Garrett County, Maryland; that Theodore Keith Rich was born August 16, 1945, the child of Ellsworth Rich and Daphna Miller Rich, his wife; that when the said Theodore Keith Rich was one month old he was deserted by his father, and when said infant was aged six months he was placed in the home of the petitioners by his mother; that the mother of said infant, subsequent to the birth of said child, was divorced from the father of said child and is now remarried; that the mother of said child, to-wit, Daphna Miller King, formerly Daphna Miller Rich, is the sister of the petitioner, Nellie Esther Evans; that said infant has remained in the home of the petitioners since having been left there by his mother, and for the past twelve years has been a part of the home of the petitioners; that the petitioners have furnished all support and maintenance for said infant since he was six months of age; that the mother of said infant has concurred in and given her consent to the adoption of him by the petitioners, said consent being filed herewith and prayed to be taken as a part hereof; that the whereabouts of the father of said child are unknown to the petitioners; that the petitioners are able to support, educate and maintain said infant, and feel that under the circumstances it will be for the best interest of said infant, as well as all concerned, that the prayers of the petitioners be granted.

The petition then prays for a decree declaring the infant child of Ellsworth Rich and Daphna Miller King, formerly Daphna Miller Rich, born on the 16th day of August, 1945, to be the legally adopted child of Emual L. Evans and Nellie Esther Evans, his wife, and to name said child Theodore Keith Evans.

Greater AMOCO-GAS

Greater for every car . . . yet no increase in price!

AGAIN new-car compression ratios and their power needs have set record highs. And, again millions of motorists look to Amoco for maximum premium gasoline power without the use of lead. In response to the growing demand for America's only unleaded premium motor fuel, Amoco now announces the opening of the world's most modern, most advanced gasoline refinery at Yorktown, Virginia.

Amoco's magnificent new Yorktown refinery and new facilities at the present great Texas City refinery make possible Greater Amoco-Gas . . . the highest natural octane gasoline in history, yet available at (no increase in price!

Greater Amoco-Gas is the only high-octane gasoline of its kind. Every other premium gasoline, regardless of fancy color, fancy pump or fancy name, is actually a low-octane gasoline artificially boosted to premium rating by lead. But lead doesn't burn! Instead, it leaves fouling deposits on spark plugs, pistons and valves . . . causes pre-ignition and an ever-increasing thirst for more gasoline.

That's why only clear-white, unleaded Greater Amoco-Gas guarantees longer car life . . . no lead fouling . . . greater mileage per gallon than ever before possible . . . 100% power for every car on the road!

Litter Season . . . .

Most cemeteries have been cleaned up and made presentable for Memorial Day, and such labor is commendable. How much more commendable it would be if we would work diligently at a year-round task of keeping Maryland beautiful and eliminating litter.

The littering season is upon us. In fact, we are not sure that it was ever ended, judging from the actions of individuals who never seem to be aware that throwing down waste paper, banana peels and other refuse was anything other than the accepted practice.

Every state and national park has its quota of lazy, slovenly people who cannot be bothered to clear up behind them. A national authority estimates that last year it cost $50 million dollars to clear up the mess Americans made of their own country. And as each year brings more people out onto the highways, the bill increases.

This is the start of the picnicking and camping season, of vacations and week-end trips which will add another layer to the deposit of tin cans, beer and whisky bottles and paper defiling the parks and roadsides. Some people just live in a mess and travel in one. Many who would not suffer a scrap of paper on their own lawns and yards toss it freely on those of others, and the county's property.

Let's educate our people, beginning with the youngest. Make them conscious of their responsibility to others. Surely a majority of people will want to keep an area clean, if they can be taught to just stop and think.

If these people can be brought to an understanding of what they are doing, some of this ugliness might be avoided.

Don't be afraid to call out "Litter-Bug" to those whom you see despoiling the landscape. You might get a black look, but the next time we believe they'll think twice. The third time it might begin to soak through. Eventually we'll win. In the meantime, keep hammering.

Going To Bed With Shoes On Costs Him $50

At a hearing before Trial Magistrate Earl Friend in Oakland on Saturday morning, William Waller was fined $50 and costs on charges of being drunk and disorderly and $10 on costs on an illegal parking charge.

Waller allegedly went to the home of Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley Monday evening of last week, walked in without knocking, and while Judge Fraley sought assistance from the sheriff's office, went upstairs and went to bed with his shoes on and his trousers off. He later maintained that someone took him to Judge Fraley's front door and told him to go in there and go to bed. He doesn't remember how he got into the bed.

Waller did not show up for trial but had William O. Treacy, local attorney, represent him, who entered pleas of guilty in both instances.

S. R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney, said it was necessary to place him in the county jail again on Saturday night, and the next day Sheriff Paul W. Fisher took him to the Veterans' hospital in Martinsburg, W. Va., where he was scheduled to receive an examination.

Others Fined

Mike Yost, Johnstown, Pa., and Sam Grabiak, New Alexandria, Pa., were arrested Sunday on charges of operating a boat on Deep Creek Lake without a license Leo Friend, game warden, made the arrests.

At a hearing before Trial Magistrate Friend they were fined $25 and costs. Collateral was forfeited in each case.

John Philip Halsey, on leave from the service, was arrested for operating a motor vehicle after a license was refused, cancelled, suspended or revoked, and at a hearing last Thursday before Magistrate Friend he was fined $100 and costs. Halsey, of Deep Creek Lake, entered an appeal in the case.

Commissioners Name Mrs. Fizer Clerk To Board

At a special meeting of the Board of County Comissioners on Monday morning, Mrs. Virginia Fizer, who has been acting as secretary to the board for about two years, was named clerk for a two-year period.

She will take the place of R. T. Brohawn, who had been serving as clerk since the Commissioners took office in January, 1955. One employe had been eliminated by recent legislation.

Reorganization of the Commissioners' office was made mandatory as the result of House Bill 275 which passed the Maryland legislature and was signed by the governor March 18, which was an act to repeal and re-enact, with amendments, certain sections of Article 12 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland, relating to salary and expenses of the County Commissioners and to the clerk to the Commissioners, his salary and office.

Section 85 orders the Commissioners to appoint a clerk for two years who shall be "in charge of the office of the County Commissioners, shall perform the duties pertaining to his office and such other duties as may be prescribed by the County Commissioners or imposed by law."

The bill raised the salary of the clerk from $1,800 to an amount not to exceed $3,600, payable monthly. The enacted law eliminated the provision where the Commissioners would have authority to employ such additional clerical help as they deemed necessary for the proper conduct of their office and to pay reasonable and proper compensation for the services to be performed, with employment of such additional help and compensation to be in the discretion of the commissioners. The law added the following regulation: "The clerk shall perform all the duties of his office without any additional help. The office of the clerk shall be kept open from 9 a. m. until 12 noon, and from 1 p. m. until 4 p. m. daily except Sunday."

According to the interpretation of the law, the Commissioners had to act prior to June 1, when the new law goes into effect, eliminating one of the employes.

At Monday's meeting Commissioner Ervin Roth made a motion that the Commissioners hire Mr. Brohawn. His motion failed for want of a second. Then Aubrey Brenneman made a motion that the board hire Mrs. Fizer. This was seconded by Commissioner President H. D. Swartzentruber, and the motion carried, two to one.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Go Right To The Bottom

The politicians of both parties are deeply concerned over the revelation of the McClellan committee as to the tieup between the crooked bosses of the teamsters and other unions and the racketeers, corruptionists and underworld generally in various big cities. And there is plenty of reason for this concern.

For exampte, it will be recalled that six years ago the top labor leadership committed in a great effor to drive the late Senator Robert A. Taft out of political life. They put everything they had, including a large amount of money, in an attempt to prevent his re-election to the Senate from Ohio. It also will be recalled that prior to the election a number of labor spokesmen and quite a few so-called "liberal" columnists and "advanced thinkers" openly predicted that if labor succeeded in defeating Mr. Taft it would inevitably lead to the formation of a Labor party here along English lines.

Well, Mr. Taft was re-elected by an overwhelming majority. So, later, was Governor Lausche, a Democrat, equally abhorred by organized labor. After that the bosses of organized labor, such as George Meany and Walter Reuther, discarded all thought of setting up a Labor party and concentrated their energies upon controlling the Democratic party. So in 1952 and in 1956 they indorsed and threw the full strength of both the AFL and the CIO against General Eisenhower and for Mr. Adlai Stevenson. They were, of course, very badly beaten the first time and were worse beaten the second. As things stand today it has been made clear at least four times that the rank and file of organized labor do not follow their leaders politically. On the contrary, when they go to the polls they vote the way they feel and think regardless of the resolutions passed in their conventions and the speeches made by their so-called spokesmen. In brief, they can't be delivered.

After this has been strikingly demonstrated in four different elections the McClellan committee now reveals a degree of rottenness in the biggest union of them all. The boss of this union, Dave Beck, incidentally, supported Mr. Eisenhower last year, but has now damaged the whole labor movement in the country. Mr. George Meany and Mr. Walter Reuther, president and vice-president, respectively, of the combined AFL-CIO, and neither of whom has a stainless record, raise their hands in holy horror and piously point to their recently adopted "code of ethics." They are furious with Dave Beck and his friend, Hoffa, but don't quite dare say so. They know that despite their protestations of purity, the Teamsters exposures have injured them and all other labor bosses, save only John L. Lewis, who, while by no means a saint, is mentally and morally far better than any of them.

In the future the radio and other publicity upon which the AFL and CIO spend so much of the due of their members will have considerably less effect upon the listening public than before. Both in Congress and out the denunciations and recommendations of the Meany-Reuther dominated committee will carry less weight with members and with the people. Fewer politicians will be afraid of them. Their prestige and power both will have diminished. They will have been cut down to size. This will be good for union members, who in the many are fine men and women. It will be good for the country which ought never to be in position where it can be choked to death by a few selfish men who aspire to run the nation. We already owe a good deal to Senator McClellan and his able young counselor, Robert Kennedy, brother of Senator John Kennedy, of Massachusetts. It is to be hoped they do not stop until they really get to the bottom.

Incidentally, one beneficial effect of the McClellan probe has been made clear, to wit, it has become easier for the state legislatures now in session to enact the pending "right to work" bills than before. Already one strong, organized labor state — Indiana — has passed such a bill. Certainly it will help others. Already eighteen states have such laws on their statute books. A "right to work" law relieves a man seeking a job of the compulsion to join a union. Union bosses all over the country are violently against the "right to work" laws and in many states have shown strength enough to prevent their passage. Every union member ought to be for them. The way in which the McClellan committee has exposed the careless and corrupt handling of union funds by union bosses has at least enhanced the prospects of these bills.

"... and if you don't believe my Want Ad — just ask my brother!"

for advertising, too!

What a fix we'd all be in without those standards of measurement for the goods you buy and sell. Imagine the confusion, waste and doubt in business transactions if we didn't have accepted standards of weights and measures—known values.

We believe it is just as necessary for us to tell you what you get for your advertising dollars, in terms of known circulation value, as it is for you to do business with your customers on the basis of recognized standards. That's why this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

WHAT IS THE A.B.C.? The Bureau is a cooperative and nonprofit association of 3450 publishers, advertising agencies and advertisers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

WHAT A.B.C. DOES FOR YOU. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office and makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. He has access to all of our books and records to obtain the FACTS that tell you what you get for your money when you advertise in this newspaper.

WHAT A.B.C. REPORTS TELL YOU. The circulation FACTS obtained by the A.B.C. auditor are condensed in easy to read A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; where the circulation goes; how it was sold and many other FACTS about the audience we provide for your sales messages. By J. GLENN BEALL

Some years ago, when I was a member of the Maryland State Legislature, I used to be able to rest up after particularly busy sessions by spending several days on the front porch of my home in Western Maryland.

Then new highways were built, hundreds of new families moved into the area, and new communication facilities were installed.

These changes produced incalculable benefits, but almost overnight it wasn't as easy to go into semi-isolation.

Looking at the world today, we find this country has also reached the point where it can no longer find seclusion on its own front porch.

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

The Communist "brain-washing" technique was so successful with the 7,000 soldiers held prisoners in North Korea that in one typical prison camp only six guards were necessary to keep 600 prisoners under perfect control. And there were no efforts to escape in spite of the fact that the prison camp had no barbed wire fence, no electric fence, no machine gun towers, no searchlights, no guard dogs.

This situation dramatizes the incredible control which the Communists achieved over the American prisoners. These facts were related by Major William E. Mayer, the U. S. Army's expert on "brain-washing," in a report to the 18th Freedom Forum at Searcy.

The three basic steps used by the Communists to gain control of the 7,000 prisoners and render them helpless were described by Major Mayer as: (1) Making each prisoner an informer on his fellow prisoners; (2) Developing an abnormal desire for self-criticism among all prisoners; and (3) Controlling the soldiers' mail. "If you are to understand anything about Communism," said the psychiatrist, "you must understand this: Informing as it is done in the Communist state can only be done when you reject our basic premise that the individual is an entity, that he has dignity and worth . . ."

As a result of the breakdown of the American concept of individual dignity and worth, the American POW's ceased to trust each other, ceased to band together in brotherhood as Americans under adverse circumstances had been doing throughout our history. The Communists rewarded each act of informing; and yet they were able to obtain meek "confessions" from those informed-upon through the technique of self-criticism.

Sooner or later nearly everybody had been informed-upon. In addition to this dividing technique, the Communists intercepted all prisoner mail from home which expressed love and spoke of anything which might have encouraged the prisoners. They delivered all mail which contained depressing substance—notices from collection agencies, complaining letters from loved ones, or the notice of illness in the family.

"This program," Major Mayer said, "didn't turn anybody into a Communist because it wasn't designed for that. A small percentage of the people in the Communist world are Communists. The great majority are acquiescers. The great majority are simply cowed and somehow pushed along by this system which doesn't look like something you can fight. It's not very dangerous-appearing. It just controls you! You don't have to be a coward to give in to it." The majority of American prisoners in a sense did give in to it. Major Mayer feels that this exposes a weakness in America —that we are not adequately teaching our great religious, moral and social principles—the values which make men immune to "brain-washing." I agree.

Glades On The B&O

From "Great Railway Celebrations." 1857.

We passed this dividing ridge between the Potomac and Ohio waters, by a long open cut of upwards of thirty feet in depth, and struck the "Glades", the beautiful and fertile natural meadows, extending a distance of nineteen miles to Cranberry Summit, and plentifully watered by the Youghiogheny and its numerous tributaries. The meadows are plentifully interspersed with forest groves in all their native wildness and divided by ridges, which break them up into a series of unfenced fields, over which the herds rove almost as wild as the buffalo on our western plains. The region is famed thruout Virginia and Maryland for its excellent butter no less than its superior mutton, abundant venison and other game, and innumerable trout streams, alive with specimens of the spotted beauties, such as would fill the heart of Izaak Walton with joy.

The little village of Oakland, nestled in the centre of the Glades, promises to become, within a few years, a favorite summer resort for those who seek healthful recreation and pure air, rather than the fashionable dissipations of Saratoga and Newport. A modest but comfortable hotel is located here, which has made quite a reputation among the enterprising sportsmen and health seeking travelers. The air of this region is highly rarefied, and very cool and bracing thruout the summer month. Note: The "modest" hotel at Oakland in 1857 was, presumably, the Player Tavern.

Next Sunday at 2 a.m. dial telephone service will begin in Bayard, Gormania and Mt. Storm. This is the first step in bringing you modern telephone service. The next step is nationwide Long Distance dialing—a faster, easier, more convenient way of placing Long Distance calls which will be introduced here at a later date.

Bayard, Gormania and Mt. Storm telephone numbers will consist of 2 letters and 5 numerals. You'll find these numbers listed in the colorful Directory which will be sent to you. You'll get the most out of this modern dial telephone service if you look up the numbers you want in the Directory before you dial.

Bayard, Gormania and Mt. Storm numbers will begin with OW (for OWen). Be sure not to confuse the numeral "0" (which is also "Operator") with the letter "O" (as in OWen), or the numeral "1" with the letter "I."

All calls in or between Bayard, Gormania and Mt. Storm will be made by dialing first the 2 letters, then the 5 numerals of the number you want as shown in the Directory. NOTE: local dial calls will be made in this manner between these communities and Oakland, Md.

You'll find more complete dialing information in the dialing instructions folder which was mailed to you recently and in the front pages of your Directory.

THE AMERICAN WAY

A Piece To Dig In
By GEORGE FRECK

Editor's Note: George Freck is president of the Economics National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.

Is there any hope that political action can halt America's drift toward socialism? Certainly not as long as the rank and file of voters are either misinformed or lethargic. What possible benefit can come from changing party or the leader in power, if the same old practices of government expansion are simply continued under different names?

Some Americans feel that if we can organize politically now with sufficient energy and enthusiasm, 1958 will see a change, not as to party name or leader personality, but a change in direction and policy. Others say it is too late, that we've gone too far in the direction of big government to reverse direction. Still others, not content with dragging their feet, prefer to take action now to remedy an intolerable situation.

It is certain that whichever conclusion we tend to support in our secret hearts we must all keep working. Those who feel that something can be done politically in 1958 or 1960 have several avenues of action open to them. There are any number of splendid organizations with which they can affiliate groups such as "For America"—"The Congress of Freedom"—"We the People"—"The Campaign for the 48 States" and many others, including the Constitution Party itself.

But let us suppose that those who feel that problems created by politics can scarcely be solved by politicians are correct. Then what? One cannot simply sit down and give up. Some action must be maintained unless we are to surrender docilely to communism, socialism or some other foreign ideology.

Fortunately, there is a method now available for those who wish to accomplish something and are disillusioned as to the effectiveness of political action in the immediate future. The answer is The Freedom School.

In the lovely setting of the Rampart Range of the Rocky Mountains not far from the site of the new Air Force Academy, Robert LeFevre, his staff and a number of leading libertarian luminaries have organized and built one of the most unique educational institutions in America.

The purpose of instruction is available to anyone 18 years of age or older who has leadership potential and is dedicated to preserving the "The American Way." One of the points of the course is this. The guest instructors for 1957, including Leonard E. Read and Dr. F. A. Harper both of the Foundation for Economic Education, Frank Chodorov, author of "The Income Tax, Root of All Evil," Fred G. Clark, head of the American Economic Foundation, Percy Greaves of the staff of Christian Economics; and Dr. James L. Doenges, an expert on socialized medicine and social security are dedicated to helping Americans think.

"It is not enough," says president of the school, LeFevre, "to tell Americans what to think and what to do. Rather, it is essential that each of us as individuals learn how to think and how to do. The organization of any political movement is only as effective as the leadership of that movement. The people in the movement do not have to think. They simply must follow their leader."

Looking into the future, LeFevre declares: "So long as we depend upon political majorities, we will lose out to the largest crowd of persons who follow their leader. What is desperately needed is sturdy individualism, knowledge and know-how within the working capacity of each person. Any individual who knows how to think and who knows the facts respecting communism and socialism is, without further guidance, able to refute the errors and misconceptions of collectivism. Such a person is not dependent upon any leader no matter how wise. Such a person is himself equipped to handle the various problems confronting him. And he can and will put to rout all collectivistic efforts so far as he is concerned.

"It is unreasonable and inconsistent to suppose that we can offset the effectiveness of communism, which is a collective, by forming some other kind of the political force. The true adversary of any collective is the individual fully informed and equipped to think on his feet."

The Freedom School is looking for persons, particularly young men and women, who wish to assume the full mantle of their own responsibility in preserving America and the freedom and liberty we hold dear."

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE

Realizing "Speed Kills" the National Safely Coordinators, throughout the nation, are conducting during the forthcoming vacation months, beginning May 30, 1957—Decoration Day—and ending September 2, 1957—Labor Day, a vigorous safety campaign entitled "SLOW DOWN AND LIVE." The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission is asking every man, woman, and child in the State of Maryland to back this program with every action they can muster, in order to make it a success. Decoration Day will entice you to seek the open road and enjoy the many pleasures afforded you. Death due to traffic accidents lurks in the background—be guided accordingly—t Safer Tomorrow Begins With YOU!

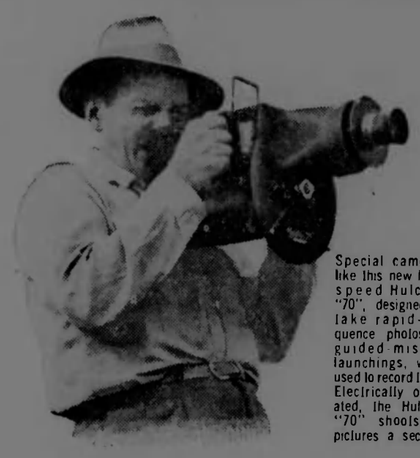
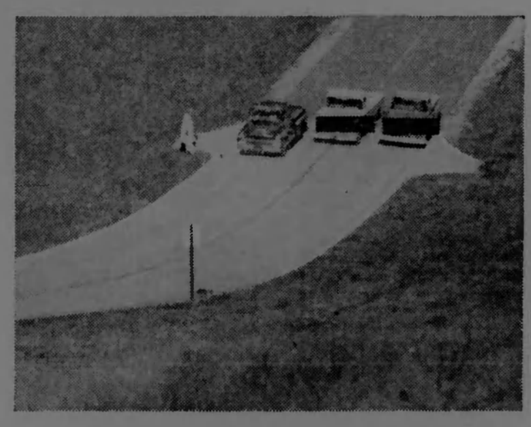
Dodge trucks lead the low-priced 3!



Special cameras like this new high-speed Hulcher "70", designed to take rapid-sequence photos of guided missile launchings, were used to record tests. Electrically operated, the Hulcher "70" shoots 20 pictures a second.



THEY'RE OFF! Here's the start of a grueling hill-climb test. All three low-priced trucks were lined up at the bottom of a test grade equal to the steepest hill in San Francisco. At flag drop, test drivers floor gas pedals . . . the Dodge Power Giant leaps out in front.

Actual road tests . . . like the one photographed at the right . . . prove beyond question that Dodge Power Giants outclass all competition. This rugged hill climb is just one of a whole string of tests comparing all three low-priced trucks.

See certified test results of the entire series—actual unretouched photographs—at your own local Dodge dealer's. These tests, plus 15 minutes behind the wheel, will demonstrate to you that today's Dodge Power Giants lead the low-priced three in every measure by which you judge a truck.

You get the most V-8 power of the low-priced three . . . up to 232 horsepower. This gives you snappier performance to save valuable trip time . . . extra power to take steep climbs with less engine strain. And Dodge gives you extra payload capacity, too. For instance, the test pick-up shown hauls as much as 27% more than the other two low-priced makes.

Check today's low Dodge prices. You'll find eleven Power Giant models, in the low-tonnage field alone, that are actually the lowest priced of the low-priced three. Why not see for yourself? Your dealer will gladly bring a Dodge right to your door.

DODGE THE WINNER BY FIVE LENGTHS—and still gaining! The Dodge Power Giant outdistanced both truck "C" and truck "F" from the start. This is just one of a complete series of actual road tests that prove Dodge the outstanding leader of the low-priced three.

County Man Files Suit For Slander

A garage and restaurant owner on route 50, this county, has docketed suit in the Circuit Court at Hagerstown against a trucking company and one of its officers for $5,000.

The suit was filed by Cecil E. Lewis, through Attorney Edward J. Ryan, of Cumberland.

Named as defendants are the Accelerated Transport-Pony Express, Inc., of Hagerstown, and Robert Broderick, an officer of the company.

Broderick is accused of ruining the reputation of the Lewis business establishment and telling Pony Express drivers not to patronize the place.

"The reputation of the plaintiff and his standing in the community has been damaged, and people have refused to patronize the place of business," the suit against the trucking firm alleges.

Lewis says in the bill of particulars that he is married and operates a service station, garage and restaurant on route 50, this county, and is business is always conducted in "a decent and respectable manner."

It is further said that Broderick and the company truck drivers from time to time had been served at this place of business.

However, "for some reason unknown to the plaintiff, and with the intent to degrade and slander the plaintiff," Broderick last October was said to have held a meeting of the truck drivers "and falsely and maliciously spoke and published" certain words about the Lewis business establishment and told the drivers not to patronize the place any more.

Sang Run Girl Is Bride

Miss Lois Ann DeWitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory DeWitt, of Sang Run, became the bride of Simon Edward Cogley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray "Simon" Cogley, of Oakland, on Sunday, April 21.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren, McHenry, at 2 o'clock, with Rev. Ralph Jacks officiating.

Rev. Ralph Childs, Kingwood, W. Va., played the traditional wedding march and also sang The Lord's Prayer, while Mrs. Ralph Jacks accompanied him at the piano.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white ballerina length gown of lace over satin, with a finger-tip matching veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Donna DeWitt, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore an aqua green ballerina-length gown of net over taffeta, and carried a bouquet of gold carnations.

Dale Harvey was best man. Kathy Elaine DeWitt, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pink dress of net over taffeta and carried a basket of mixed flowers.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with matching duster and accessories, and a corsage of white carnations. The mother of the groom wore a blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The table was decorated with white streamers and was centered with a large wedding cake. Following the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to Virginia.

For traveling the bride chose a navy blue linen suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The couple will reside at Sang Run for the present.

The bride was graduated from Northern High school in 1954. She is employed at the shirt factory at Grantsville. The groom is an employe of the NuWay laundry.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

The Day Off

Life is not all work, thank goodness. Though it brings as much joy as anything else, taking an unexpected day off adds as much lightness to the soul as baking powder does to a cake.

Today was one of those days. To begin with we were privileged to have a house guest for whom we would roll out the red carpet. Though the carpet today was soft lush pine needles in Garrett county's most beautiful parlor—Swallow Falls.

For years we have learned that Swallow Falls is our best entertainment for people of special high quality. Every time we take such a guest there I see our beloved spot with a new set of eyes. Each finds something new or is more trained in geology, botany or has power to express in words the beauty that is before him.

Today we were alone. She kept talking about sound—the beauty of sound, and the spots of sunlight along the path to Tolliver. She had never seen such beautiful moss. She saw flowers she'd never seen before. She is a traveller and has been to many state parks, but never in her life had she walked such beautiful paths.

And I trailed along glorying in every word she said, just like one does when ones children are getting praise—you know, when you almost burst with pride.

Housecleaning

The park was into the spring clean-up. Little Tolliver must have been out of hand last winter for much rubbish had piled up at the bridge making a deeper pool than I had ever seen. High water must have washed out the rocky path and a nearby boulder had been chiseled to supply the necessary rock for bed for a path.

There had been destruction in the area this winter. Noticing that one of the finest of the virgin hemlock had been felled I went to the scene to see if by chance it could have been cut; and getting ready to blow a fuse if it had. But to my sorrow there were three trees, as large as you will find, on the ground. A storm no doubt broke one about fifteen feet from the ground which snapped off another at its base, which in turn sent another to the ground, leaving a stump standing high in the air. The three sheared the branches of others. When the debris is removed there will be quite a clearing above Muddy Creek parking lot.

I'm sure a woodman would say, "Look at the board feet of lumber," but those of us who love the place have only a feeling of loss when one of those big trees goes down, to say nothing of three.

The clearing they will have would make a wonderful council circle for youth groups that like to sit around a fire for a program. There's one thing sure, the only way one can look out is straight up.

—o—

Is it true that the water of Muddy Creek is brownish because of the Rhododemiron roots? I had always supposed it was from running through coal veins.

—o—

If I were ever asked to brainstorm with the Commission of Forests and Parks I'd throw out an idea of having electric plugs in some of our state parks where a coffee pot or fryer could be plugged in for a dime or quarter. It's not every time we want an outing that we want to rough it.

—o—

We are here to help each other, to try to make each other happy. That's a saying of the Polar Eskimos.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

This week, I will embark on a new area of consideration, a study of the key thoughts and ideas that are included in the Epistle of James. Though there are three men in the New Testament who have this common name of James: James the son of Zebedee, John's brother; James the son of Alpheus, also known as James the less (Mark 15:40); and James the "brother of the Lord (Matthew 13:55), most scholars agree that by the very nature of the epistle, and in light of the historical circumstances, this epistle was written by the James who was Jesus' brother, and the first leader of the church in Jerusalem.

In speaking of this epistle in general, those who read it will find quickly that it is in main an appeal to the Jewish Christians of that early period in the church to "practice what they preached." We must remember that this epistle was written at a time when it often cost a man his life to state that he believed in Christ, for the Roman Empire was doing everything it could to stamp out Christianity and establish emperor worship as the official religion of the empire. In the light of this fact, it is understandable that many people who professed faith in Christ would have been tempted to bypass that faith when the chips were down." Another factor in the background of this epistle was the fact that there were many pagan religions with strange ideas as to the necessary behavior of a religious man in this time, and the newly converted Christians often carried into their practice of the faith rather strange ethical ideas. At any rate, the epistle is mainly a challenge to all who followed Christ to be, as James puts it, "doers of the Word and not hearers only." In this sense it is definitely a "tract for our time," loaded with vital challenges for Christians who live here and now, faced with problems in life here and now.

The first statement that we want to consider is:

Count it all joy, my brethren, when you meet various trials, for you know that the testing of your faith produces steadfastness. And let steadfastness have its full effect, that you may be perfect and complete, lacking in nothing. (James 1:2-4.)

There is no doubt that we live in trying times. But there is also no doubt that all men have lived in trying times. We perhaps forget the problems that past civilizations faced, which to them were every bit as serious as our problems with the "H-Bomb," juvenile delinquency, et al. Not only do we face problems as a society, but as individuals the problems that come with illness, sudden tragedy, business failure, divorce, and death, as well as all of the other things that complicate our lives, often upset lives in drastic ways. For these problems Jesus has a profound answer—in the face of an unforseen tragedy he says "Count it all joy, when you meet various trials . . ." At first sight this seems a rather strange way to look at things, for no one particularly likes the damage that a tornado does, for instance. But the fact is, that tornadoes really do happen, both in the form of a tremendous windstorm, and in the form of personal tragedies like marital infidelity. The question is, "How do we meet these tornadoes?" If you meet them as a part of this life, many times unable to be understood, yet as an opportunity to put your faith into action, then these trials can be really ways of growing. If you meet tragedy with a bitterness of attitude or a feeling of defeat, you will be a sorry sight. But personal tragedy does not have to defeat! Let me cite one instance of what I mean. A few years ago I had the pleasure of visiting the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at Bellevue Hospital, in New York City. One of the staff members there is a wonderful women, in her late twenties who met with tragedy about ten years ago, when she was an active teenager. She was badly injured in an automobile accident, in fact her spinal cord was severed at a point that made the entire lower half of her body a dead and useless thing. She was even unable to sit erect. She wrote to the director of this Institute, begging that he take her as a patient, and that she would give her life to the service of other handicapped people like herself, if he would help her to be able to live at least a partially normal life. Today she performs a valuable job in IPMR as an instructor in how to be able to get around with crutches. She has been instrumental in helping literally hundreds of people with serious handicaps be restored to a useful place in society. This is typical of what I saw in every area of IPMR. People like this woman, and some with even worse handicaps, are helping each other to live to the hilt of their capabilities, with what they have left. These are people who have not allowed a physical handicap to defeat them. They live on, many with greater capabilities than they had before they met with tragedy. They have met "various trials . . ." and have found that "the testing of your faith produces steadfastness." They have found the joy of serving, perhaps in a limited way, but serving with love.

So it is—we can allow problems to defeat us, or we can meet them face to face, knowing that in God's plan of love for His children, no problem can be too big to solve with the patient steadfastness of love, coming finally to the realization that when we "let steadfastness have its full effect, you may be perfect and complete, lacking in nothing."

Consumer price index for April was highest yet, 119.3 percent of 1947-49 average.

Childhood is a brief span in the bridge of life. Yet it is during the early years that we lay the foundation for all that is to come.

Church School is over, and Eileen and Johnny linger on the church steps, talking about the lessons they've learned this morning. They both are excited because, under their teacher's guidance, the stories of the Bible are beginning to come alive for them.

We're not going to predict a "happy ever after" ending. We're not going to say that having met in Church School, Eileen and Johnny will go on seeing each other in church each week and that ultimately they'll grow up, fall in love, and get married. (Though, who knows? Maybe they will at that!)

But we are saying—and deeply believing—that through Church School these children and thousands upon thousands of other children are receiving religious education, an ever-expanding lesson in good fellowship, wisdom, kindness, and tolerance.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Roots of Hatred

Lesson for June 2, 1957

IF the hatred between Arabs and Jews today threatens to wreck the peace of the world, this is made worse by the fact that it has been going on for a long time. There is no hatred more bitter than that between brothers. The Bible shows that from ancient times, the most implacable enemies of Israel were among those people closely related to them by race. Indeed, the stories in Genesis trace this intra-family tend to two brothers, Jacob and Esau. In the story of how these two brothers became enemies, we can see some of the same roots of hatred which may be found anywhere in the world where one man or class or nation hates another.

Dr. Foreman

Inherited Quarrels

As Jacob and Esau grew up, the hatred seemed to be all on one side. Jacob may have despised his brother, or feared him; but there is no evidence that Jacob ever hated Esau as Esau for a time hated Jacob. It takes two to make a quarrel, but only one to make a hate . . . Or is that quite true? The roots of hatred are not always in the hater; they may be in the one who is hated, or they may not be in either one. Part of the reason why Jacob and Esau, though brothers, were not brotherly, was not their fault at all. In their home, father and mother were at odds. Isaac their father and Rebekah their mother had different, even clashing, temperaments. The two boys being quite different from each other, their parents at once took sides. The mother played Jacob as her favorite, while old Isaac did his best for the other brother, Esau. It can be said that humanly speaking, coming up in a divided home, Jacob and Esau could never have grown up in peace. They inherited the quarrels of their parents. And inherited quarrels never grow less bitter—usually more so.

Low-down and Crooked

If one root of the hatred which Esau bore to his brother can be traced to their parents, another certainly must be traced to Jacob himself. He was hated because he was hateful. As Billy Sunday once said, Jacob in his younger days was so low-down he had to climb a tree to look a snake in the eye, and so crooked he could hide behind a corkscrew. The famous sale of the birthright has something decidedly fishy about it. Some historians believe that Esau could not legally (as laws went at that time) dispose of his birthright, it was inalienable. In that case Jacob was promoting a criminal act in any event, legal or not, the deal was not a fair one. Indeed it was grotesquely, monstrously out of line. One bowl of stew for a birthright! Considering the power and (in this case) wealth which a birthright carried with it, the bargain was a barefaced theft on Jacob's part. Then the theft of the blessing was even worse. It could not have been managed, one is inclined to say, if Isaac had been the least bit bright. Jacob need not have been surprised if, after that, Esau had muderous thoughts. When a man finds himself the object of another's hate, the first thing he should ask is, what have I been doing?

The Jealous Heart

But hatred grows also from roots in the heart of the hater. It is fairly clear that Esau never forgave Jacob for that birthright business. Strictly speaking, while Jacob was mean enough, Esau had only himself to blame for losing his birthright. He was so much the victim of his appetite that a bowl of stew looked bigger and more important than all the power and responsibility of a great birthright. He was by no means as near death as he said, and he had no right to lay all the blame for the bad bargain on his brother. But he did, and the thing rankled in his heart and he never, for years, forgot or forgave. So hatred may be partly the result of inherited quarrels, it may be partly rooted in a hateful attitude on the part of the one who is hated; but these other roots will wither in time unless they receive strength from the root that goes deep into the hater's soul. Conceit brings forth jealousy, and jealousy, long nourished, brings forth hate. And then not even murder is far away.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA CLOTFELTY

How Do You Measure Yourself?

Each one of us has a measuring device by which we evaluate ourselves. By it we judge whether the things we do daily are worthy, whether we are growing in the virtues, whether we are going forward or backward.

As we look at ourselves and measure our seeming successes or failures, the basis from which we judge comes into focus. That basis is all-important. It necessarily represents the experiences, the training, the motivations that life has shown us. However, many times this judgment is faulty, for it is too meager, too narrow and with too much of ourselves in the foreground.

What, then is the perfect basis for all judgment of human life, its progress, its proper fulfillment? Jesus said, I am the Way, the Truth and the Life. After twenty centuries, that is a statement not always clearly understood by us. He truly is the perfect pattern for us all, and the only proper basis for judgment of ourselves and our daily lives.

Let us consider some of the ways this is true. He teaches us to love one another, not only our friends who are kind and loving and forgiving, but our enemies who are mean and nasty and insulting. How we could use some of that love right here in Garrett county public affairs! Love, itself as he showed it throughout his life is the greatest force of the Christian religion, indeed of the universe. Herein lie our greatest errors, and here we show ourselves to be the greatest failures. I am sure it is true of myself, and I am equally sure it is true of you who read this. How many times we show ourselves unworthy by our lack of love, of courtesy, of consideration for others.

A missionary recently returned from a foreign field, where she has spent a lifetime in a labor of love for people of another race. She said the native people implored her, "Send us more missionaries and please send us those who will really love us." That is a statement of the world's great hunger for love and understanding, even among primitive people.

In the great virtues of forgiveness, humility, understanding and human service, we stand in awe before Him and see ourselves with our weaknesses, our laziness, our indifference, our apathy. We do not need to be told by others what they are. They are all there to be seen by ourselves. We need often to evaluate our motives, our actions by this perfect standard. All too often we are swayed by those around us who cheapen and make vulgar the great values of life.

William Allen White tells of a friend of his, a Kansas architect, at the Chartres Cathedral, studying it with wonder, both inside and outside. Then he said, "I am going to be an architect." He was already an architect, rated a very successful one. But, when he had seen the glories of that cathedral, he realized how much more there was for him to learn. Its greatness and beauty took away all his self-satisfaction.

For our soul's growth, we need often to look at the beauty and grandeur of our Savior and learn anew his life-giving lessons to us. Then and only then can we decide for ourselves if we measure up today possibly a little bit better than we did yesterday.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

The Foreign Aid Skirmish

In the twilight of the Truman Administration, Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer, headed a commission to study economic "conditions and prospects" in Europe. Secretary Sawyer, an early advocate of the original Marshall Plan, in his largely ignored report, evidenced a disenchantment of foreign aid as a permanent responsibility of government with this admonition: "Neither individuals or nations are made friendly or even grateful by handouts . . . The assumption that the more money we give away the more good we accomplish is also wrong . . ."

Concerning the annual skirmish between the Congress and the Executive Department with respect to foreign assistance, former Secretary Sawyer had this to say. "At every session of Congress new requests for aid are presented, usually under a new name. Congress gives great consideration to the request and always cuts it down. The requesters yell to high heaven. The world will come to an end if they can't spend this money—all of it! But the world does not come to an end."

In the 11 years since the Marshall Plan was created as a temporary expedient, some $63.5 billion have been spent to help other nations, frequently at the expense of domestic needs. The net effect of this benevolence has been questioned by many in the Congress and elsewhere who feel that much of these programs, except for our basic military obligations to the community of free nations, can be safely consolidated, reduced or eliminated.

This year, the Congress is asked to approve $3.9 billion in new appropriations for foreign aid—this is in addition to $6.2 billion of unexpended balances from previous appropriations. But, even more than these $10.1 billion, a new foreign loan program on a permanent basis, requiring $1.5 billion in coming years is being proposed. Also, $800 million in foreign currencies owed to and/or owned by the U. S. are available for foreign aid expenditures during the next year.

I continue to believe that in terms of foreign aid, the American taxpayers have been abundantly generous, and that there can now be an orderly and sound retrenchment without jeopardy to our national security. In place of government aid, there must be a greater utilization of reimbursable loans and the investment of private capital. To do otherwise would be to deny again the possibility of tax relief for millions of our citizens who seek a firm preservation of our government and of our way of life.

Communist Conspiracy in Hawaii

In Hawaii and elsewhere, it has often been said that "nowhere in the United States have known communists gone further in attaining their primary purposes than in the Territory of Hawaii." Comprehensive studies by the House Un-American Activities Committee in 1950, the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in 1956, and the Territorial Commission on Subversive Activities in 1951, 1953 and 1955, have repeatedly proven the truth of this assertion.

Following hearings in Honolulu late last year, in which I was privileged to participate, the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee had this to say: "The inquiry to date leads us to the conclusion that persons whom our evidence shows to have been Communists are acting in concert in a present day conspiracy to further Soviet purposes on these islands. These people are being constantly infused with Communist propaganda from the Soviet Union and the Iron Curtain countries. These conspiratorial forces . . . exercises a far-flung influence on the islands. They are in a position to choke off the flow of all ocean-borne commerce on which these islands depend . . ."

The strategic importance of the Hawaiian Islands in our Pacific defense perimeter has not been ignored by the master-planners in the Kremlin. Through diligence, duplicity and deviousness, these "conspiratorial forces" have accomplished their goals: (1) control of a major segment of labor in one huge union, (2) political control of the Islands by virtue of the domination of labor, (3) control of government by virtue of political strength and influence, and (4) life or death control of the economy of the Islands.

All indications are that this climate of infiltration has been engineered by a hard core of individuals, sympathetic to the objectives of the Communist Party, if not actually members. In the forefront have been Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union, and his lieutenant, Jack W. Hall, both infamous for their propensity for the communist cause.

What does all this mean to us some 5,000 miles away? Simply stated, it points to the fact that the tenacles of the communist octopus are never still in their reach for more power and more control. Little solace can be found in the revelation that Harry Bridges and his "conspiratorial forces" are "working to establish a foothold in eastern and gulf ports"—(including the Port of Baltimore)—"and in the Halls of Congress." With constant vigor and vigilance, we must expose this atheistic communist menace in all parts of the world, not alone in Hawaii, for what it is and expunge it from our society.

He has been in the service for twenty-one months.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

Many representatives of Federal classified and postal employee groups visited my office last week. I was delighted to renew acquaintanceships, and to talk with old friends. These representatives of Federal employees were in Washington to press for Government pay increases.

I told my friends that I agree that Government salaries should be increased. There are, though, political realities and practical aspects of the problem that must be taken into consideration in this session of Congress. The issue of a pay raise in 1957 has popped up in the midst of an economy drive and a political attack on the budget.

Congress has been scolding the President on the size of his budget. The President has come back at Congress saying the budget represents the best he could do in view of programs enacted into law by Congress, and in light of the nation's defense needs. He also has said that in view of the present state of the nation's economy, pay raises should be kept at a minimum. With that sort of an exchange going on between the President and Congress, lawmakers will find it difficult to justify putting a pay raise bill in the lap of the President.

Some of my visitors asked me to sign discharge petition on a postal pay raise bill. I have not signed a petition since I have been a member of Congress, it is not a good way to legislate. When a bill is taken from a committee and sent directly to the floor of the House, members are deprived of the benefit of the committee report and the facts and information on which it is based. I may add, it is often impossible to come to sound decisions without committee reports. This is particularly true in the complex matter of just compensation for Federal workers.

An incident during the House Judiciary Committee's final review of the Celler pre-merger notification bill illustrates how careful we must be in our study of the language of a bill. Buried in this bill was a sentence that permitted, under certain conditions, waiver of notice. It was clear that the sentence provided a means of defeating the purpose of the proposed act and I therefore offered an amendment that makes prior notice mandatory. This amendment was accepted by the committee.

I have introduced a bill to amend the Social Security Act extending to Maryland the privilege of social security coverage for State and local police and firemen now under the State retirement system.

The Allegany Ballistics Laboratory in Cumberland has been awarded a grant of $3.5 million for engineering and testing of propulsion systems for guided missiles.

The House Ways and Means Committee has approved a bill which eliminates the excise tax on admissions to privately operated swimming pools. I am hopeful that the repeal of the tax will be made retroactive when the bill is before the House.

The Senate's action in locating the new National Culture Center in Washington's Foggy Bottom is an expensive mistake. I am opposed to placing an excessive land purchase burden on the taxpayers. The cost, estimated to be between $15 million and $20 million, is wholly unnecessary since suitable land is available in southwest Washington - land that is already owned by the Government or obtainable at a fraction of the cost of Foggy Bottom property.

The Army Corps of Engineers will hold a public meeting at the Richard Montgomery high school in Rockville on June 25 on a comprehensive water development plan for the Potomac River Basin. The Engineers want the views of the people on requirements for water supply, pollution abatement, and related problems. I urge all interested to attend.

I hope that my friends and neighbors of my Congressional district will have the opportunity of tuning in on WRC-TV's Four Corners News program on June 1, at 6:30 p. m., Channel 4. I will be interviewed by Dave Sothen and John Connolly on the proposed C & O Canal National Historical Park.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Our entire postal system, which traditionally has weathered such adversities as "snow, . . . rain, . . . heat" and "gloom of night", might eventually be disrupted by financial ill-winds.

Behind the situation is this question which has been debated for more than a century and a half: Is the Post Office Department to be operated as a public service or a self-sustaining business?

The Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee is now holding hearings in an effort to reach a solution.

Advisory Council's Report

In support of the "public service philosophy," the Citizens' Advisory Council, which was appointed as a result of action by the 84th Congress, has prepared a special report which includes a series of statements designed to show that historically the Post Office has been operated "primarily to serve the public."

Also in the report is an analysis of current postal operations which inspires the conclusion that "a business could not perform so many services without reimbursement if it planned to break even."

Views of Postmaster General

Arguing the other side of the question is Postmaster General Summerfield, who also has cited numerous references from history but who, in keeping with his own beliefs, has chosen pronouncements supporting the theory that his department should be "self-sustaining to the fullest extent possible."

In the opinion of Mr. Summerfield, the first prerequisite for such an operation is "a positive statement on the question of a permanent Congressional policy on postage rates."

The policy which Mr. Summerfield has suggested includes provisions designed (1) to make the users, not the general taxpayers, pay for postal services, (2) to assure operations "conducted according to the highest standards of business efficiency" (3) to guarantee that all costs should be reported accurately, and (4) to ensure that all postal subsidies approved by the Congress should be reimbursed to the Post Office.

Three Essentials

It is my belief that in any consideration of these problems we must work toward the three goals that are absolute essentials—an efficient postal system, a realistic wage schedule for employes of the Post Office Department, and reasonable mailing rates.

To achieve these objectives, it might be necessary to adjust certain postage costs, and I intend to support such changes if they will result in clean-cut savings for the tax-paying public.

Replies to Postal Question

I am not a member of the Post Office Committee, and I do not want to speculate about proposals which might develop from the current hearings.

I sincerely hope, however, that the committee members will develop a just and workable formula for our postal operations.

In conclusion, I would like to note that 55 per cent of the Marylanders who replied to my recent questionnaire said they were in favor of an increase in postal rates to cut deficits and provide better equipment; 30.5 percent were opposed to a raise, and the rest expressed no specific opinion on the matter.

Notes from My Appointment Book

In addition to my work on Capitol Hill, I had the privilege of attending a dinner honoring the Montgomery County members of the Maryland Savings and Loan League, the Founder's Day celebration at LaSalle College, the ceremonies during which Charles H. Borcherding, Sr., was sworn in as director of the Federal Housing Administration for Maryland, and the traditional running of the Preakness, at which I was a member of Vice President Nixon's official party. I also spoke at a celebration in honor of the 50th anniversary of the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, in Takoma Park.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell forecast a rosy future for this year's college graduates.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

This week the nation will be more or less deluged with such atomic fallouts of Democratic attacks upon the President, his Cabinet and his administration generally as might easily annihilate them all except for two things.

One of these is the fact that the attackers have no new ammunition. Everything they are now saying about the President was said in the recent campaign, including the morbid and bad tempered reference to his health made by his embittered opponent, Mr. Adlai E. Stevenson. The other is that with one or two exceptions, they have no new men to say them. Yet, the gifted Mr. Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, whose eloquence and ardor cost his candidate so many votes last November, is the inventor of this May denunciation week and its leading supporter.

There are to be a series of Democratic dinners and luncheons at which funds are to be raised to help put and keep the national committee, which pays Mr. Butler's salary, squarely on its feet with a balanced budget and some money to expend on expansion. This, of course, is a perfectly laudable and legitimate motive which no one wants to criticize. For example, former President Harry Truman and former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, have already been announced as leading attractions. It is true that both of these ex-statesmen cherish a good deal of personal animosity against the President. Nevertheless, they are both effective speakers and ought to draw good crowds. Then there are too the delightful Democratic Senator from Minnesota, Hubert Humphrey and his admiring partner, Wayne Morse, of Oregon; William Fulbright, of Arkansas; Kennedy, of Massachusetts, and others.

The trouble is not so much about willing and eloquent orators for the proposed Butler dinners, etc. The real trouble is that they have already said so much against Mr. Eisenhower that they have pretty well exhausted their supplies of invective and name calling. Of course, they can still brood about his health, which nearly everyone agrees has vastly improved. They can carp at the frequency with which he plays golf and his visits to Augusta, utterly ignoring the long and frequent visits of the late Roosevelt to Warm Springs and Hyde Park. They can assail the size of his budget, which he, himself, said was too big and should be reduced, but while they continue to snipe at Mr. Dulles there are few on the Democratic side who can make a really forceful criticism of Administration foreign policy.

However, they are going to do the best they can and undoubtedly will put on a pretty good show. Also, they have a more than usually astute army of commentators, columnists and propagandists who will make it seem like a good show, even when it isn't. The real handicap under which they labor is that the Republicans, under the new chairman, Mr. Alcorn, will follow with a meeting and dinner of his own, at which President Eisenhower will be the final speaker. He still has the ear of many more people in this country than anyone else and can be depended upon to defend himself and his Administration effectively. These facts bolster the confidence of the Republican politicians around Mr. Eisenhower.

In brief, this is going to be a political week from the start along the propaganda lines. There is nothing much at stake and it starts the congressional campaign of 1958 quite a little early. The Democrats, of course, will have the support of the so-called Americans for Democratic Action and also of the AFL-CIO combination which has not been on the winning side since it was organized. As it stands today both branches of Congress are adverse to the President. If the Democrats succeed in blocking most of the Eisenhower domestic program it may be that that will be the leading issue in 1958. In the meanwhile the 1960 possibilities are watching their steps very carefully. This is the period where a slip-up may easily be fatal.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to the organizations, our friends and neighbors who have given us gifts and aid in repairing our home.

Is Your Name HAUSER?

Do you know that:

Hauser, an old and honored surname, is principally of German origin. It admits of a few derivations. For example, according to one well known authority on nomenclature, it was often bestowed, when surnames first came into vogue, upon those who lived in a house for which rent in the form of money was paid. It is said also that Hauser is merely a pet form of the personal name Balthasar; and in addition it is claimed that it was the surname applied in mediaeval times to emigrants from Hauser, a community in Germany.

George Hauser (1755-1818) served as a lieutenant of Surry County, North Carolina, troops during the Revolutionary War.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has a listing of Jacob Hauser, who was a resident of Baltimore County, Maryland, and the head of a family at that time.

As additional evidence that members of the Hauser family were among the early residents of this country, it should be noted that, according to the Fifth Series of the Pennsylvania Archives, sixteen individuals, bearing the name of Hauser, served in the Pennsylvania troops at the time of the Revolutionary War. Most of them lived in Northampton County.

Samuel Thomas Hauser (1833-1911) built the first smelter and silver mill in Montana and served also as governor of the state.

John Hauser (1859-1913) was a distinguished painter whose works have been exhibited in leading museums of the United States and Europe.

Conrad Augustine Hauser (1879-1913) was ordained to the ministry of the Reformed Church in the United States in 1897, served in pastorates in Frostburg and Cumberland, Md., and was the author of numerous religious articles and books.

Emil Daniel William Hauser, a distinguished physician and surgeon, is professor of bone and joint surgery at Northwestern University Medical School.

Ernest Alfred Hauser is professor of chemistry at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Alfred H. Hauser is vice-president, Chemical Corn Exchange Bank, New York City.

Teamster Union president Dave Beck announced he would not run for re-election.

"FORTY-FOUR YEARS OF THE LIFE OF A HUNTER" by Meshack Browning, Maryland's famous pioneer hunter, is now available.

Although it was first published 98 years ago and is now in its 12th edition, it is more widely read than ever before.

His truthful accounts of desperate encounters with the savage beasts of the forest, his superhuman efforts to maintain his family in the wilderness, far from human aid or associations, and his undaunted courage in facing the hardships of pioneer life cannot fail to captivate the reader.

It really deserves a place in every Marylander's library.

EX PARTE: IN THE MATTER OF THE ADOPTION OF THEODORE KEITH RICH, AN INFANT.

NO. 1756 EQUITY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to procure the passage of a decree for the adoption of an infant boy by Emual L. Evans and Nellie Esther Evans, his wife, and to give him the name of Theodore Keith Evans.

The bill states:

That the petitioners are residents of Garrett County, Maryland; that Theodore Keith Rich was born August 16, 1945, the child of Ellsworth Rich and Daphna Miller Rich, his wife; that when the said Theodore Keith Rich was one month old he was deserted by his father, and when said infant was aged six months he was placed in the home of the petitioners by his mother; that the mother of said infant, subsequent to the birth of said child, was divorced from the father of said child and is now remarried; that the mother of said child, to-wit, Daphna Miller King, formerly Daphna Miller Rich, is the sister of the petitioner, Nellie Esther Evans; that said infant has remained in the home of the petitioners since having been left there by his mother, and for the past twelve years has been a part of the home of the petitioners; that the petitioners have furnished all support and maintenance for said infant since he was six months of age; that the mother of said infant has concurred in and given her consent to the adoption of him by the petitioners, said consent being filed herewith and prayed to be taken as a part hereof; that the whereabouts of the father of said child are unknown to the petitioners; that the petitioners are able to support, educate and maintain said infant, and feel that under the circumstances it will be for the best interest of said infant, as well as all concerned, that the prayers of the petitioners be granted.

The petition then prays for a decree declaring the infant child of Ellsworth Rich and Daphna Miller King, formerly Daphna Miller Rich, born on the 16th day of August, 1945, to be the legally adopted child of Emual L. Evans and Nellie Esther Evans, his wife, and to name said child Theodore Keith Evans.

It is thereupon this 8th day of May, 1957, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ORDERED That the petitioners by having a copy of this Order inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 31st day of May, 1957, giving notice to Ellsworth Rich, warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor on or before the 15th day of June, 1957, or within 15 days thereafter, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

One phone call brought me $45 from a man I didn't know

My business is painting houses. I paint them inside and out. Like all painters, my income literally depends on having one job lined up after another. Usually I do, too.

Last Friday when I got home, my wife handed me a letter cancelling my next job. I was pretty glum, and so was she. We needed the money for some bills that were due.

About nine o'clock that evening the phone rang. It was a man I didn't even know. He wanted me to do some painting in his apartment over the week end. Well, that job brought me $45, enough to carry me until I got another job lined up.

I got to thinking. I wouldn't have had the work at all without my telephone. Matter of fact, the $45 would pay my phone bill for months. Guess my phone not only pays for itself, it saves our family all kinds of time just about every day of the year.

Get Back of the Fair

We hope that if you have not already so decided, that you will get back of the fair, particularly with your pep and interest.

The groundwork was laid weeks ago. Sufficient stock has been subscribed by various individuals and business men, and committees have been hard at work every week for the past four or five months. These persons already have given valuable time in an effort to provide a worthwhile program for Garrett county.

A number of years ago the County Fair was a growing endeavor. Whether emphasis was directed in the wrong places, or whether the management was inefficient; whether it was located in the wrong area, or whether there was too much stress on carnival, we do not know, but interest lagged and the annual county fair was discontinued.

The fact that Northern High school had a very successful community fair is ample proof that the basic interest in a fair is still within the minds of people. But we believe, to remain first and foremost, a program where the highest standards of the county in agricultural and other products are on display for comparison, is one of the prime needs.

We don't need a racetrack. We don't need a cheap and roughhouse carnival. But we do need the enthusiastic support of a lot of people and a willingness to put out a little effort to see that the fair goes over.

The board has selected a central location—at McHenry. It is arranging for the same high-quality group of shows which came here for the Centennial celebration in 1949. It has financial support from the State Fair board. It has set up an efficient organization calculated to take care of almost any type of exhibit. Prizes will be awarded for top exhibits.

All we need, then, is optimism, enthusiasm, and a willingness to become a part of the project. There's really nothing hard about it, if you just set your heads to it. Let's have a wham-bang FAIR.

Religious Census Reveals Interesting Figures For Area

Some forty-five hundred persons are residing in Oakland and adjacent communities, the recent religious census conducted by St. Mark's Lutheran church, has revealed. This is almost a fourth of the entire population of the county, and is only one of the interesting facts revealed by the census.

The area covered included the towns of Oakland, Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn Heights, Deep Creek Village, and the roads leading to Underwood, toward Crellin, toward Deep Creek Lake, and route 219 south, as far as the H. D. Swartzentruber farm.

The report of the census was tabulated last Wednesday evening by the eight team captains and the pastor, Rev. Charles Carlson.

Figures revealed that there were 2,342 members of churches within the area, 516 members of churches outside the community, 785 persons who were attending church services within the area but who were not members; 577 persons who indicated a preference for a church, 201 persons who indicated they had no preference. Seven persons declined to give any information as to their religious affiliation and some 22 families were not found at home during the visitation.

The census takers found the area heavily populated with people of Methodist leanings. The totals showed 709 were members of local Methodist churches, 157 were members elsewhere, 200 others attended Methodist services and 148 indicated a Methodist preference.

Census takers explained that members of churches in Friendsville, Accident, Red House, Crellin were listed as belonging to churches "elsewhere," and also explained that a person was listed only under one classification, so that a person might be a member and attending regularly, but that he was listed only under "member here."

Second in the classification were the Roman Catholics with 370 members here, 15 members elsewhere, 6 attending and 25 others preferring that faith. Third in the listing

Dr. Parker Dies

Rev. Paul S. Parker, D.D., pastor of the Deep Creek Baptist church for several years, died this morning about 9:25 at the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland. He had been a patient for several days, having suffered a heart attack.

His body is at the Leighton Funeral home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

William Simms, formerly of McHenry, also died this morning about 11:30 in the Evans Nursing home. The body is at the Leighton Funeral Home and funeral arrangements are incomplete.

John Fox Is New Oakland Golf "Pro"

John Fox, at present head baseball coach at Potomac State college, Keyser, W. Va., is the new golf "pro" at the Oakland Country club, it was announced this week by the board of directors. He assumes the position vacated by William Waller, now a patient at the Veterans hospital at Martinsburg. Fox is married and has three children.

A native of New York City he attended New York university for a year before becoming an ensign in the U. S. Merchant Marine during World War II, and operating in Atlantic, Pacific and Mediterranean waters.

Following the war he obtained an athletic scholarship at West Virginia university where he earned a Varsity letter in basketball and baseball. He signed a baseball contract with the Cincinnati Reds which made him ineligible for further college competition, and from 1946 to 1949 played professional ball in the Minor leagues.

Completing his studies for a degree at WVU he accepted a position as recreation director at Old Greenwich, Conn., but in 1952 he resigned to become assistant teacher at WVU. After receiving his Master's degree there he accepted the position of director of Physical Education and assistant coach at Potomac State college. He has played baseball and basketball with local teams and is active as a basketball and football referee.

Fox will remain as "pro" at the Oakland course during the remainder of the summer season.

Guardsmen Are Initiated In The Proper Use Of M1

RECRUITS ARE COACHED by veteran members in the proper handling of the M1 rifle in the prone position. Each man fired about 60 rounds during the two-day stay at Camp Dawson.

YOU ARE LOOKING at the business end of an M1 rifle that fires eight rounds as fast as you can pull the trigger. Gary Bittinger holds the weapon which weighs 9½ pounds with bayonet.

Company C recruits graduated Saturday from the monotony of classroom dry-firing of the M1 rifle to the ear-ringing, slam-bang thrill of the real thing.

They were initiated fully and completely to the violent impatience of the battle tested M1. They discovered the strange way a rifle seems to gain weight from the first to the last shot while attempting to hold it on target. They also realized in a hurry that merely pointing the weapon in the general direction of the target doesn't necessarily mean a bulls-eye everytime.

Despite the newness of it all, the jolted shoulders, numb chin and lips, Company C recruits racked up a rather impressive score.

Pvt. Harland Ream, never having shot an M1 before but apparently having done a bit of squirrel hunting in his time, fired a remarkable 172 and qualified as expert. Others did nearly as well, and, while primarily members of an engineering battalion of the Maryland National Guard, their rifle prowess now stands at 9 experts, 18 sharpshooters, and 27 marksmen.

Under command of Capt. Arthur Calhoun, who incidentally shot a 184, the unit makes regular visits to the firing range at Camp Dawson breaking in new members to the art of riflery and polishing up veteran members' scores.

Camp Dawson is snugly situated in Cheat Valley near Kingwood, W. Va., and its facilities are graciously loaned to Company C by the West Virginia National Guard. Barracks, mess hall, firing range and surrounding acreage are kept immaculate by Master Sergeant Ringer, year-around superintendent of the camp. While the presence of 70 men in any one spot would noramlly create a litter problem, such is not the case at Camp Dawson. The Sergeant's efforts are respected and even a

People Are Told It's Not Easy To Attract Industry

County-Wide Meeting Tuesday Evening Addressed By Indiana Man

It's possible to attract industry to an area—but it's not easy, it requires cooperation of all organizations and institutions, and it's expensive.

This, in effect, is what William L. Ingersoll told 150 men Tuesday evening at Southern High school. Ingersoll, executive secretary of the Indiana, Pa., Chamber of Commerce, addressed a joint meeting of the Oakland Rotary club, Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club, representatives of most communities in the county and other service clubs. The affair was to arouse interest in bringing industrial activity to Garrett county.

Ingersoll enumerated local possibilities as he saw them. These included expansion of agriculture and related industries such as processing and packing; exploration for mineral resources heretofore unknown; attraction of heavy or manufacturing industry, and continued development of the recreational facilities.

"But don't oversell your lake," he warned. "Don't advertise more than you can deliver. People resent being oversold and this word spreads faster than more favorable reports."

He cited the experience of the Indiana Chamber of Commerce in transforming Indiana county from a depression-ridden coal center in 1948 to an active industrial area today.

Goes Where It Is Wanted

"Industry goes where it's wanted," he said. "That is the reason so many large firms insist on community participation in providing buildings or other facilities. It proves to them that they are wanted. Other things they insist on are good sources of raw materials, easy transportation, source of help of varied skills, cooperative government, good schools and homes and public institutions. "I believe," he continued, you already have most of these. Your job is to promote what you have.

"In our Indiana campaign," he pointed out, "we had the full cooperation of our local banks. For our first campaign, the banks advanced several hundred thousand dollars in first mortgage money to erect a building. We then sold an equal amount of non-interest hearing second mortgages to successfully complete the drive. This procedure has been followed in a number of other instances, but the second mortgages bear three percent interest. Our present campaign involves raising $700,000—which is more than we can handle—but we'll handle it."

Ingersoll warned against "buying' industry. A reputable company, he said, doesn't expect the gift of a building, but will pay for one through long term lease. "Don't undertake a large campaign at first," was another warning. "For should your first drive fail, you'll be finished forever."

"Above all," he said, "committee members must work together unselfishly and impartially. The man who puts personal gain or recognition ahead of the goal is not pulling his share of the load."

A question and answer period followed the address.

The meeting was opened by M. C. Cargo, president of the Oakland Rotary club, and closed by Robert W. Lohr, Lions president.

Area Methodist Pastors Assigned

Methodist pastor of the area were named at the concluding session of the West Virgima conference held at Buckhannon Sunday evening.

Rev. W. S. Patterson, D.D., was returned to St. Paul's church in Oakland for the sixth year of his second pastorate.

Among other appointments were the following:

W. M. DeShong to the Friendsville parish for his second year; Randall Prince to Bethel church at Mt. Lake Park for his ninth year; Charles D. Pence to Kitzmiller for his third year; Sumner Sawyers to Terra Alta for his ninth year; Jack Fields to Aurora for his second year; Frank A. Johnson to Gormania for his third year; H. Edgar Suite to Grantsville for his fourth year.

Edwin A. Smith, pastor of the Bloomington charge for five years, is moving to the Horner chapel near Morgantown. The Bloomington charge will have Charles Eaton, Jr.

W. E. Keenan, who had been in Kingwood for ten years, is retiring from the active ministry and this charge will be taken by Joseph Casey, who had been at St. Paul's, Clarksburg.

Don Jackson, who had been pastor of the Corinth, Crellin and Deer Park charge for six years, is moving to Richwood, W. Va. His supply is yet to be named.

All pastor will begin or resume their regular duties this Sunday.

Southern Yearbooks Carry Wrong Picture

Some 425 yearbooks of Southern High school, "The Highlander," arrived in Oakland last Wednesday, but they were not distributed to the students.

Upon opening the books for inspection it was discovered that the first picture, which was supposed to be of Southern High school, was in fact some other high school. All books were the same. Some students thought it was a picture of Hagerstown High, others thought it was Hancock High school. At any rate, it was not Southern.

The publishing company, a midwestern establishment, was notified immediately of the error and the books are being returned for correction. They will be made available to the students about the middle of the summer.

Under New Management

The William-James hotel, which has been owned and operated by Mrs. Victoria Ingram for the past nine years, is now under new management, as of Monday, June 3.

New owners are Mrs. Mande Strohkorb and son Robert, formerly of Virginia Beach, Va.

Negotiations for the sale have been under way for several weeks, but were just completed last week. Mrs. Strohkorb formerly owned the Waverly hotel in Virginia Beach which she recently sold. She still owns and operates the Blair House in Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Strohkorb said there would be no appreciable change in the management of the hotel. Mrs. Ingram plans to take a vacation of several weeks before deciding what her future activites will be.

Demonstration Day, Style Review Are Coming 4-H Events

County 4-H girls will participate in a Demonstration Day and a Style Revue this year on June 10 and 11, it was announced by Miss Johanna Magaha, assistant home demonstration agent. In previous years these events were held at Rally day in connection with the Farmers' picnic.

Demonstrations are to be held at the Oakland office kitchen of the C. and A. Gas company, from 9:30 to 4, on June 10. Girls from all parts of the county will compete for top honors in demonstration classes.

Miss Magaha explained that demonstrations, team or individual, may be given in any one of the following classes: Dairy foods, baked foods, poultry foods, clothing, home furnishings, home management, family life, electricity and cherry pie. A blue ribbon champion team demonstrtaion and individual demonstration will be selected for each class and the blue ribbon girls will be eligible to compete in the district demonstration day, to be held in Hagerstown July 21. Champions there will compete for state honors at Timonium fair in August.

The county style revue will be held on June 11, at 8 p. m., at the Episcopal Parish house, Center street, Oakland. Four-H girls will model garments they have made in their clothing project work. Three girls, plus one alternate, will be selected as champions with the top three to represent this county in the state style revue at the University of Maryland during club week in August.

Committee members working on these events are Cynthia Nace, Nancy White, Monte Vista club; Susan Bowman, North Star club; Judy Buckel and Florence Emory, Bittinger club.

The public is invited to these 4-H events, Miss Magaha said.

Two Men Enlist

M. Sgt. Joseph E. Sherron, U. S. army recruiter, announced the enlistment in the regular army, unassigned, for three years, two area men.

They are Ray Clayton Martin, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Martin, of Crellin; and Roy Burton Davis, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Davis, of Swanton. Martin attended Terra Alta High school and later worked at the Hopemont sanatarium. Davis last attended Bruce High school at Westernport.

The sergeant is at the postoffice building in Oakland each Wednesday afternoon to assist those interested in joining the service.

Lettuce Case Reversed

The Court of Appeals reversed a Garrett County court judgment ordering a chain grocery store to pay $5,000 to a family which became sick after eating lettuce purchased at the store.

The case was heard first in Allegany county, then Washington county and finally in Garrett county. The court said "there is no evidence . . . as to when the . . . 'germ' got on the lettuce. The possibilities are just as great that the lettuce became contaminated after it left the store . . . as before."

Name Summer Pastor For Brethren Church

Rev. Ronald Spire arrived in Oakland last Thursday to become summer pastor of the Oak Park Church of the Brethren, east of town.

He is a student at Bethany Seminary in Chicago, Ill., and will return there this fall to complete his academic training. Assigning of students to pastorates for the summer is part of the practical work training of the seminary.

The church where he will be serving is located one mile east of Oakland on route 135, across from Southern High school. The church building is now under construction and services are presently being held in a home located behind the future church building.

The young pastor is a native of Bryan, Ohio. He was graduated from Manchester college in Indiana in 1955 and has been at Bethany Seminary for the past two years. He is residing for the summer at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Spiker.

Beef-Dairy Fittings And Demonstrations Planned For County

Arrangements have been made by the Extension service for beef fitting and dairy fitting and showing demonstrations, it was announced by James A. McHenry, assistant county agent.

The one for beef will be conducted at Tomar Farms, owned by Tom Johnson and located on the Swallow Falls road, about three miles west of Oakland on Thursday, June 13, at 7 p. m. The demonstration will take place at the sale barn.

The one for dairy will be conducted at the Gerald Glotfelty farm, at McHenry, on Wednesday, June 12, 7 p. m.

Purpose of these demonstrations is to show potential exhibitors for the county fair the proper procedures in fitting and showing their animals.

Boyd Whittle, University of Maryland Animal Husbandry department, will conduct the demonstration with beef cattle. John Morris, from the University of Maryland Dairy Department, will conduct the demonstration with dairy cattle.

Persons interested in exhibiting or learning about the fitting and showing of animals are invited.

Name New Manager For New Plant Here

Announcement of a new plant manager for the Sterling Products Processing company was made this week. He is Earl E. Wise, native of Arkansas, and he began work here Monday morning, June 3.

He succeeds Elbert Barron who had served as plant manager since the plant opened the latter part of February.

Mr. Wise has been associated in the poultry processing business for the past seventeen years and had resided at Dardenelle, Ark. He is married and the father of two children, Earlene, aged 15, and Ronnie, aged 13. The family plans to move to Oakland when suitable housing is obtained.

Mr. Wise said the plant was moving along smoothly with some 20,000 birds having been processed on Monday of this week.

New Dial System For Accident Area

The new two-letter, five-numeral telephone numbering system for all Accident telephones goes into effect Saturday morning at 8 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, according to C. L. Stem, the Chesapeake and Potomac Company manager.

"This is a part of a Bell System program to create a uniform nation-wide telephone numbering plan which will provide better and faster long-distance service. It will greatly increase the flexibility of telephone service for this area and eventually make it possible for customers to dial their own long-distance calls," Mr. Stem said.

The new central office name for the Accident area will be VAlley 6. All the new numbers are listed in the special telephone directory which will be delivered prior to the changeover to all Accident and Friendsville subscribers. All telephone numbers in Garrett county will now be on the two-letter, five-numeral plan.

All available technical personnel under the guidance of Charles H. Smith, plant wire chief, are making last-minute equipment tests and are checking the lines to make sure that everything would be ready for the changeover.

"After 8 a. m., Saturday morning, customers should remove the temporary number card on their telephones and start using the new VAlley 6 numbers. As all numbers in the Accident area have been changed," Stem continued, "it will be necessary for customers to look up all numbers in the new directory before dialing."

He recommended use of the personal telephone number booklet, the "Blue Book," which is available without charge at the Telephone Company's Business office, for subscribers who keep a separate list of frequently called numbers.

Tops Thirteen In Broiler Contest

Ralph Buckel, Jr., 15, of Bittinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buckel, Sr., took first place in the Western Maryland Junior Broiler Production contest over thirteen other boys. The contest was held on Saturday, May 25, at the Sterling Processing plant in Oakland. Buckel is a 4-H club member.

He will represent the region in the state finals at Laurel, Del., during the Delmarva Chicken festival, scheduled June 11, 12 and 13.

Buckel and the other contestants were required to raise 100 wing-banded broilers, keep feed and cost records for nine weeks. They then selected six cockerels for the contest.

Grover Harris, Extension poultryman, University of Maryland Extension service, was judge. Judging was 60 percent on record book and 40 percent on bird samples.

Buckel's brother, Jim Buckel, 13, also a 4-H club member, was second in the contest, while Floyd George, of Accident, F. F. A. boy, was third.

The contest was conducted by the voag and Extension groups.

Has Interesting Almanac

John Nazelrod, of Deer Park, has in his possession an interesting almanac. It was called Hazeltine's pocketbook almanac for 1884 and was published at Warren, Pa.

Mr. Nazelrod said he secured it at the Jim Painter sale about thirty years ago. It carries an advertisement on the back of the little booklet from the A. G. Sturgiss drug store, offering for sale Piso's cure for consumption.

Wheat Acreage Allotments To Be Established

Acreage allotments will again be established for the wheat crop to be seeded this fall, according to a statement by H. Robert DeWitt, chairman of the County A. S. C. committee. The large surplus of wheat still on hand has made it necessary that allotments be established and also that a referendum be held to determine whether or not marketing quotas will apply to the 1958 crop.

Acreage allotment notices will be mailed to wheat growers prior to the referendum which is to be held on June 26. Allotments will be established for all farms that are known to have produced wheat during any one of the years 1955, 1956 and 1957.

Farms on which no wheat was produced during any of the years mentioned above but on which wheat will be planted for harvest in 1958 are called "new wheat farms." July 1, 1957 has been established for the final date on which allotments may be requested for new wheat farms. Requests should be filed at the County A. S. C. office in Oakland.

Details concerning the wheat referendum will be announced.

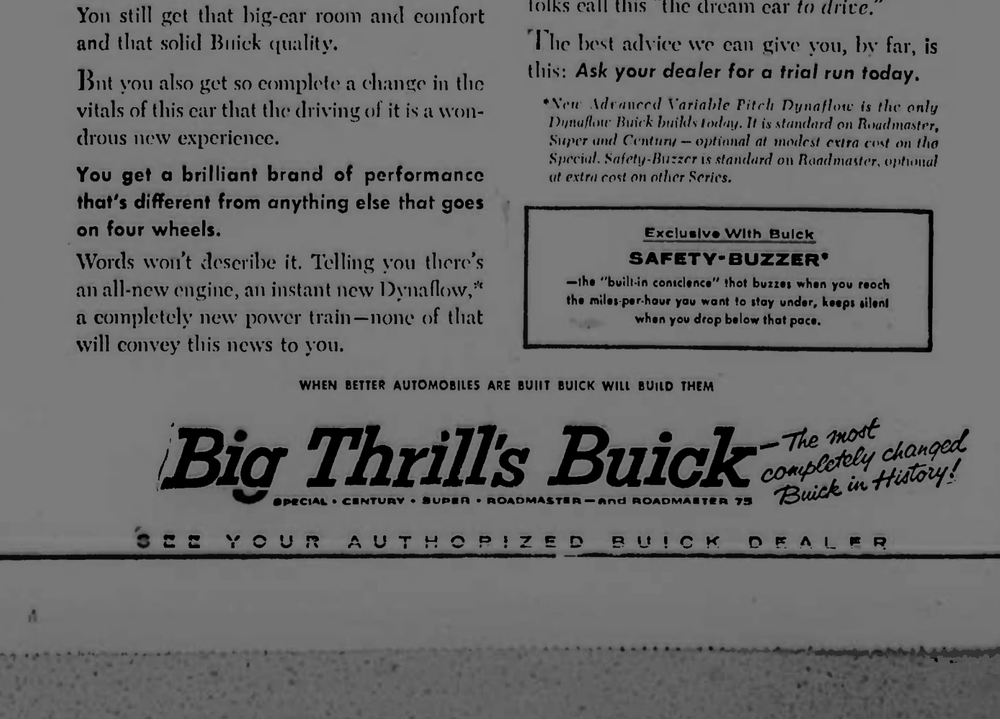
"We Were Amazed"
Says CAR LIFE,
The Family Auto Magazine



THE ABOVE brief clipping tells you worlds about the '57 Buick.

It tells you we went all out to make this car completely new—yet we didn't sacrifice a single Buick virtue.

So you still get that unmistakable Buick styling.

You still get that big-car room and comfort and that solid Buick quality.

But you also get so complete a change in the vitals of this car that the driving of it is a wondrous new experience.

You get a brilliant brand of performance that's different from anything else that goes on four wheels.

Words won't describe it. Telling you there's an all-new engine, an instant new Dynaflow,* a completely new power train—none of that will convey this news to you.

What you have to do is get in this car and drive it. Drive it around the block, through town, out on the highway. Actually feel what happens when you press the gas pedal, turn the steering wheel, touch those powerful new brakes.

Then—and not till then—will you know why folks call this "the dream car to drive."

The best advice we can give you, by far, is this: Ask your dealer for a trial run today.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Buzzer is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.*

LT. DON GEDDIS AND SGT. CARLTON SISLER explain operation of the counter-balanced targets and scoring system. Men are protected from direct fire by the concrete abutment behind them.

CHOW LINE LOADS UP with well-balanced menu prepared by mess crew. Mess Sgt. Harrison Stewart is allotted only $1.04 per man each day. With backs to camera are Sgt. James Weeks and Pvt. Dick Nace. On the serving line are SP3 Roland Schoch, SP3 Leroy Paugh and Pfc. William Beckman.

TWO MEN SERVE EACH TARGET in the pit, spotting each hit and indicating it to the scorer by means of different colored discs. Numerous bulls-eyes were made, even by the first timers. Two men closest camera are Lester Bittinger and Tom Bittinger.

Guardsmen Are Initiated

stray cigarette butt is hard to find.

The firing range itself accommodates ten riflemen at a time. With each rifleman is a scorer at his side as well as two men operating and checking the targets 200 yards away. Duty in the target pit may seem hazardous, but because of its construction of thick concrete and earth, no danger is present, the crews are well protected and never exposed. Under the direction of Lt. Don Geddis, the crews soon learn the operation of the counter-weighted targets.

Once firing begins, the target is lowered each time it is hit, the bullet hole is spotted with a disc and the target run back up. The proper score marker is displayed so that the scorer may tabulate the hit. The some procedure is repeated when the second shot is fired: the target lowered, spotted and the first hole taped over.

Approximately 4,100 rounds of .30 calibre ammunition were expended during the two-day period at Camp Dawson, allowing almost 60 rounds per man. Supply Sgt. Donald Hinebaugh keeps a check at all times on the ammunition on hand and doles it out as needed. Once firing is completed, the brass cartridges are gathered up, boxed, and he returns them to the ammo depot.

Firing positions of prone, kneeling, and standing are practiced before scoring begins. Each man is then given eight rounds for each position and the shoot is on. He also receives two clips of eight rounds each for sustained fire in both kneeling and prone positions. When ten rifles get going on automatic fire, it sounds as if a minor war has erupted.

Men in the ranks of Company C make no exception to the universal rule about placing the proper importance on things. Marksmanship is not exactly foremost, neither is drill and not much thought given to whether or not the bunks have innerspring mattresses. The main, everpresent consideration is "what's for chow?" Fortunately, the Company is blessed with a mess crew that does something ahout it and this crew may be paraphrased by "never have so few done so much for so many with so little to go on." Limited to an expenditure of only $1.01 daily per man, Mess Sgt. Harrison Stewart and his able crew of cooks are the admiration of the unit. For lunch, as an example, they whipped up pork chops, potatoes, beets, lettuce salad, fruit cocktail, bread and coffee. Supper featured fried chicken and all the trimmings. With such fare to go on, Company C's minds are put placidly to rest in the matter of "chow" and they are able to concentrate fully on the training problems, confident that whatever is for chow will be good and there will be plenty of it.

The Guardsmen are scheduled for a return to Camp Dawson this week-end for further rifle practice, and again on July 20 when the deadly bazookas and machine guns will be fired. A two-week camp at Indiantown Gap in August will test their ability in engineering, fitness and general conduct as soldiers. If spirit has anything to do with winning the prize--spirit as displayed last week-end—Company C will again march away with top honors.

County Campfire Is Scheduled June 15

County 4-H summer activities will be initiated with the annual Campfire to be held June 15, 8 p. m., DST, at the Western Maryland 4-H Center, near Bittinger. The county 4-H clubs have been divided into eleven Indian tribes. They are: Bittinger boys and girls, Cayuga; North Glade boys and girls, Cherokee; McHenry boys and girls, Huron; Asher Glade boys, Oneida; Grantsville senior boys, Seneca; Sunnyside boys, Delaware; Corunna boys and girls, Crees; Loch Lynn girls, Nanticoke; Ryans Glade boys, Mohawk; Monte Vista girls, Shawnee; Chicasaw boys and girls, Chicasaw.

Following the lighting of the fire, the peace pipe ceremony and the laws of the council circle will be given. After group singing, the "O'Chief" will declare the circle open for stunts, challenges, and skits from the tribes. The campfire will close with a short Vesper service and the Indian Tribal benediction.

May Apply Here For Resort Summer Work

Arrangements have been made for people who desire summer work at Ocean City to make application locally, at the Oakland office of the Maryland Department of Employment Security, it was announced this week.

The department is opening an employment office in Ocean City, and the recruiting effort will be helped by the department's 19 offices throughout Maryland.

It is expected there will be openings for waiters, waitresses, kitchen helpers, cooks, countermen, counter girls, bellhops, maintenance men, concession workers and sales persons.

Persons desiring employment heretofore applied either by writing directly to as many employers as possible or by visiting the city and canvassing employers for jobs. This has proved unsatisfactory and the department was asked to establish a seasonal employment office there.

Crowned at Friendsville

TERRY SISLER

NAOMI SPIKER

Terry Sisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sisler, Friendsville, and Naomi Spiker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Spiker, were crowned king and queen respectively at the fifth annual music festival of the Friendsville school held last Wednesday evening, May 29, in the school auditorium. The theme was "Magic World Tour."

The crowning ceremony took place immediately following the processional. Others taking part in the processional included Linda Friend, Stanley Umbel, Mike Sines, Connie Friend, Jerry Fike, Rosemary VanSickle, Everett Dale Sellers, Hazel Sliger, Carroll Uphold, Betty Sisler, James Shoemaker, Sandra Frazee, David Coddington, Jane Umbel, as attendants; Elaine Fike and Sue Campbell as flower girls; Eddie Hauser and Vicky Selby as crown bearers.

The king, queen and royal court were entertained by being taken for a world cruise aboard the magic ship Argo. Captain Tommy Humberson served as guide and narrator.

The tour made brief stops in Mexico, Hawaii, Borneo, Hungary, Holland, Switzerland, West Indies, and included a barn dance in Garrett county. Natives of each country provided entertainment including songs and dances peculiar to their culture. The voyage ended by a dance of nations around the maypole.

The program was concluded with the singing of "God Bless America" by the entire cast, chorus and audience.

Suggests Methods For Taking Perch

Two different methods of catching yellow perch in Deep Creek Lake has been suggested by Harold J. Elser, fisheries biologist for the Maryland Department of Research and Education, who has made a study of the problem.

Elser says that yellow perch in the lake present a special problem to biologists and fish management men. From samplings taken it is established that the lake contains a good supply of perch over eight inches but that the average fishermen seem to take very few of them.

Elser began his study in 1956 and he is making public his preliminary findings, hoping to encourage fishermen to experiment with the methods suggested.

He pointed out that larger perch are found in deeper water. He said that perch taken in water more than 20 feet deep are larger on the average than those closer to shore. But he suggested not to go below 35 feet, particularly in July and August, because of oxygen depletion at this depth.

He also indicated that perch feed on the surface on calm mornings in the summer and since calm mornings are common at the lake he suggested fly fishing for perch at that time of the day.

Elser also indicated that a substantial part of the perch population feeds on the bottom. He suggested drift fishing and the tackle to be used. Tackle used is similar to the trolling rigs used in Chesapeake bay. A three-way swivel is fastened to the end of the fishing line, and from one arm of the swivel a rather large sinker is tied, leaving about eight inches of line between the swivel and sinker. From the other arm of the swivel, tie a two-foot piece of light leader with a very small hook. Bait this hook with a tiny piece of worm, about an eighth of an inch.

Fishing is from a free-drifting boat. Line is payed out until the sinker just touches bottom. Line length is adjusted because of depth changes as the boat drifts. If the sinker is lifted it progresses along the bottom in a series of little hops, stirring up the mud enough to attract nearby fish, and the bait rides near the top of a small cloud of silt.

Elser said that in his experiments it was found that the upper part of the lake, the area south of Glendale bridge, had comparatively few stumps and was the most favorable for this type of fishing.

These biological and fish management studies on Deep Creek Lake are a joint project of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission and the Maryland Department of Research and Education.

DODGE outperforms "other two" low-priced trucks!

They're off! All three low-priced trucks are lined up at the bottom of a test grade equal to the steepest hill in San Francisco. The flag drops, and this grueling test of climbing power is officially underway. Dodge takes an early lead.

Halfway up. The extra V-8 power under the hood of the Dodge sends it quickly ahead. It's already two lengths out front. And there's a 1000-lb. test load on each one of these comparably equipped trucks. What's more, Dodge is still gaining!

Dodge flashes past the finish five lengths ahead of competition. Truck "C" and truck "A" just couldn't match that 204-hp. Power Giant. And this is just one of a rugged series of tests that prove Dodge is best of the low-priced three.

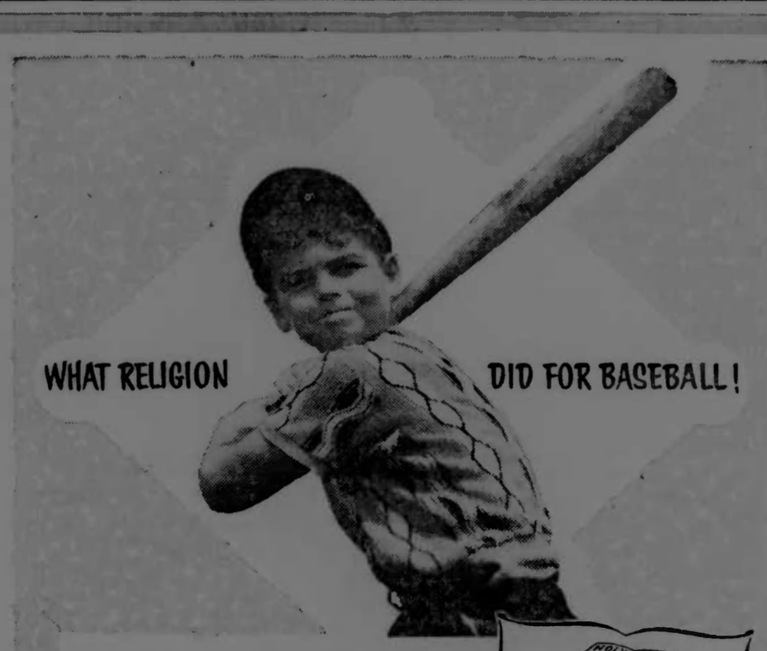
Use the Want-Ads



Today's athlete wants to win fairly according to the rules. Primitive man had no rules, no sense of fair play.

In the intervening centuries man learned more of God. He began to apply basic religious principles of honesty and integrity to all the activities of life. Finally, he decided that even his games ought to be played by such standards.

Sometimes we say that sports build character. We really mean that fair play—the religious principle we have tried to incorporate in our games—turns mere competitive effort into a character-molding experience.

But life is more than a game . . . and Christian character is more than sportsmanship.

The Church teaches all of us the principles of moral and spiritual living. It brings us into a reverent relationship with God himself. Its truths not only inspire fair play . . . but victorious living.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Genesis 32
Devotional Reading: Hosea 14

Reconciled

Lesson for June 9, 1957

AT THE heart and beginning of the Christian life there is not a theory, or a set of propositions, but an experience. It is the experience which is sometimes called healing, for the broken tissues of life are made whole again. It is sometimes called conversion, literally a turning-around, for in it the direction and course of life is changed. It is sometimes called forgiveness, so that the church is called the fellowship of the forgiven. But there is another word still which sums up and expresses this central experience: Reconciliation. What this means can be seen in the story of a man who never really found himself—as no one does—short of being reconciled both with God and with man.

Dr. Foreman

Peace With God

There are two meanings (and more) of this word Reconciliation, and at the risk of insulting some reader's intelligence the difference between these meanings must be pointed out. In one meaning of the word, we say we are reconciled to something we can't help, as a cripple becomes reconciled to the loss of his legs, or a man is reconciled to his old age. Some people are "reconciled to God" only in this sense: they recognize his power and they bow to it but they still don't like it and they do not love him. This is not true reconciliation in the Bible sense. True reconciliation means restoring a lost harmony, it means meeting with God in such a way that all the resentment, all the hostility and fear in our hearts is burned away by his Presence, and we feel ourselves at home with him. This is what happened, essentially, to Jacob at the brook where he wrestled with the mysterious stranger. Whatever we make of that story, it is plain what Jacob thought (Gen. 32:30) "I have seen the face of God." He said. Before that day, Jacob had had only one center of his universe himself. After that day, he had God's man. He was really face to face again. He had been at cross-purposes with God, now he was reconciled. God's will was his will. Thinking correct thoughts about God is never enough. One must personally meet him personally yield to him, be personally reconciled.

Peace With Man

Right along with reconciliation with God comes reconciliation with man. In Jacob's case, as with most persons, there was one particular man to whom he had to be reconciled—his brother Esau. When a man is converted, there is usually some particular person with whom he needs to become a brother again. It is an interesting fact that Jacob knew this well before his all-night meeting with God. But his idea of being reconciled with Esau was to buy him off, pay him to be friendly, by sending him large presents of the cattle. After Jacob met with God, he somehow knew that this was not the way. The only thing was to meet his brother in person. What happened between them had to happen in their hearts. It was nothing that could be measured in money. And Jacob said a startling thing, something he could not have thought of saying 20 years before: "To see your face is like seeing the face of God."

Neither Without the Other

Peace with God and with man they cannot be separated. No one can be really reconciled to God who cherishes hate or envy or anger toward his fellow-men. And no one can be heart-reconciled with other persons who is a stranger to the love of God. The New Testament makes it quite clear who needs to be reconciled to whom. It is never said there that God needs to be reconciled to man; but always that man must be reconciled to God. It is man's heart that needs to be changed, not God's. Jesus put both of these reconciliations inseparably together, Matt. 5:23,24. If you are offering your gift at the altar—and this was a token of reconciliation with God—and at that very moment remember that your brother has something against you, stop right there. Leave your gift, and go. Be reconciled to your brother first, and then come and offer your gift to God. God desires the gift of man's heart; but he does not desire the gift of a heart which is unreconciled to a brother-man.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Our nation cannot "buy" friendship.

Our nation cannot support the world.

If we were trying to accomplish either of those purposes through our foreign aid programs we would be making basic mistakes.

The all-important point to remember, therefore, is that this country is not trying to purchase allegiance and it is not trying to act like a global sugar-daddy, as has occasionally been charged.

Moral, Practical Considerations

Instead, the philosophy behind our military and economic assistance to foreign nations is based on these considerations:

What are our moral obligations to the men, women and children of the world who urgently need some sort of temporary help?

How can we obtain maximum results from our anti-communist and defense dollars?

Military Foreign Aid

Having frequently discussed the issues involved in the first of those questions, I now would like to present a few facts pertaining to the latter.

Approximately $4 billion dollars is included in the Administration's new budget for mutual security programs, with three-fourths of that amount scheduled for assistance to the armed forces in Korea, Turkey, Indo-China and similar nations.

The remainder of the requested appropriation is to be used for agricultural surplus, health programs and other humanitarian

Allied Forces

To some extent we can measure the effect of our military support by studying the overseas defense line it is helping to maintain.

At present this defense system includes 5 million men, 15,000 jet planes and 2,500 combat vessels all serving under independent governments of the free world and all forming a bulwark against Soviet aggression or expansion.

Balance of Power

The benefits of our foreign economic aid, for which about 1 percent of our total budget is being sought, are not always obvious, but they are just as important.

The major portion of these funds is scheduled for distribution to the 700-million people in Asia, the Near East, and Africa who are politically uncommitted and who form the balance of power between the free and slave worlds.

Admittedly, such expenditures represent a calculated risk.

But to reject them would be to cut short the progress which has been made toward giving these people the strength to make their own decisions, regardless of pressure from the Kremlin.

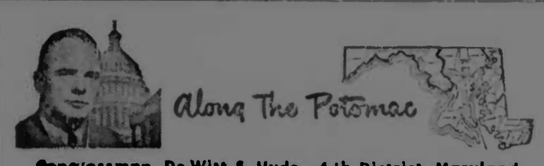
Alternatives to Mutual Security

It would take an immeasurable increase in our domestic taxing and spending to approach the same benefits achieved by our Mutual Security program, and it is doubtful whether the results would be as advantageous to us.

Furthermore, as President Eisenhower has said, any serious weakening of our overseas defense line "would mean raising the draft call throughout the land," "more of our sons in uniform" and longer service for them."

As an elected official who has given credit only to those people as a veteran who insist that this country be kept at top strength and as the father of three sons who have all participated in military service I push the button of security provided through reasonable foreign aid to whatever isolationist preparedness we might obtain in trying to balance and put our network of protection across.

TO MARK GOLDEN WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. George D. Lantz, of Aurora, W. Va., will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, June 6, with an open house for all friends and relatives, from 2 to 4 p. m., D. S. T., at their home. Mrs. Lantz, who is aged 69, is the former Gertrude Henline, daughter of Mrs. Emma Henline and the late Henry Henline. Mr. Lantz, aged 73, is a son of the late John C. and Mary Lantz and is a retired farmer. They were married June 16, 1907, by Rev. Jonas Fike, at Eglon, W. Va. They are the parents of three children: Mrs. Leota Elsey, Aurora; Loren Lantz, of Horse Shoe Run, W. Va.; and Ersel Lantz, Rowlesburg, W. Va. They have seven grandchildren.



Along The Potomac

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

The House has passed the Defense Appropriation bill Republicans tried to reduce some hundred from the bill by Majority in the House Appropriations Committee. Many of the methods some Democrats, felt that the reductions in funds for new aircraft and related procurement guided missiles, research and development and army maintenance were too severe. I believe that waste and duplication should be eliminated, but that defense funds should not be reduced to levels that would harm the nations security.

Sustained tensions in North Africa and the near East are being exploited by the Communists at every opportunity and we must not relax our guard. The Mediterranean area is under constant threat from Soviet disruptive tactics. There is unrest in Formosa and Japan and other parts of the world that could become the tool of Soviet intrigue.

Although the Communists may have learned the risk they run in overt acts from their miscalculations in Korea and Moscow understands the meaning of America's stockpile of atomic weapons—we must make certain that our military strength is sufficient to keep them on the anxious seat. We are hopeful that someday there will be complete disarmament with every nation cooperating. But until that time comes we must have strong defenses from both military and economic standpoint.

Congressional review of Defense Department requests for money to operate our vast security system is to assure the people that we are getting the maximum security for each dollar we spend. National safety, not politics, should be the guiding factor in our review. The question to be answered is not how much we can afford to spend for our national safety, but rather how much is necessary for national defense.

Soon the Foreign Aid Appropriation bill will be before the House. I feel certain that we will be able to get the necessary funds approved to carry out an effective foreign aid program.

OH, MY ACHING BACK

Many times nagging backache is caused by a need for more vigorous kidney action to help rid the system of poisonous waste. When you suffer backache, you may feel tired, nervous, "all worn out"—when other symptoms of kidney disorder are present—and sleep may be disturbed by frequent bladder irregularities following wrong food and drink—often piling up a miserable backache for some.

Don't neglect backache. Use Doan's Pills. They work fast—help the kidneys. In many cases, by speedily relieving the kidney irritation, they give happy relief from backache, headaches, nervous tension and tired, nervous feelings. Doan's have a tonic effect on kidney action, helping to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Don't let backache wear you down. Ask your neighbor! Use Doan's Pills. Recommended the country over. Get Doan's Pills today!

NOTICE!

Food prices will be even lower at Browning's beginning July 1, when credit and delivery will be discontinued and the enormous savings passed on to you. These two departments ordinarily consume many dollars that must be added to the cost of operations and consequently keep prices up—higher than necessary. By eliminating these costly operations, food prices will be considerably lower and you will be the one to benefit from the savings!

We are interested in the lowest possible food prices, just as you are, and therefore, we are making arrangements to bring you the most for your valuable food dollar, beginning Monday, July 1.

If you find it inconvenient to pay cash each time you make a purchase, you may leave a check or cash, and carry a credit balance and still enjoy our new low price policy.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

What Kind of Farmer?

Some one has said and wisely so I think, "Every man needs a constructive critic." I think the word "constructive" is well used and takes the sting out of criticism and makes it more palatable to accept.

There are definitely two very wrong kinds of critics; those who see that everything is wrong; those who see that everything is right. Now, I am sure that neither one are either realistic or constructive. Any one who does any thinking at all can be very sure that never are things so bad or hopeless, that there is no hope; never are things so good that they could not be improved.

Some time ago, I met up with a man who handed out some criticism of rural people I would like for you to think about. He came to my home on business, and we started talking about the predicament of small farmers today, their being caught in a price squeeze, and their incomes falling, threatening their very existence. Then, I was surprised to hear him say, and I believe he said it in all honesty that, in his opinion farmers as a rule are most inefficient and very much responsible for their plights. He told me that his work for twenty years was with farm folks and these criticisms are a result of his own observations.

He listed the criticisms and I hurriedly wrote them down for I wanted to share them with the readers of this column. He began by making this startling statement. He said, "Some of the most inefficient and wasteful of all business practices are those carried on by farmers."

First, they pay three or four thousand dollars for a piece of farm machinery—let it set out all winter—it rusts up faster than it wears out.

Second, he said oil is rarely changed in this valuable piece of machinery, say a tractor.

Third, inefficient methods of feeding poultry and live stock are often practiced — not enough thought and planning go into the over-all operations. He thought there was not enough long-range planning.

Fourth, poor bookkeeping. Rarely, he said can a farmer tell precisely what he is making on any one of his farming operations. He does not want to make the mental effort to do a really good job of bookkeeping. He declared if a business man would run his business in the same manner as most farmers, he would go bankrupt in a short time.

Last of all, he said many farmers do not grow in their chosen profession. If their father was a sloppy farmer, they are the same.

Here, I was one of those who thought a good many farmers were also good managers and good business men besides. What do you think?

There are some of those criticisms we ought to turn over in our minds, for perhaps we deserve them. I, for one would not accept his opinions as being all true, yet they are not all false either. They are honestly worth thinking about.

All of us need to grow in our profession, whether we be a housewife, a teacher, a farmer or anything else. Read over the criticisms, and ask yourself, what kind of a farmer am I?

Nothing Constructive?

A newspaper should always work for things progressive. We thought we were. Oftentimes we have felt like the editor of a weekly paper in Kansas. He would rush to the station every day to see the Santa Fe Chief go by. Nothing could interrupt this ritual. Fellow townsmen deemed his eccentricity juvenile and frivolous and asked him to give it up. "No, gentlemen," he said firmly, "I keep track of all the news of this town, sell all your merchandise through ads, record your births, deaths and weddings; run your charities, am chairman of about every drive it pleases you to invent. But I won't give up seeing that Santa Fe train. It's the only thing that passes through this town that I don't have to push."

So we were rather surprised this week to hear that we were always negative, never constructive, never enthusiastic, always presenting the dreary side. Someone was disappointed because we didn't treat a pet project with a lot of hoopla that wasn't in evidence.

Now, if being negative is reporting events exactly as they take place, we may be guilty. If being negative is not going enthusiastic over a program before we are sure of the motives back of it, if being negative is editorializing against legalizing the sale of whiskey in the county, if being negative is simply not over-tooting someone's horn, if being negative is fighting for decent and honest government, then we may be guilty.

Just checking over the files of the past year to see whether or not this report had any justification, we noted the following: We have boosted the summer theatre, the ski

Dedication Of McHenry Church Set For Sunday

New E. U. B. Church Result Of More Than A Year's Work

The dedication of the new Evangelical United Brethren church at McHenry will take place Sunday, June 16.

The new church is the result of more than a year's work by members of the congregation, along with outside help, cash contributions, labor and materials by people from near and far.

Actual excavation of the new building site began May 15, 1956.

The new structure is 40 by 76 feet, of red brick. The basement is full size, with several Sunday School rooms. The main auditorium seats more than 250 people. A sound system utilizes the basement in event of an overflow crowd.

The same sound system, which is a gift of the circuit brotherhood, also provides chimes music from the church tower and sound facilities for those in the nursery. The worship service can be viewed from the nursery, which is soundproof.

The interior of the sanctuary is a combination of pastel Celotex, recessed lighting and light oak paneling with a light oak arch over the closed chancel. The floor will be finished with church carpet and music will be provided by a new electronic organ.

The building has been estimated to be worth $45,000 but due to donated materials and labor and proper management, the actual cost has been kept in the neighborhood of $32,000.

Actually the original church dates back to 1887 when the first United Brethren church was located on what was then known as "Rumble Bee" road. In 1916 the old church was torn down and moved to its present location where it served as a constant place of worship until about one month ago when the congregation moved into the basement of the new structure to make way for the tearing down of the old. Timber for all three edifices was furnished from what is known as the old Mahlon Glotfelty farm, presently owned by C. W. Wagner. Mr. Glotfelty was one of the early members of the church. Nelson Brenneman is presently the oldest surviving member, having helped build the church of 1916. He has been actively engaged in working on the new building.

The services Sunday are open to the general public.

Man Found Dead At Swallow Falls

Over Hundred People Conducted Six-Hour Search For Orville Friend

Members of a searching party which had searched the woodlands near Swallow Falls for several hours, found the body of Orville Harrison Friend, aged 30, in the woods near the Bray School last Saturday afternoon. He had been missing since the evening previous when he took one of his dogs and went for a walk in the area.

A general alarm was sounded when the dog returned home and the man didn't, and on Saturday morning the Forestry Department, Oakland Fire department and county authorities organized a searching party. Some one hundred persons assisted in the search. Sheriff Paul Fisher said every member of the forestry department and quite a few firemen from Oakland were included in the group.

His body was discovered about 4:30 p. m. An autopsy performed on the body later showed that death had been due to a brain hemorrhage. Fisher said the man had been subject to fainting spells but that he had worked on Friday and apparently was in good health.

The deceased was a son of Theresa Ella Teets Friend and the late Alvin Friend, and was born at McHenry, January 10, 1927. A veteran of World War II, he was a member of the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren.

Besides his mother he is survived by his wife, Delores Whitacre Friend; four brothers, Leo Friend, Oakland, Wilmer, with the armed forces in Germany; Ernest F., Swallow Falls, and Randall, Mt. Lake Park; four sisters, Mrs. Juanita Savage, Oakland, Miss Violet Friend, Oakland; Mrs. Bessie Carter, Baltimore; and Mrs. Nora Durr, Terra Alta.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Pine Grove Church with Rev. Eugene Matthews, pastor, officiating, assisted by Paul DeWitt. Burial was in the Hoyes Run cemetery near Swallow Falls.

The Business and Professional Women's club contributed $200 to be used where most needed.

May Name Sheriff Yet This Week

The appointment of James Frantz, present deputy sheriff, as the sheriff to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Paul W. Fisher, was expected from the governor's office this week.

Frantz is said to be the unanimous choice of the Republican State Central Committee and State Senator Clifford Friend.

Governor McKeldin's office informed Senator Friend on Monday that Frantz' commission would arrive at the court house here the latter part of the week.

Sheriff Fisher sent his resignation to the governor the latter part of April after he learned of his appointment as assessor by the County Commissioners. Fisher's new appointment was effective June 1 but he is continuing to serve as sheriff until the new commission arrives.

Prior to becoming a deputy Frantz operated a store in Friendsville and earlier worked for the County Roads department. He is a native of Friendsville.

Achievement Certificate Presented To Airman

A certificate of achievement was presented to Airman Third Class Lambert L. Wright, as the outstanding airman of the 683rd AC and W squadron at Sweetwater, Texas, for the month of June.

Certificates of achievement are presented to outstanding airmen for each month. They are selected for outstanding performance of duty, loyalty to the unit, military bearing and personal appearance on and off duty.

A letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Wright, Friendsville, informing them of the award to their son, was written by Major John T. Phillips, commander of the unit.

Wright was graduated from Northern High school, class of '55. He was active in sports and other school activities. He attended Potomac State College prior to his enlistment.

Audit Shows All Records For 1955-1956 In Accord

A report of the financial records of the County Commissioners, Joseph Welch, treasurer, and the records of the County Roads department for the two years ended December 31, 1956, has been received by the Commissioners from Wooden, Benson and Walton, certified public accountants of Baltimore.

The audit was made several months ago.

The figures were found to be in agreement with the records. Under the various accounts in the report are the words, "all bank accounts were confirmed to us by the depositories and reconciled with your records," or "the amounts outstanding for each issue were confirmed to us by the State Comptroller," or "the above loans were confirmed to us by the State Roads Commission," or "requests for confirmation of the balances were mailed on a substantial number of accounts. All replies received to date were either in agreement or reconciled to your records."

The auditors sent the Commissioners a number of suggestions but declared they had "not meant to be critical but have intended our comments to be constructive."

They recommended a general ledger which would include all accounts of all funds, to give complete financial transactions and a continuous record which would not change whenever a new treasurer or a new county commissioner took office.

They suggested cash receipts and cash disbursements books.

They showed a valuation of buildings in excess of $3 million with an insurance coverage of only $68,000. They suggested a complete survey of insurance needs. They suggested having the financial secretary and clerk in the treasurer's office bonded.

They recommended a record of all fixed assets, that the dog license fund be closed, that the volume of work in the treasurer's office warranted a full time deputy to be employed, and that a trained person was needed to run the office in case the treasurer was absent due to illness or other necessity; some changes in the tax sale funds, no discounts on taxes when partial payments were made; and that the laws relating to county finances should be reviewed and changed to improve records and controls on finances of the county.

The cost of the audit which took accountants several weeks to complete, according to figures in the office of the County Commissioners, amounted to $5,043.72, plus another item of $500 paid to H. C. Riggs and Nordeck Shaffer for auditing the books before the CPA's were hired.

Council President Fails To Unseat City Policeman

An attempt to unseat Henry Arnold as chief of police of the city of Oakland ended in defeat Monday night for the city council president, Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, who had made a claim which could not be substantiated by evidence, that Arnold had been discourteous and insulting to his wife in serving her with a ticket for over-parking. Over-parking tickets are settled for ten cents.

The ruckus arose as the regular business of the Mayor and Town Council had come to its regular conclusion. No official minutes were kept of the events but information was obtained by talking with Mr. Arnold and Mayor Russell Smith.

According to Policeman Arnold, Mrs. Baumgartner was given a ticket for over-parking on May 13. He said this was torn up by Dr. Baumgartner. After a period of a week had elapsed, Arnold said he wrote out a summons and sent it to Mrs. Baumgartner. No appearance was made before the magistrate in answer to the summons.

Mayor Smith said that Dr. Baumgartner made the statement that he was going to have Arnold fired and attempted to arrange a special meeting. This did not materialize.

At Monday's meeting Dr. Baumgartner said he wanted something done about Arnold screaming at his wife and insulting her. Arnold denied he had made any insulting remarks or had screamed, and asked the doctor to bring in his witnesses to prove it.

Arnold said the doctor then admitted receiving a summons through the mail but said he didn't consider it legal, and dared him to appear in person to serve the summons.

When Dr. Baumgartner asked who had given Arnold authority to send him a sonunons Mayor Smith broke in to remind Baumgartner that he had given Arnold full authority and had instructed him to show no favoritism or partiality to anyone. He also reminded Baumgartner that the city charter gave the Mayor full authority over the police department and that he

By FRANK R KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Not To Discard Beck—But

The general idea that with the exposures of Mr. Dave Beck at the teamsters union and its expulsion from the great AFL-CIO combine the whole issue of labor-boss corruption and wrongdoing will be ended and the big labor bosses such as Mr. George Meany and Mr. Walter Reuther can resettle the halos on their respective heads and again beat their breasts and proclaim the purity of their hearts is unsound.

That of course is what they very much would like to do. The trouble is that the record of these men is so far from being perfect that the efforts of their propagandists to dress them up in their Sunday-School clothes and parade them as above criticism and beyond reproach becomes ridiculous. In the case of Mr. George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO it only serves to recall his efforts to comfort and comfort with his close friend and colleague, Mr. Joseph Fay, by sneaky visits to this former convict while he was serving his term in a New York penitentiary, where he was put through the efforts of the then State's Attorney Hogan, who described him as a "ruthless and greedy racket." This description was concurred in by the sentencing judge. If ever Mr. Meany made any explanation or excuse for his continued intimacy with this convict friend of his, it certainly escaped general attention. At any rate, it does make the heaver with which he holds up his hands at the mere mention of the as yet unconvicted Mr. Beck seem somewhat silly. To many people he will seem a scavenging hypocrite.

As for his friend, Mr. Walter Reuther vice president of the AFL-CIO, Senator Barry Goldwater, in a recent article in Human Events made it clear the hell-raiser of this "gentleman's" professed love for "the good, the true and the beautiful." "In the Senate of the United States, the McClellan committee, of which I am a member," wrote Senator Goldwater, "is currently investigating alleged tieups between the leaders of organized labor and racketeers and vice. With great piety Mr. Reuther has called for a cleanup inside labor. By implication he has condemned those leaders who have used union funds for their personal benefit."

Continuing, the Senator said: "In the single instance of the strike against Kohler in Wisconsin, Reuther and the UAW have done more damage to freedom than was accomplished by all the peculiar financial transactions of Teamster President Dave Beck. The strike against Kohler has continued for nearly four years. The union, under direction of Reuther, has used every method ever employed to win a strike. It has used violence. It has brought in goons to instill fear. More than 700 acts of violence and vandalism against non-strikers, including brutal beatings, shotgun blasts into windows of homes and dynamiting of homes have been reported since the strike began." "Is this," asks Senator Goldwater, "America, where force and violence can be used with impunity to destroy peace and impose the will of one man upon a community or upon a manufacturing plant?"

Being not only a senator but a member of the committee, Senator Goldwater makes it clear he does not intend to permit either Mr. Meany or Mr. Reuther to get by with the pretense of being pious and holy in all their doings. They are, of course, the two men who are supposed politically to hold and guide 15,000,000 members of their combined unions, and this supposition, though it has been disproved most emphatically in 1952 and in 1956, is still sufficiently propagandized to be believed by a good many persons in politics afraid of these labor bosses. Toss old Beck out on his ear, take away his graft, throw his union out of the combination, but leave Meany and Reuther alone.

That's the big idea now—particularly among the Democratic politicians who have been dominated by the AFL and CIO leaders, who have been receiving not only political but large financial support, and who do not want to do anything to check this support. Most of these facts were brought out in this space before Senator Goldwater's recent article, but they have not changed the situation. The Democratic politicians are perfectly willing to hang Mr. Beck with the stoutest rope and to the tallest tree they can find, but they have extremely little taste for legislation that will protect the public from such men as Meany and Reuther, who have control of the millions paid into union treasuries by members, a goodly proportion of whom voted for Eisenhower and Nixon. In brief, while the country wants to see Beck punished, as he deserves, it does not want to see the Pecksniffs of the union racket get by with their false piety.

Council Conducts Routine Business

Mostly routine business occupied the regular session of the monthly meeting of the Mayor and Town Council Monday night, with the usual report of receipts and expenditures, granting and refusing of permits, and other minor affairs.

Collections amounted to $8,579.22 from water, taxes and miscellaneous with $1,026.10 from water, $2,169.74 from taxes, and $5,383.38 from miscellaneous. Among the miscellaneous were items of $1,153.88 from motor vehicle revenue, $2,175.25 from gasoline tax, and $755 from parking meters. Expenditures amounted to $7,330.91.

An application for water service by Mrs. Carl M. Cathell, in the Leighton addition to Oakland, was tabled. An application for water service by James Rook, Monte Vista road, was approved. Council approved application of H. A. Cropp for use of roller and grader.

Graham Weeks was refused a permit to install a 500-gallon gasoline tank behind the Weeks Nursing home with pumping apparatus to be inside a garage building. Council said it was a residential district and that installation would create a fire hazard.

Permits granted: to C. L. Sutton to erect porch on Omar street; to Walter Holler, to erect taxi sign on Third street; to Creigh Teets to construct a residence on Second street between Mussard and Fleegle homes, at a cost of from $12,000 to $15,000.

Graham Weeks was given permission to move his taxi stand across street from present location on Alder, in case he decided to do so.

A proposed addition to Southern States was discussed. I. R. Rudy, Jr. and Gene Liller, appearing for the Mt. City Band, asked for a date for a carnival in July. The request was refused but the council voted to make the band's annual donation $250 instead of $150.

Council made arrangements to install septic tanks one on Liberty street and one in Davis addition to Oakland. Purchase of 15 water meters was authorized.

Sunday movie tax amounted to $37.50 for May.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Nikita S. Khrushchev, boss of the Soviet Communist party, spoke affably of such things as "co-existence," "peace" and "friendship" during his recent appearance on America's television screens.

Moderate words are always welcome, of course.

But—despite our yearning for a just and lasting peace, despite the healthy optimism which is part of our heritage, we cannot accept today's words from the Kremlin without studying them in relation to the blood-red transcript of Soviet history.

Soviet Treaty Violations

No amount of propaganda from the sugar-tongued Mr. Krushchev or his cronies should ever make us forget that a similar lullaby was once wafted from Moscow toward Poland, Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Lithuania, and other nations.

The record of how Soviet Russia violated its treaties and agreements with these countries fills volumes, and, lest we forget, I would like to review just one case in this encyclopedia of infamy.

Words vs. Actions

This is an outline of Russian-Lithuanian relations, showing how Soviet words have not always been followed by similar actions.

1918 (March 3) Soviet Russia signs treaty of Brest-Litovsk, agreeing to give up Lithuania.

1918 (August 287) Soviet Russia renounces sovereignty over Lithuania in supplementary peace treaty.

1920 (April 12) Soviet Russia re-establishes diplomatic relations with Lithuania and signs Peace Treaty of Moscow recognizing Lithuanian independence and frontiers.

1926 (September 28) Soviet Russia concludes nonaggression pact with Lithuania.

1928 (September 27) Soviet Russia adheres to Kellogg-Briand Pact for Renunciation of War.

1931 (May 6) Soviet Russia renews 1926 nonaggression pact with Lithuania.

1933 (July 3) Soviet Russia signs an international agreement in London defining aggression.

1933 (July 5) Soviet Russia and Lithuania conclude a special agreement defining aggression.

1934 (April 4) Soviet Russia and Lithuania extend their nonaggression pact for 10 years.

Soviet Actions

1939 (October 10) Soviet Russia imposes mutual assistance pact on Lithuania.

1940 (June 15) Troops of Soviet Russia invade and occupy Lithuania.

1940 (August 3) Lithuania is incorporated into U.S.S.R.

Biblical Lession

With millions of other Americans, I hope and pray that Russia's current peace-talk will produce positive results.

We must not, however, forget the Biblical lesson: "Ye shall know them by their fruits."

Notes from My Appointment Book

During the week, I introduced a resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution to provide that the people of the District of Columbia shall be entitled to vote in Presidential elections. I also participated in the Senate debate on my bill to provide adequate pensions for retired policemen and firemen of the District of Columbia, and I took part in committee hearings on various other measures. These include a bill I introduced to allow the Small Business administration to make loans to alleviate unemployment in labor surplus areas and another bill to provide for Federal assistance for the construction of a new hospital to serve southeastern Washington and the nearby areas of Maryland. In addition, I had the privilege of participating in swearing ceremonies for 50 new citizens in the Rockville Court House; made a very interesting tour of the Port of Baltimore with members of the Maryland Port Authority; was a luncheon guest of members of the Dredge Owners Protective Organization, and attended a banquet of the National Coal association.

would back all policemen in the proper performance of their duties.

Whereupon Smith said that Baumgartner declared, "If that's the way it's going to be I resign," and left the council chamber. He came back shortly with a written and signed resignation which he placed upon the desk.

After discussion Mr. Smith said the doctor reappeared accompanied by his wife who claimed that she had received five parking tickets in one week and that Arnold was all the time "picking on her." Arnold showed by his records that Mrs. Baumgartner had received two tickets for over-parking this year and three last year. The two this year were on April 13 and May 13. She said Arnold had shouted at her and she had witnesses to prove it. Arnold asked for the witnesses but none was produced.

Arnold said council members said they had as much right to believe him as her, since no witnesses were presented.

The argument then moved on where the doctor insisted that Arnold apologize for insulting his wife. Arnold insisted he had said nothing insulting that required an apology but finally said that just to clear up the matter, even while still insisting he had said nothing insulting, that he would apologize for saying anything that they felt he should not have said.

Arnold had information recorded to show that he had served Mayor Smith with 7 tickets last year for over-parking and three this year; that Councilman Carroll Miller had received 7 parking tickets last year and 2 this year, that James Nally had gotten four last year and also several this year after completing his term on council; that Clayton Winters had received one parking ticket last year and one this year. All of them, he said, had been paid without comment or remonstrance. During the past eighteen months Arnold showed he had written 10,326 parking tickets. During the argument on being discourteous Arnold produced a letter written June 6, from the Pythian Sisters which he said Dr. Baumgartner refused to read. It said in part: "It is gratifying to know that we have unselfish public officers like you who will always lend a helping hand. We understand it was your day off but you saw to it that there was parking space" (for busses for the district Pythian meeting recently).

Mayor Smith declared that if Mrs. Baumgartner had paid the parking meter in the first place there would have been no need for argument.

Before leaving the council chamber Smith said Baumgartner picked up his resignation and tore it up.

Says Ticket Unjustified

When contacted Tuesday afternoon Dr. Baumgartner said he was still of the opinion that the traffic ticket was unjustified since his wife had stopped for just a few minutes to deliver something to him from his home. He said he was also of the opinion that Arnold has been discourteous not only to his wife but him also.

The Audit Is Made

The audit by certified public accountants has been completed for County Commissioners, the Roads Department, and the treasurer's office for the past two years, and the records were found to be in order.

Some suggestions were offered that calculated to assist in keeping future record, but that was to be expected.

What we want to emphasize is the fact that all this agitation caused last year by certain individuals, was without any foundation. They kept clamoring for a grand jury probe and a full investigation by a CPA, and indicated that the records would be found loose, unbusiness-like and casting suspicion on the integrity of our County Commissioners. It was these people who said the records are jumbled and so ambiguous that persons couldn't make heads or tails of them.

They have now had both their desires. The accountants have released their figures. Two grand juries commended the Commissioners but almost caught certain others who thought they had carefully laid a trap for two of our Commissioners.

The result of the audit is what we predicted last year.

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

In recent weeks we have been discussing the U. S. Army's careful study of Communist "brain-washing" of the American prisoners of war in North Korea and the significant findings. Of the 7,000 prisoners, constituting a cross-section of healthy young adult Americans, 3,000 died. This was an unprecedented percentage of deaths attributable to "a lack of determination to survive." Most of the 4,000 survivors, the Army study indicated, succumbed in some degree to the Communist "brain-washing."

The Army is inclined to charge this weakness not to the men but to a partial breakdown of responsibilities in the American home, and school and church. In summation the Army seems to say that we haven't been doing an adequate job of teaching the oncoming generation in these three pivot-points of education, the home, the school and the church. Our American young men in the Communist POW camps simply had not been taught strongly enough the basic human spiritual, economic and political values which form the substance of our American way of life.

Up through the generations of America's progress by example and with every other educational means parents have inculcated in their children the great virtues of honesty, loyalty, love of God and fellow man, discipline, self-sacrifice, self-reliance, resourcefulness. This has been a responsibility of parenthood. In our present generation, have we let it slip? Many signs indicate that too many of us have.

Every school child should be taught American history, the incomparable value of Constitutional government, the comparative advantages of the private ownership, free enterprise system. Children from the eighth grade up should be constantly reminded—yes, in school—that the American living standard is three times better than that achieved by any Socialist system in the world, and from five to ten times better than ever produced by Communism anywhere. Are our schools fulfilling this responsibility? Some are, some are not.

A third area for strengthening is the church. Men with abiding faith in God and the character that grows from such conviction did not succumb to the Communist "brain-washing." A church that is fulfilling its high commission equips young men and women with a set of inner principles and with challenging responsibilities. It inspires them toward Christian living, toward self-reliance, toward out-giving. The church is eternal but its mission is the responsibility of each new generation of mankind. Is our generation fulfilling our responsibilities here?

program of the Promotion council, the autumn glory, golf course, Red Cross bloodmobile and other worthwhile campaigns for funds, Little and Pony Leagues, rural development and farm markets, the county fair; we have urged people to vote, give more thought to religion, we have encouraged establishment of industries here, we have pushed the county as a vacation land, pushed the worthwhile activities at high schools, pushed the value of democracy, the Farm Bureau program, the FFBL program, the value of school improvement, the Scout and Four-H programs, and have been optimistic on the economic future of the county.

Is there nothing constructive in this? We'll allow our readers to be the judge—not just one or two individuals.

A newspaper first of all should report events accurately. Coloring up the news with adjectives and superlatives often leaves a newspaper out on a limb, and the readers never blame persons who might originally have sent in the news, but they do blame the newspaper.

How silly we would have appeared had we published the story as presented to us several weeks ago of the glowing accomplishments of the former golf pro, how fortunate Oakland was to get his services, and what a wonderful opportunity it was going to be, and then have to print a few weeks later about him going to sleep in the judge's bed with his shoes on. The newspaper would have been the one ridiculed, not the one who offered us that enthusiastic epistle to begin with. Were we right?

We'll let the case rest—with out readers.

May Acquire More School Grounds For Bloomington

The matter of purchasing additional land for the Bloomington school was discussed by the Board of Education at its meeting in the court house on Tuesday.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent, reported that the present school ground was small and was being hemmed in by prospective housing developments. The board authorized the superintendent to approach property owners adjacent to the school concerning the possibility of land options.

The board also authorized the superintendent to contact land owners adjacent to the Yoder school for an additional acre of land there.

Discuss Closing Mt. Zion

The board also discussed the possibility of closing the Mt. Zion school. Mr. Hawkins said Mrs. Shirley Kent, teacher, indicated she would return to college to complete her certification.

Only fourteen children remain in the school. No definite decision was reached but Mr. Hawkins said it was the general opinion, that if the present teacher did not return, that the school would be closed.

Among other action the board voted to advertise for sale the West Vindex school property, bids to be opened in July; approved sale of Earle Ault's school bus to Hobert L. Bowser, accepted resignation from John Baker, Edward Shuck, Miss Susan Gleason and Russell Davis; reported destruction of a school bus shelter in Grantsville area which had been turned over to the sheriff's office.

Mr. Hawkins said a crew of twenty men were assigned to summer maintenance work with work to be completed by August 15. This included painting both high schools on exterior, work at Yoder, Crellin, Bloomington, North Glade and Deer Park.

The superintendent reported that satisfactory progress was being made on the two new elementary schools. He was hoping Oakland school would be ready for occupancy by November 1.

Mr. Hawkins will attend a four-day state-wide conference on school transportation starting June 25, at University of Maryland. Accompanying him will be John Fitzwater, Robert Martin, of the board staff, and Leslie Savage, Asa Nethken, Charles Harvey, Rodger Bond, of the Bus Drivers' association. The conference theme is "Selection and Training of School Bus Drivers." Safety measures in transportation will also be discussed.

All farmers who plan to harvest more than 15 acres of wheat for grain from one farm in 1958 are eligible to vote.

If marketing quotas are approved by two-thirds or more of the farmers voting in the referendum nationally they will continue in effect for 1958. If quotas remain in effect those farmers who harvest more wheat than the acreage allotment established for their farm and also more than 15 acres will be required to pay a penalty on the excess wheat. Price support at a level between 75 percent and 90 percent of parity will be available to all farmers who do not exceed their wheat acreage allotment if marketing quotas are approved.

If marketing quotas are not approved there will be no penalties for producing excess wheat, but the level of price support will drop to 50 percent of parity for those farmers who harvest within their acreage allotment.

State Barbers Must Renew Certificates

A member of the Board of Barber Examiners has reminded barbers that for the first time their licenses must be renewed each year by June 1.

Licenses, formerly good for life, were made renewable annually under House Bill 649, passed at the last session of the General Assembly.

A three month grace period for compliance is provided for the first year. Any person interested in getting an application blank may obtain one from the Bittner and Stahl Barber shop in Oakland. The blanks must be filled, notarized and sent to the Board of Barber Examiners, 34 Hopkins Place, Baltimore 1, with $2 and his present license. The board will send his new license.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

I Like It

Little else is on my mind these days but 4-H. The flower border will have to wait, my untinsaed business closet gets more nabesiness-like by the week and I've given up all thoughts of painting the study for 4-H has taken over. And I like it.

Each year as I watch the littlest ones and the tellows and girls stepping into adulthood, I become more convinced that there is nothing to equal it in personality development. The root of it all is work. As an outstauding scieutist said, "It's the most forceful social movement in America today."

Last week I was with 1,400 boys and girls, five each from the 120 counties of Kentucky, plus a few junior leaders. The beautiful way they conducted themselves, the fine way in which they entered into discussion and their superior thinking was high adventure for those who worked with them.

It's a thrilling sight for the spectator to sit in a coliseum watching this group swing and sway on the gym floor on party night in units of 100 doing folk games which maybe they've never done before. Yet there were 1400 in stocking feet right in there having the time of their lives. No boys on one wall, girls on another kind of thing.

I watched demonstrations and learned something from every one. I watched girls style their ensembles and gowns and saw a little college freshman walk off with top honors wearing an evening gown that stylists figured could be bought for $169.00. It cost $30.00 including nine petticoats. Incidentally the judges thought that was one too many petticoats.

I heard young men and women pray with humility, sincerity and grace—prayers of their own making.

On Home Soil

This week I'm consumed with another group which call themselves the Monte Vista 4-H club. This group, of course, is the most important of all, and the greatest challenge. It takes so much more wisdom than I have to do the job right. How to teach them without having them lose their individuality. How to help smooth without destroying naturalness. How to get them to want to compete only with themselves. In other words, each tries "to make the best better." How to teach them to want to do a job for the joy of doing it. How to teach modesty in winning and good sportsmanship in losing. With some it comes naturally but it must also be taught for some counties and states are known for this quality. How to fan the spark of creativity and when not to drown it with the rules of what we know as good construction. How to teach them that we sew to wear, cook to eat and that we finish what we start. These are some of the things that challenge us local volunteer club leaders.

—o—

Start Young

The important thing is for the 4-H'er to start young. Anyone watching the demonstrations Monday could see how unselfconscious the ten year olds were. It's something like the right age for Sunday School. I've always felt the three year olds adjust better than those starting at four or five. Maybe only a notion.

When girls and boys begin at ten to show others how to do things—teaching through demonstration—by the time they hit the awkward stage self assurance has already been built in.

Take Judy Buckel, for instance, who narrated the style show and modeled her suit like a professional. She's only a senior in high school.

Or look at Sue Bowman who designed her junior prom dress and with 48 hours of sewing has a gown that could well wear a label "original," and carry a high price tag.

I suppose the local leader is the luckiest of all 4-H workers. She gets to see the soul of the girl and enjoy her for what she is. And she feels a pride in each girl that parallels that of her own children.

Two especially that I won't forget in a long time—partly for their failures. One simply failed to do what she set out to do. She tried and tried and tried and finally said, "There's enough of it to show you how it's done." But her poise was terrific. Not a flick of an eyelid, or a tremble of the finger. Another whispered, "I forgot to grease my pan and I have no fat."

"Never let on," I whispered, "maybe the judges won't catch it."

As she put down the first cookies she glanced my way with a twinkle in her eye. Would you call that bluff? No, I'd say it's rising to the occasion. But I bet when she's an old lady, when she thinks about that day, she'll have a twinkle in her eye.

Oh, it's a great organization—4-H club work.

AMONG FIRST SELLERS—These were among the first sellers at the Farm and Home Market being conducted every Saturday at the Bowman Boat barn at McHenry, in an effort to provide extra income for farm women of the county. Women shown are Mrs. Marvin Beitzel, Bittinger; Mrs. Mildred Peterson, of Loch Lynn; and Miss Joyce McClung, Oakland.

Definite Policy Now Covers School Athletic Contest

A definite policy in regard to high school athletics was determined at a meeting of the Board of Education on Tuesday.

The regulations were approved after a discussion among Board members and Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent.

They recommended eight football games per year, and under no circumstances to exceed nine; not more than 18 basketball games, not more than 10 baseball games. They stressed the short baseball season in the county necessitating too many postponements and too many games in a given week as a result. They recommended not more than two games during any one week. They also felt it unreasonable for a school to travel 100 miles one way to play baseball and suggested elimination of such schools from the schedule.

They approved junior teams but a limited number of games, perhaps alternating junior high and junior varsity teams in preliminaries, thus providing half as many games for junior teams as for varsity.

They recommended girls' varsity teams to be played during daytime, with possible exception of Northern and Southern.

They recommended that school not be dismissed for more than one game of football, basketball or baseball per year, with others set for Saturdays, at night or after school hours.

They recommended that high school athletes be held responsible for reasonable academic attainments, and when much time is demanded for sports participation that schools provide opportunities for extra help in class work as needed.

The recommended every precaution in transporting teams over hazardous roads during winter.

Final authority for all recommendations are in the hands of the principals and the board acknowledged there may be exceptions to the rules.

The board in declaring that an athletics program which does not monopolize the extra curricular program of the school is an invaluable asset to adolescent youth, commended principals of both Northern and Southern, as well as coaches and players for good sportsmanship and for progress made in development of varsity sports.

The Board said the recommendations did not affect existing schedule commitments but were made as a guide to the future.

WEDDING DAY

"With this ring I thee wed."

Our marriage is beginning where a marriage should begin—in Church. Our hands meet across the Bible. My eyes fall to the printed page, and the verse I see there is so appropriate that I catch my breath in awe and amazement.

Here is the story of a king who long ago sought for a virtuous woman and was told that her price would be far above rubies. Here are detailed the qualities that a truly virtuous woman would have—faithfulness, industry, thrift, compassion, courage, strength, honor.

As I look up at my new husband, I feel a surge of humility. I make a silent pledge that these words in Proverbs will be my guide as his wife. They're a challenge, I know. A big challenge! But, with the help of the Church, I'm going to try to live up to them.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Genesis 37
Devotional Reading: Psalm 68:1-6

Family Tensions

Lesson for June 16, 1957

"THE family is a divine institution. That is to say, God invented it. He thought of it before men did. He intended it. So it should be a success. Yet the family is also a human institution — that is to say, all homes are made up of human beings. Every home therefore suffers from the ailments that nag at all things human. A successful home succeeds in spite of all the human handicaps. A home that does not succeed, fails because these handicaps strain it too much.

Dr. Foreman

Tensions

A favorite modern word for these stresses and strains within a home is "tensions." The word is new but the thing is old. Tension is what makes the teen-ager scream, and her mother feels like screaming, "I can't stand this another minute!" Tensions are what make meal-times regular battle-grounds, what give mothers nervous prostration and fathers peptic ulcers before their time, what may make children remember their childhood with a kind of shudder. Tensions are what keep juvenile delinquents from going home, tensions may even be the beginning of lost minds. Now the thing is old, as was just said. In the home of Jacob, who was a God-fearing man, there was plenty of it. There was tension between him and his wives, between the wives themselves, between some wives and some sons, between the sons, between him and his sons. The family, so to speak, was pulled every which way, and actually at last broke up.

What Can't Be Helped

Some tensions cannot be helped. They are in the nature of things. In a home there are persons of different ages, sexes and temperaments. This cannot be avoided. Yet the "battle of the sexes" rages from generation to generation, younger people and older people sometimes very hard to get along with, and vice versa. In Jacob's home he was much older than his wives, very much older than his sons. Men and women in those days and times probably differed even more sharply than now, kept separate as they were for much of the lives. And in Jacob's home temperamental differences surely could hardly have been more striking. The thing to remember is that since these strains cannot be helped, something good can be made of them. The man's point of view is different from the woman's, of course; but it takes both of them to make a healthy human point of view. Youth needs the caution and the wisdom of older people, older people need the optimism and enthusiasm of younger people to keep them from withering on the vine. Different temperaments can balance one another. A home can capitalize on its very handicaps.

What Can Be Helped

Nevertheless, some strains and stresses are just the result of human meanness, human sin. They can be helped, they call for repentance and change. Consider the home of Jacob. His wives did not get along together; but while it was in those times legal enough, it was foolish for a man of his temperament to have married all those four women, especially as he loved only one of them. Some of the trouble arose from young Joseph's 17-year-old conceit. Perhaps he couldn't help his dreams of grandeur; but he did not need to tell those dreams at the breakfast table. And some of the trouble lay in Jacob's playing up his son Joseph.

How to Help It

A foundation-stone for harmony in the home or anywhere else, is harmony with God. One who lives close to God will remember that God's will is always for peace, never for strife. The soul conscious of being forgiven by God will be more ready to forgive others. The spirit blessed by the grace of God—and God's grace comes only to the humble—will not be forever standing on its rights and complaining about its wrongs. It would be a good thing for many a family all nervous with many tensions, to read together the thirteenth chapter of I Corinthians, the great chapter on love-in practice, and then spend a while in silence, each one thinking: Does this describe me? And if not, do I not need God's forgiveness, and a fresh start?

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

The Cost of Ignorance

We hear a great deal these days about the high cost of education. The debate goes on whether or not we shall have Federal aid to the states to better educate their children. I, for one do not know enough of the detailed facts about various types of aid to know which is best.

The most recent issue of the Maryland Parent-Teacher magazine quotes the Constitution of this state which says, "It is the duty and responsibility of the state to educate its children" I would translate that to mean that tax money paid to the state should be equally divided among all the political subdivisions to adequately educate each child, whether in Garrett county, where our per capita income is low or in Montgomery county where it is high. The education of each individual child is of primary importance, and should be as nearly equa, as it is possible.

I would agree that the cost of a good education comes high. It means sacrifice, hard work self-discipline. The price of a fine new automobiles comes high too. So do the thonsand and one other worthwhile things that we buy and make sacrifices for.

But, have you ever stopped to think how very much higher is the cost of ignorance? What abont the pitiful plight of many people in our country, unable to make a decent living for their families because of ignorance? What about these homes where children grow up without intelligent guidance, inspiration and sometimes not even enough food and clothing for good health? Who could measure in terms of human values, let alone in economic values, the cost of the frustrations, the complexes of personality, the personal unhappiness that keep many of these children from realizing a happy and fulfilling life because they are always handicapped by the ignorance that daily surrounds them.

There is a definite link between ignorance and crime. Ignorance breeds unhappiness, immaturity and instability. Even the records in divorce courts prove this statement. The ignorant person is more easily led by those who would seek power in an improper way. They are incapable of creative action in their communities and for the public welfare. Crime, in all its ugliness is a direct product of ignorance of some kind.

In our church study groups, we read a great deal about the world's illiteracy. Dr. Frank Laubaugh, who has done more than any other living person to teach men and women to read and write, says there are a billion people in our world who are illiterate. They are the prime targets of the power-hungry men in every land especially the Communists. Their pitiful ignorance makes them unable to protect their rights, or even know what they are. In this manner, they constitute a threat to world peace and stability.

The whole problem of ignorance is a world wide one of great magnitude. In my opinion, next to world peace, it is our greatest one.

Right here in our own state of Maryland we are computing the cost of good education for our children. All of us should strive to see that the money for public education is spent wisely and well. We should cooperate in every way to see that our schools are the best they can be made.

I am convinced of one thing. Good schools, adequately equipped with the very best trained teachers we can afford are an investment in our future well-being. It is like "Casting the bread on the waters" which shall return to us four-told. Yes, the cost of good education is high, but the cost of ignorance is much higher. Its price is disastrous.

"I was holding the ladder I got in the Want Ads—and my wife fell on me!"

Eisenbower called on GOP congressional leaders to shoulder their "special responsibility" to fight for his legislative program.

A Message from Clinton W. Englander, "Your Pharmacist"

Last month we celebrated Mother's Day, and just so he won't feel left out of the picture, on June 16th, Father's Day, everybody puts the spotlight on Dad.

The best tribute we have ever heard about fathers came from a youngster who said, "We have such good fun with my daddy that I wish I had known him sooner."

Fathers are important people to have. A father is a banker provided by nature. He takes care of all the important things, while mother makes the decisions about unimportant things. Of course, it is seldom that anything important turns up, usually never.

Fathers are sometimes taken for granted, but not in our pharmacy. We appreciate and understand them and welcome their visits to us.

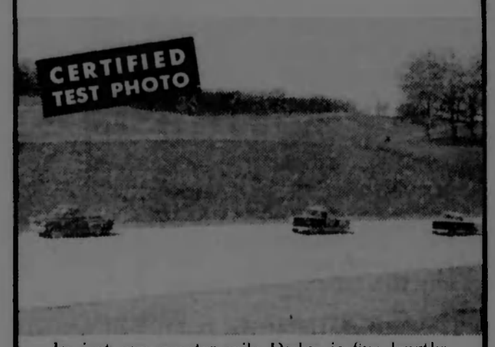
DODGE TRUCKS most powerful of low-priced 3

Dodge matches reserve power against truck "C" and truck "F" in this test for safer passing ability. All three are comparably equipped and loaded with 1000 lbs. A skilled test driver is behind each wheel. Here's the flag, they're off!

Dodge takes an early lead and at 30 m.p.h. is widening the gap. Truck "C" and truck "F" are straining to deliver their peak performance. But that Dodge 204-hp. V-8 keeps gaining easily. Its added power means less wear, fewer repairs, too.



In just one quarter mile Dodge is five lengths ahead of truck "C", seven lengths out front of truck "F". And this is but one of a complete series of actual road tests that prove Dodge the outstanding value of the low-priced three.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

Waste and Extravagance?

Much has been said in recent weeks about the value of foreign aid and mutual security as a bulwark against the probings of international communism. And, there is a measure of substance in these arguments for the fallacy of a "go it alone" policy has long since been demonstrated. However, it is not the policy with which the American public has become exasperated—it is the manner in which billions of U. S. tax dollars have been spent on projects of questionable purpose under the guise of foreign aid.

To the hard-pressed taxpayer, specific examples are far more convincing than generalities of policy. Even a cursory review of the record confirms the conclusion that much of these funds have been used for wasteful and extravagant undertakings. Recent Congressional testimony revealed that our 1953 foreign aid grant to Iran was used, in part, to pay a bonus of $320,000 to the army, $300,000 to the gendarmerie, and $120,000 to the police. Another program for that country involved a $2 million subsidy, through a special dollar exchange rate, to the well-to-do sponsors and parents of Iranian students completing their college training abroad.

Still another—during the red-carpet stay of President Sukarno of Indonesia in the United States, in 1956, a $50,000 documentary film was paid for by the American people. Though a gift from our government, this film was later shown in movie threatres throughout Indonesia for an admission fee. Sukarno subsequently rejected the basic wisdom of western democracy, and his affinity today with the Russian orbit is undeniable.

Foreign aid funds have likewise been used for such doubtful projects as dress suits for Grecian undertakers . . . public baths for Egyptian camel drivers . . . roads in Iran that lead nowhere . . . an Italian village in which no one wishes to live . . . airplane excursions for Arabians to visit their religious shrine at Mecca . . . a 15-mile 6-lane highway connecting Lisbon with the gambling resort of Estoril, Portugal . . . a silica plant in Formosa which closed after 30 days operation for a lack of silica . . . and on, and on. Curiously, $300 million given the government of Norway was promptly applied to a reduction of its national debt. Denmark did the same with its grant of $100 million. One billion was funneled into Indo-China before that country capitulated to the Reds.

It can be safely asked—is this waste and extravagance?

Crime and Correction

Recently, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, reported that more major crimes were committed in the United States in 1956 than ever before. For the first time the Nation's crime total has exceeded the 2,500,000 mark. Actually, 2,563,150 crimes were committed in 1956, an increase of 13.3 percent over 1955.

This increase in crime, unless steps are taken to reduce it, can profoundly influence the character and morality of our society to the detriment of present and future generations. For, as Mr. Hoover has emphasized, the greatest increase in crime has been by juvenile offenders.

The Congress has only limited jurisdiction to cope with this problem as its power extends solely to Federal criminal law, while most major crimes occur under State law. In this regard, I have asked the Senate Special Subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency and the Subcommittee on Improvements in the Federal Criminal Code, as a member of both, to re-examine all Federal criminal laws with a view to strengthening them and to increase penalties provided thereunder.

Obviously here is a matter of serious concern to all government officials, both Federal and State, as well as to the public in general. It also follows that if something is to be done to arrest this increase, more cooperation is essential between the law enforcement agencies of the Federal, State and local governments throughout the United States.

To meet this essential objective, I have suggested to President Eisenhower that it would be in the public interest to convene here in Washington a conference between Federal and State and Municipal enforcement authorities to develop plans for combating this dangerous increase in major crimes. In my opinion, State Attorneys General and State police chiefs, as well as Municipal enforcement agencies, should participate in such a conference.

A White House spokesman, in acknowledging my recommendation, states that while a "high degree of cooperation exists between the Federal Government and State and local governments . . . ways and means of increasing this type of cooperation are under constant study." Mr. Hoover tells me that "efforts to effect daily liaison and cooperation with local, county and state law enforcement agencies in problems of mutual interest have been intensified." Only through vigorous and coordinated action on the Federal, State and local fronts can this disgraceful crime rate be reduced, and a conference, as I have proposed, will provide the needed momentum, vision and cohesion.

Johnson Grass Is Public Enemy No. 1

Johnson grass is Maryland's public enemy No. 1 when it comes to weeds. In fact it is officially outlawed by the state noxious weed laws. Every farmer is urged to do all he can to eradicate it.

The first move is to catch it early before it has a chance to spread over the whole farm, says Paul Santelmann, extension weed specialist, University of Maryland. A couple of chemical treatments may clean it up, though the most effective chemical for killing Johnson grass is equally poisonous to corn and soybeans. But it pays, at the sacrifice of a little of the crop, to eradicate even the smallest spot of Johnson grass.

The stems of Johnson grass, coming up from underground root stocks at this time, look a lot like small corn plants a few inches to more than a foot tall. They also look much like Sudan grass, especially as the stems often grow taller and much thicker than corn stalks. In July and August the grass will develop a spreading type of heads bearing seed with a purple tinge.

Unless controlled Johnson grass will take over a whole field or a farm. Originally the invader may have started from seed brought onto the farm in forage grass, alfalfa or lespedeza seed. Or it may have come in on someone's combine or other machinery. It is also spread by cultivation, pieces of roots being cut off and dragged by machinery to start new patches in the field.

Poison treatments are most effective when the plants are 12 to 18 inches tall, Dr. Santelmann says. Dalapon is the most effective and the cheapest chemical for this purpose. Two sprayings with one pound of the chemical in four gallons of water are recommended. The farmer can concentrate on large spots of Johnson grass with the tractor sprayer, and small ones with a hand sprayer. It may cost up to $30 or $40 an acre to chemically to eradicate Johnson grass, but it is worth the cost to keep it from spreading.

Whether fighting the No. 1 enemy weed with chemicals or by special crop rotations, the farmer can get further information from University of Maryland Agronomy Mimeo No. 16, at the County Agent's office.

Along The Potomac

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

I have introduced a bill which returns to the States the power to enforce their own laws dealing with seditions or subversive acts. It in no way prevents Federal officials from enforcing the Federal Subversive Activities Control Act My bill was made necessary by a recent Supreme Court decision that held that State statutes do not apply because the Federal law preempts the field.

Too few of us understand the menace of the Communist conspiracy, nor are we aware of its constant efforts to spread its evil concepts. I am afraid that our military might and the size of our stockpile of atomic weapons gives us a false sense of security. The spread of communism will not be halted by arms alone.

Our problem stems from the fact that rarely do you find a person—and that includes government officials, teachers and religious leaders—who has knowledge of the true nature of communism. We make a serious mistake when we view communism just as an economic school of thought. It is in fact a cult—a "religion" of promise.

Communism plans to rebuild the world and its men through the application of our knowledge of science. Scientific Marxism operates on three basic "laws." The first, and underlying tenet is atheism. On the atheistic doctrine is built the second communist "law" of materialism—a "law" that holds man is nothing but matter in motion—he has no heart and no soul. The third "law" is economic determinism. This means that man's personality, thoughts, emotions, religious experiences, family attitudes are determined by the economic environment in which he lives.

Communism has spread itself throughout the world on the wings of promise. It promises to conquer the world, and out of that conquest to create a new world in which all conflicts between persons and nations will be eliminated. To do this communism promises to create a new man—the perfect man.

Communism can be defeated only ideologically and spiritually. We are not engaged in a war just for men's minds—it is a war for the minds and the hearts and souls of men. We must not forget that. Next week I'd like to discuss the weapons we must use in our fight against communism.

GOLDEN ROCKET 88 HOLIDAY SEDAN

"He sure knows how to pick 'em!"

Bridesmaid: You mean Lucille . . . or are you talking about their Oldsmobile?

Best Man: Both! But I was really looking at their car. What a beauty!

Bridesmaid: They sure are a lucky couple.

Best Man: And smart, too. That Olds costs less than you'd think. It has style that will stay in style. They get real comfort . . . a wonderful ride . . . and the big Rocket Engine . . .

Bridesmaid: She looked so lovely . . .

Best Man: They'll really find out how smart they are to own an Olds at trade-in time. Why, an Olds brings a better price than lots of the most expensive cars, even after a couple of years of use.

Bridesmaid: You know what I wish? I wish that someday . . .

Best Man: That you can own an Olds? Don't waste your wishes. Let's take a ride in my Golden Rocket 88. Maybe your dreams'll come true sooner than you expect.

We use our phone as our bargain shopper

I'm a mother with three small children who are too young to be left alone. As a result, I can hardly ever find the time to go to a sale in person.

So I've made my phone my bargain shopper. And does it save me money!

Last month, for instance, I saved over $60 on a TV set. They were on sale but, as usual, I didn't have the time to go to the sale. I phoned the store and explained my situation. They were nice enough to send one out on trial, which we liked and bought.

We also use our phone to hunt for bargains, such as one-day sales on play clothes for the kids, gardening needs, many things a growing family uses.

Our telephone bargain-hunting savings are often small. But we believe they add up to enough so that our phone pays for itself—and we know our phone gives us more time to live our lives as we like.

Dear Bob, I read your letter in last week's Republican and am sorry to hear that the children aren't doing so good. I miss them too. You say you want me to come back—you say you love me, that you don't wan't our family broken up! Why didn't you think of all these things before? Me, I've been doing a lot of thinking and am undecided which is the worse—to have our family broken up or to have my back broken washing for fourteen kids on that old worn out wash board, that I've been using for the past fifteen years. Guess you never considered that did you? Now if you want me back here's how you can prove it. Take my old wash board to Showalter's Appliance Store in Salisbury and trade it in on one of those famous Speed Queen washers (the one with the bowl shaped tub that washes so clean). Dick will allow you as much for my wash board as he would for the average old washer and he sells on easy payments too! And just think, he carries a complete line of Speed Queen parts. Now don't give me that old excuse that you can't get away from your work cause I know Showalter's are open every evening till 8. He always has a special deal for his customers too. Now—prove that you love me! Buy me a Speed Queen at Showalter's—then I'll come back. Shirley. —Adv. 15-1t

Heart Attack Fatal To Rev. Paul Parker

Rev. Paul Shaw Parker, D.D., pastor of the Deep Creek Baptist church since 1950, died last Thursday morning at the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland where he had been admitted three days previous following a heart attack. The death occurred just as The Republican was preparing to go to press, so a bare announcement was all that was possible to publish last week.

A son of the late Rev. Charles D. and Alverda Shaw Parker, he was born in Florence, N. J., March 6, 1886. Like his father he followed the ministry, has two sons licensed to preach and a son-in-law who is an ordained minister.

Rev. Parker is survived by his widow, Pauline E. Parker, five children, Mrs. Alverda Shaw and Charles D. Parker, 2nd, both of Lewes, Del.; Mrs. Millard P. Whetzel, Baptistown, N. J.; Paul Shaw Parker, Jr., Buffalo, N. Y.; and Vincent Chester Parker, Wilmington, Del. He also leaves 11 grandchildren.

Rev. Parker performed the marriage ceremonies for each of his five children and held dedication services for each of his grandchildren. He also immersed his children.

He holds an honorary degree as doctor of divinity and was graduated from Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Philadelphia in 1934.

His pastorates included churches at Chester Springs, Pa.; Clearfield, Pa.; Kane, Pa.; Phillipsburg, N. J.; and Deep Creek Lake Baptist church. During his career in religious work he served as president of the City Mission of Baltimore; was moderator of Chester County (Pa.) Baptist association, Pennsylvania State chaplain for the POS of A.; was chaplain of CCC camps, chaplain of civil defense in Clearfield, president of Baptist Ministers Convention of Pennsylvania; a past grand of Kane Lodge IOOF, president of the Council of Churches at Phillipsburg, and president of the Ministerium of Phillipsburg.

He was ordained in the Vincent Baptist church at Chester Springs where he was interred in the church cemetery. The body remained at the Leighton Funeral home until Friday afternoon when it was taken to the residence at Deep Creek Lake. Funeral services were held in the Baptist church at Chester Springs on Sunday afternoon, followed by interment in the church cemetery. Rev. William C. Rogers, pastor of the Loch Lynn Baptist church, officated at the service here.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

As we continue our travels through the Epistle of James, we will consider this week the statement recorded in the first chapter, verses 5 through 8.

If any of you lacks wisdom, let him ask God who gives to all men generously and without reproaching, and it will be given him. But let him ask in faith, with no doubting, for he who doubts is like a wave of the sea that is driven and tossed by the wind. For that person must not suppose that a double-minded man, unstable in all his ways, will receive anything from the Lord.

It takes a very big man to be small enough to realize that he needs advice from someone outside of himself. This is not the normal way of the so-called intellectual. Most intellectuals, though they seek other men's opinions on things, readily have their minds made up before hand, and read the other man's opinions only to prove how right they were in the first place. Most people like to think that they are pretty self-sufficient, and authority, from almost any source is something that most people do not want to hear. I have heard many men say that the main reason that they did not like their service life was the fact that they were always having to take orders from someone higher up. I know that this would be a stumbling block to me.

I imagine that a lot of this type of attitude comes about as a result of relating that other men are not very bright when it comes to giving orders, and that when many men get a little authority, it goes right to their head, and they act like they own the world.

But James is not here advising us to seek our knowledge in the opinions of other men, or our life's pattern in the orders of other men. He is telling us that the only real source of knowledge and authority is God Himself. Who is the Author and Creator of all things, and Who knows best how this life should be run. And the Lord has been indeed generous in His gifts to man. Even the most humble of men has the possibilities, if he will use them, to live on a far higher plane than any of the other animals that inhabit the earth.

Note also that James uses the term "wisdom" when he speaks of what the Lord gives. Many men can have mere knowledge of an area of life, perhaps of some area in science, but it takes "wisdom" from God's Word to know how to use that knowledge. When I think ahmg these lines, the clearest illustration that comes to my mind as to the difference between knowledge and "wisdom," is the two possibilities that man has in the use of nuclear power. Mere knowledge can be a power of destruction in the world, as in the case of the infamous H-bomb. "Wisdom", from God Himself, could be used to bring man an even greater control over nature, a better way of living, a tremendous force for good in new fields of medicine, industrial power, electricity and other areas too numerous to mention. The difference as I see it between mere knowledge and the "wisdom" of God is the difference between creation and destruction.

Then James goes on to admonish all seekers of God's wisdom to do so "in faith, with no doubting, for he who doubts is like a wave of the sea that is driven and tossed by the wind." To seek after God's wisdom without the firm assurance that God is big enough to provide it is sheer stupidity. To seek after wisdom with the rock-based knowledge in the heart of your soul that this is what God wants for man can give men as individuals, and man as a race, the new found hope that God's will can indeed be done on earth, as it is heaven, at least by the man who seeks after God's wisdom.

And is is only when men seek after God's wisdom, the wisdom of forgiveness and love, that they will ever find the life of peace for which they have been created. As long as men are "double-minded, unstable in all his ways," as witness the relation of the U. S. and Russia in the United Nations, they will never find this peace. It can come only when they all accept God's Son, Jesus Christ, as their Lord and Savior, for in Christ was God's wisdom fulfilled.

New Look Needed . . .

Perhaps a new look needs to be taken at the summer recreation program for the young people of this community. It might be lopsided and a trifle out of joint.

Backers of the Pony League and the Little League are bemoaning the fact that they are not getting the support they should, that not even parents come out to encourage their sons. Is it possible there can be too much of a good thing?

Let's take a good look. Here are fifteen boys on each team, or a total of sixty in the Little League and a total of sixty in the Pony League. Some two hundred parents are involved, because in some cases parents have boys in both leagues. In order to give undivided attention and support, these parents are expected to be at the ball field four evenings each week, buy hot dogs and soft drinks, and root their heads off, and keep their tempers under control. These games occur right around meal time, so on four evenings a week the home life of some 100 families is sadly interrupted and upset.

Now if parents happen to be involved in other activities the week doesn't have enough hours. There is activity at the lake, at Herrington Manor. There is boy scout activity, and if these parents have daughters in the family there is the additional item of girl scout activities and the necessity of spending some time with the side of the family that should be of equal importance in the scheme of things.

One Little League father remarked just yesterday, "Honest, after a day's work, and I go out and attend two ball games, I am completely poo-ed."

There could be such a thing as over regimentation. After all, children have to have a little leisure time—as well as parents.

Could it be that one double-header a week for each league would be enough?

We mean no particular critisim of any person or any activity, but merely want this to be the instigator of some careful thinking on the part of everyone. We are all interested in our boys—and girls. What we want to decide is—what is the best for all concerned.

Jack Kight Patient In Hospital After Wreck on Sunday

Jack Kight, of College Park, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Melvin Kight, Oakland, was involved in a wreck Sunday through no fault of his own and was a patient in the Potomac Valley hospital in Keyser for two days.

One woman died as a result of the accident.

Mrs. John Jarrell, 21, of Washington, D. C., died a few minutes after the automobile in which she was a passenger crashed into a car traveling in the opposite direction on U.S. route 50, about four miles west of Burlington.

West Virginia State Trooper C. C. Oliver, stationed at Keyser, said that the car in which Mrs. Jarrell was traveling east on Route 50 and was being driven by her husband, John Jarrell, 19, a serviceman, stationed in the Washington area.

Trooper Oliver said Jarrell's car apparently skidded on the wet highway and into the path of a westbound car being driven by Jack Kight. The car skidded sideways and the right side of the car in which Mrs. Jarrell was riding struck the front of Kight's car.

The dead woman, who formerly lived in Kentucky, was expecting her first child in about two months, the trooper reported.

Both drivers were admitted to Potomac Valley hospital but were not considered seriously hurt. Kight sustained head lacerations and Jarrell, minor bruises. Also slightly hurt was Jarrell's younger brother, about 11. He was kept at the hospital for overnight observation. Kight also remained at the hospital for further x-rays on Tuesday, according to his parents, who visited him in the hospital Sunday night. He came to Oakland on Tuesday, where he will remain for a few days.

Trooper Oliver said Jarrell would be charged with negligent homicide. Kight was enroute home to spend a few days on account of the hot weather in the Baltimore-Washington area.

Name Roger DeBerry As Star Farmer of Regional Division

Roger DeBerry, vocational agriculture student at Southern High school, has just been selected as Star Farmer of Region 1, it was announced by Richard Bishoff, voag instructor. Region one includes Allegany and Garrett counties.

Roger is one of six boys selected for this honor in the state and will be competing for Maryland Star farmer award next week at College Park.

Roger was selected, according to Bishoff, on the basis of his outstanding supervised farming program, demonstrated abilities in leadership in F. F. A. and school work, and application of approved agricultural practices on his home farm.

His supervised farming program, taken as a part of his course in voag, consists of 1,000 turkeys, 11 head of Angus beef cattle, 4 brood sows, 2 gilts and 3 litters of pigs. He has been president, vice-president and treasurer of the Oakland chapter of Future Farmers of America and has held an office in the student council of Southern High.

Bishoff said among the many new practices he has introduced on his home farm are medicated and balanced feeding, running water to all buildings, improved pasture, construction of new insulated central buildings, and increased use of farm machinery.

Wells Bray Charged With Four Offenses

Gordon Wells Bray was afoul of the law this week as the result of several alleged offenses. On two of the charges he was placed under $5,000 bond.

He was charged with being drunk and disorderly and with destruction of property at the home of Flora Michaels, near Swanton, one day last week.

At a hearing before Trial Magistrate Earl C. Friend on Monday he was found guilty. On Tuesday he was fined $500 and sentenced to serve one year in the House of Correction but the sentence was to be suspended upon payment of fine and costs. He was placed under $1,000 bond in this case.

Magistrate Friend also told Bray that if at any time he was drunk or got into trouble he would have to serve the year plus any additional sentence given for breaking his parole.

He was tried Tuesday morning on a motor vehicle case in which he was charged with reckless driving. The magistrate dismissed this charge for lack of evidence.

Then Constable Mark Moon served him with still another warrant, this time on a charge of assault with intent to kill. The charge was preferred by Dale Beam, and was alleged to have happened on June 16, in a local apartment. Officers said Bray fired a shot through a closet door. In this case Bray prayed a jury trial and was placed under $2,000 bond.

In still another case on Monday his wife, Betty Grace swore out a warrant charging him with assault and battery, but later withdrew the charges and said she would refuse to testify.

County Gets Share Of Income Taxes

Checks totaling $15,581,452.91, representing a share of income tax collected during the State's fiscal year from income tax returns filed for the calendar year 1956, have been mailed to counties and incorporated towns of Maryland, it was announced by J. Millard Tawes, state comptroller.

Garrett county received $25,028.76.

Mr. Tawes said this was the largest distribution of income tax revenue ever made, exceeding by more than a million dollars the amount distributed last year. He said there would be another distribution from the 1956 return just as soon as all of the returns for that year had been fully processed.

Maryland has distributed a share of its income tax to its subdivisions since 1939.

In the breakdown for Garrett county the County Commissioners received $16,759.92; Accident, $249.33; Deer Park, $128.12, Friendsville, $360.72, Grantsville, $875.75; Kitzmiller, $205.43; Loch Lynn, $164.79; Mt. Lake Park, $513.95; and Oakland, $5,770.75.

Church Group Meets

The United Lutheran Church Women of Emanuel Church in Bittinger met recently with Mrs. Robert Glotfelty presiding.

Mrs. Robert Backel led the topic "People Do Starve for Books" concerning the language literature literature program. The lesson brought out the fact that lack of progress in some countries is due partly to illiteracy, and that opening the door of Christian truth and knowledge could help. The work of Dr. Wesley Sauter and Dr. Frank Laubach in the literacy movement was discussed. Mrs. Lawrence Brenneman will lead the July topic on the work of the chaplains.

Baseball Players Involved In Crash

Two members of the Grantsville baseball team of the Pen-Mar league were among five persons injured in a triple crash early last Saturday evening on U. S. route 40, near Frostburg. Four of the five, including one of the ballplayers, were hospitalized.

The crash resulted when the brakes of a tractor-trailer failed and the trailer rig skidded into a truck and then jackknifed into an automobile.

The automobile, owned and driven by Charles O. Bender, 53, Grantsville businessman, was returning from Centerville where the Grantsville nine had lost to the Pennsylvania team. Passengers in Bender's car were John A. Keister, Jr., Salisbury, Pa., player-manager; Thomas Schroyer, 17, of Friendsville. Bender and Schroyer were admitted to Memorial hospital in Cumberland. The former suffered a deep laceration of the scalp and complained of pain in the chest and right leg. Schroyer sustained multiple lacerations of the left hand, arm and shoulder, abrasions of the left hip and also complained of pain in the chest.

Admitted to Miners hospital in Frostburg were Gus Martin, 43, Joplin, Mo., driver of the trailer rig; Mrs. Rose Marie Foreman, 34, Martinsburg, a passenger in a truck which was hauling household furniture to Mansfield, O.

Tfc. Glenn D. Folk, who investigated, said Martin, traveling east, was descending a grade on route 40, about seven and one-half miles west of Frostburg and went into a skid as he attempted to negotiate a right turn. As he attempted to straighten his rig the vehicle swerved into the westbound lane into a truck driven by Steve Franko, of Mansfield. The rig then jackknifed into the Bender car which was following Franko's truck.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

The Red China Lobby

The recent decision of the United Kingdom to ease trade restrictions against Red China may herald the end of American leadership of the free world. This potentially dangerous development has given increased impetus to the morally bankrupt element in this nation which champions closer cultural, commercial and diplomatic relations with the outlaw regime of Red China. Indeed, the Red China lobby—heretofore extremely cautious in its marblehearted propaganda—has seized upon this event to lend respectability to its corrupt efforts.

By its summary abandonment of special trade restrictions against Red China, Great Britain has dealt a four-pronged blow to the cause to which American world leadership is dedicated—peace and the eventual liberation and freedom of the Communist-enslaved peoples without resort to war.

First, this ill-advised action will advance the industrialization of Red China. Secondly, it will not only shore-up the shaky economy of the Red regime of China, but will lend untold dignity and prestige to the renegade government of Mao Tse-tung. Thirdly, it will enhance the chances for membership in the United Nations of Red China—an eventuality which would make a mockery of the avowed aims and purposes of the U. N. and would render that body even more ineffectual as an instrument of peace. Lastly, this fallacious deed has given renewed courage to those elements in this nation which would carelessly abandon a thoroughly realistic policy of a trade embargo against Red China—the only policy which in the long run will weaken the Communist stranglehold on the teeming masses of the Orient and the peoples of other satellite nations.

There is no logical reason—from a strictly humanitarian point of view, or otherwise—for increased trade with Red China. It is criminally naive to argue that removal of trade restrictions will serve to improve the lot of the masses on the Chinese mainland. This fact was never more graphically illustrated than by the action of the Chinese Communist rulers in exporting millions of tons of rice—even though Chinese people in the famine-stricken provinces were literally starving to death—in exchange for rubber from Ceylon at considerably higher than the world market price.

If the United States acquiesces to the relentless pressure of the Red China Lobby at this crucial juncture in world affairs, we will have scuttled the continued opportunity for free world leadership and paved the way for the ultimate sabotage and final destruction of the United Nations.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Not Easy to Beat Him

The notable development of the last week in Washington has been the strong swing of sentiment in favor of the President in his fight to keep Congress from tearing his budget to pieces and disregarding his leadership both in the fields of defense and in finance. This swing has occurred not only among the people generally but it has certainly been reflected in both the House and Senate.

Just a few days ago, the left-wing leaders of journalism and politics, whose somewhat bedraggled little hero, Mr. Adlai Stevenson, is now in Europe, which seems the recognized refuge of badly beaten candidates for the presidency, were joyously shouting that the President had "lost" the battle, that he "would not fight" for what he believed, that Congress was no longer "afraid of Ike"; that "the people had lost confidence in him," that as a leader he was a "bust" etc., etc. They went on to point out that his Cabinet was beginning to fall apart; that Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey all are anxious to retire, that he was finding great difficulty in getting capable men to fill their places. In the last few days Mr. Humphrey has, in fact, retired and the President seems to have had no trouble at all in finding an excellent successor.

There was, of course, a trace of truth in all these allegations. They were by no means baseless. However, the trouble with so many of his opponents is that they so desperately want to see the Eisenhower program fail that they gave way to wishful thinking. They mistook patience for cowardice, which was not only a mistake but a very stupid one. They clearly thought that the head of a government who kept calm, did not curse or pound the table or lose his temper, lacked nerve. They could not be, as one of television's comics is fond of saying, "more wronger." Nor does the explanation of the sharpened public interest behind the President lie in the fact that a new and helpful speech writer—Mr. Emmet Hughes has joined the White House staff. Apparently, Mr Hughes is performing for Mr. Eisenhower the same kind of service that the late Mr Roosevelt had from the talented "Tommy" Corcoran, the late Gen. Hugh Johnson, Mr. Benjamin Cohen, the late playwright Robert Sherwood and various others. Those who now are trying to attribute something sinister to Mr. Hughes's literary services to Mr. Eisenhower found nothing but praise for the completeness with which Mr. Roosevelt relied upon his galaxy of stars for all his literary and oratorical output, including ideas as well as words.

The truth is that there was nothing really remarkable about those two short speeches of the President last week except that they expressed with great clarity, unmistakable sincerity and complete simplicity the two overwhelming desires which this President has cherished since the day of his election to his first term—November, 1952. These desires, which are known by every political and personal friend close enough to him to share his regard and respect, were well expressed early this week by one of the most important journalists in the country who by no means has been a consistent political Eisenhower supporter. On the contrary, quite recently he has adopted a sharply critical attitude and is one of those who felt that the President had badly bungled in his effort to get his program through Congress. Now he says in effect that the reason for the effective turn of popular opinion in his favor is because the people as a whole believe his first great desire is to achieve, through a firm and honorable disarmament agreement with Russia, a lasting peace for the United States and the world, second, to utilize this peace to curtail waste, reduce taxes and make this a better country in which to live for all classes, races and creeds.

Fundamentally, it is about these two things that this President is most deeply concerned. And it is because of this fact that his friends believe, despite the power of the opposition and the skill of the politicians, he will win in the end. Of course, there is room for mistakes and he may make some fatal ones before adjournment. There is no denying that between the time this piece is printed and the adjournment of Congress another switch may occur. But, as Senator Byrd who differs with Mr. Eisenhower on the budget has often said, it isn't easy to beat a popular President even when your cause is just. And Senator Byrd ought to know. He has unsuccessfully tried to do exactly that with two of his own party.

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

(Editor's Note: Glenn A. Green, Assosociate Director of the National Education Program, has persuaded Dr. Benson to let him write this week's column so that an event in Dr. Benson's life might be shared with readers of the column.)

Dr. Benson, as many of this column's readers know, is president of Harding College as well as the Director of the National Education Program. Harding is unique. It has pioneered in developing educational courses and materials on the American way of life. Hundreds of public school and college educators from throughout the nation have come to Harding during recent years to observe its methods and obtain its materials.

The Year Book of the 1957 Graduating Class contained a dedication requiring nine pages of beautiful color photography and presenting an inspiring text written by the Senior Class, which said:

"Dedicated to building a greater trust in God and appreciation for our nation, Harding College has founded an educational program that has merited nation-wide acknowledgement. Harding views the American way of life as having its anchorage in God's laws. She stressed recognition of the worth and dignity of self-reliance and freedom, thus generating a dynamic force advancing the welfare of all mankind.

"Hard work has been a major factor in building the United States from a few scattered colonies to the most influential nation of the world in less than two centuries. Even though there is a tendency in some quarters to regard work as menial and degrading, Harding teaches her students to appreciate the dignity and honor of honest work.

Most of the early settlers of our country left Europe and came to America seeking a place where they could worship God according to the dictates of their consciences without fear of persecution or intimidation. Our Constitution was written by men of great wisdom who reverenced God, studied the Bible and recognized that each individual has certain inalienable rights . . . Harding is dedicated to emphasizing the great principles upon which our nation is built and to helping each student develop a philosophy of life patterned after that of Christ.

"A man came to Harding College in 1936 with a vision. Today where a dream once existed the reality now stands because that man placed his trust in God and worked untiringly. Because you have given unselfishly to the service of youth, because you have given courageously to the service of your country, because you have given humbly to the service of your God, we dedicate this 1957 Petit Jean to you, George Stuart Benson."

At 58, Dr. Benson is a vigorous, dynamic person with a mission ranging all over the globe: to freedom secure in America and to help guide all mankind to freedom and a high standard of living. Harding has been the citadel of his vast activities, and "the apple of his eye."

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

From the pages of that wonderfully practical Letter of James, we will this week consider these words:

Do not be deceived, my beloved brethren. Every good endowment and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of lights, in Whom there is no variation or shadow due to change. Of his own will He brought us forth by the word of truth that we should be a kind of first fruits of his creatures. (James 1:16-18)

How easy it is to be deceived by the works of men! Treasures that are not eternally worth a "bill of beans" seem so desirable to us who live in a material world. Father hates son, mother hates daughter, brothers even kill each other, families are broken up over the terms of a will—all this because of the greed and lust for that which our Lord refers to as "mammon," the material things of this life. James speaks so clearly, through the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, to our time, and to our problems. Though some of the earthly problems have changed a little since the days in which the scriptures came forth, this one problem, the love of money, seems to have remained. In this realization, then, James writes a "tract for our time."

We are not to be deceived by the supposed worth of money. For money is far from being a "good endowment," a "perfect gift" from God. It is, and how I wish that more people would realize this, merely a medium of exchange. It can work for us, if we are lovers of God, or it can destroy us, if we love only ourselves.

God has been the same in His gifts to all men of all ages. The gift of life itself—the gift of an air we can breathe and enjoy—the cool drink from a fresh mountain stream—the breath-taking beauty of the large things of nature, Grand Canyon, Yosemite Park, Skyline Drive—the exquisite fragility of the small things of nature, the violet's bloom, the snow flake—all these and more are our pleasures because of God's love for us. And as if this were not enough He even went so far as to give us His son on a cross, that we might indeed be His children and have life eternal. For those who realize these things, how true the words of James ring. "Every good endowment and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of lights in whom there is no variation or shadow due to change."

Man is so changeable. We have all known the experience of the "fair weather friend," who hangs around long enough to get something from us, but when what we have is no longer available, then we no longer have the friend. The world is full of such leeches, worthless yet so everpresent. What pleasure it is to realize that God never changes with our conditions. He only asks, "What does man really need?" and then speedily supplies that need. Never does God tire of causing the sun to shine forth, of bringing the new beauty of the changing seasons, nor of His most precious gift, the gift of constantly being willing to forgive man His sins.

With loud "hosannas" we who know Him as our Lord and Saviour acknowledge the fact that we are "a kind of first fruits of His creatures." With pleasure do we serve Him. With hope do we sow this good news among the children of men. If you seek for what seems to be an elusive pattern of peace for your life, seek no further! Share with us this week in the magnificent plans that God has for you, and for all His children.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE PLANTS

WILD MILLET

(Echinochloa crusgalli)

Sometimes called barnyard grass

RANGE: Found throughout the country; common in Maryland, particularly in the Piedmont, Southern and Eastern regions.

DESCRIPTION: Rather coarse grass; leaves flat and narrow; panicles (branched flower cluster) fairly dense and bristly; grows from about 3 to 6 feet in height.

PREFERRED HABITAT: Various moist or marshy places; grows well in upland areas, but best near water particularly in soils that are covered by a few inches of water during the early part of the growing season and then drained during the latter part.

METHOD OF ESTABLISHMENT: An annual; by seeds, broadcast anytime of the year; matures in from 45-90 days depending on climate; best to break soil where possible before broadcasting seed; flood in fall for benefit of waterfowl. (On the feasibility of planting any waterfowl plants, it is advisable to check with your Game and Fish Commission.)

FLOWERS: Spikelets in a rather dense panicle which appears bristly because of its long purple or green awns or hairs.

FRUITS: Spikelets contain smooth moderately large seeds (grains) which are humped on the rounded back and pointed.

WILDLIFE USE: One of the best duck-food plants of shallow marshes and moist soils; eaten by many other birds including quail, dove, pheasant, rail and snipe.

OTHER VALUES: A good plant for checking soil erosion along waterways.

Is Your Name CUSTER?

Do you know that:

Custer is an old and honored surname. It is of English origin. It admits of at least two derivations. For example, according to some authorities on nomenclature, it is of occupational meaning and was often bestowed in medaeval times upon those who made leather beds or cushions. This is in line with the practice, often followed when surnames came into vogue, of naming individuals according to their place of residence, physical appearance or occupation. Custer may also be a shortened form of Custeron which signifies "Son of Custance". The latter is a personal name that was popular in Cambridgeshire, England several centuries ago.

George Custer (1741-1829) served as an ensign in the Northampton County, Pennsylvania, militia during the Revolutionary War. Another patriot was private Arnold Custer (1756-1840) of the Virginia troops.

The progenitor of a substantial segment of the present day Custers in Garrett County is Emanuel Custer who, with his brother John, left Frederick County, Virginia over a century ago. Emanuel Custer first went to Somerset County, Pennsylvania and later settled near Grantsville where he died in 1829. He was the father of eight sons. John Custer settled in Cresaptown, Md., where he was a hotel keeper and blacksmith until he died. He was the grandfather of General George A. Custer (1839-1876) who served with distinction in the Northern Army during the Civil War and was killed by the Indians in Montana.

The second county session of Garrett County was held in December 1873. Jarvis Custer was a member of the jury at that time.

Michael Custer was a school trustee for the Macnadier Ridge district of Garrett County for the year ending May 1882.

Oliver Nixon Custer (1873-1942) was president of the Galesburg (Illinois) National Bank and Trust Company, state treasurer of Illinois and chairman of the Illinois State Tax Commission.

George A. Custer is vice-president, General Grinding Wheel Corporation, Philadelphia.

Robert L. Custer is known widely for his accomplishments as a research chemist with E. I. duPont de Nemours and Company.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT missile, the Navy's "Terrier," is one of a family of defensive missiles, including the Army's "Nike," which could be put into action if the nation's warning system indicated the approach of attacking planes. Primary purpose of these missiles at such a time would be to protect the nation's 92 critical civil defense targets from as many attackers as possible. The "Terrier" is shown silhouetted against the booster blast of another missile during firing practice aboard the USS Mississippi. (U. S. Navy Photo)

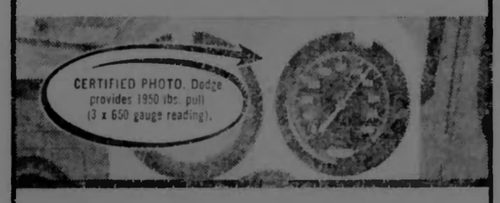
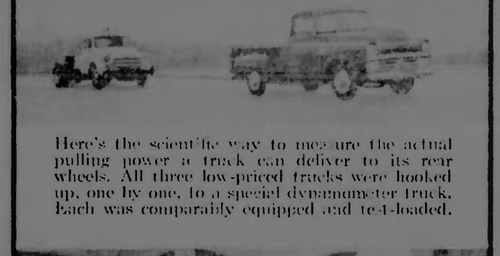
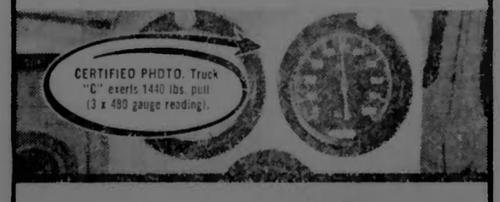
See actual road-test proof!
DODGE outpulls "other two" low-priced trucks!

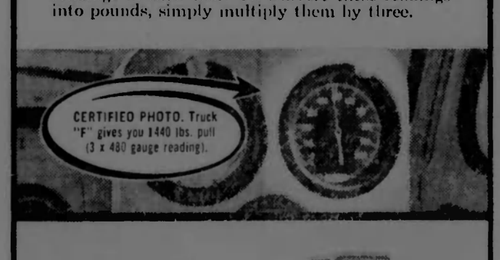


Here's the scientific way to measure the actual pulling power a truck can deliver to its rear wheels. All three low-priced trucks were hooked up, one by one, to a special dynamometer truck. Each was comparably equipped and tested-loaded.





Super-sensitive gauges inside the dynamometer truck register the maximum pull of each truck at 10 m.p.h. Insets in photos above show actual gauge readings in each case. To convert these readings into pounds, simply multiply them by three.



The results are conclusive evidence that Dodge Power Giants give you a third more pulling power than either of the "other two" low-priced makes. And this is just one of a series of tests that prove Dodge is the best truck of the low-priced three.

MARRIED

Kight - Wotring — Miss Dolores Ann Wotring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wotring, of Aurora, became the bride of Vernon Glenn Kight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kight, of Horse Shoe Run, at 1:30 o'clock on Saturday, June 8, in the Aurora Methodist church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Jack D. Fields. The church was decorated with white peonies and mock orange blossoms.

William Selders played for the ceremony and Miss Carolyn Evans sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted by her father. She was attired in a gown of white brocaded taffeta. She wore a fingertip illusion veil with a cap of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible with a cascade of white roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Joyce Teets, of Aurora, and the bridesmaid, Miss Lynne Scafati, of Rahway, N. J., were attired in aqua dresses, similar to that of the bride, and carried bouquets of red roses.

The best man was Donald Roth, of Horse Shoe Run, and ushers were Larry Bolyard, John Slawter, David Stemple, all of Aurora, and Loyal Canfield, of Elkins.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the social rooms of the church. The table was decorated with a centerpiece of red roses. Wedding cake, punch, nuts and mints were served to the guests. Aiding at the reception were Mrs. Dayton Teets, Miss Ruth Teets, Mrs. Oron Harsh, Mrs. Denzil Kight, Mrs. Ronald Parsons, Mrs. Jake Teets, Mrs. Frank Stemple and Mrs. Robert O'Nutter.

After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Kight left for a trip to Washington, D. C., then left for St. Alban's, W. Va., where Mr. Kight has employment for the summer.

Mrs. Kight is a graduate of Shepherd college where she majored in elementary education.

Mr. Kight is attending West Virginia university where he is majoring in chemical engineering, and will be graduated next June.

BIG NEWS!

The Church may not have its name blazoned across every front page, but it is big news just the same.

From infancy to old age, the Church offers many things to each and every individual.

The Church introduces human beings to God.

The Church develops man's spiritual life through experiences of worship.

The Church emphasizes the beautiful through its architecture, its services, whether ritualistic or informal, its music.

The Church develops leaders through its many activities.

The Church broadens man's outlook through its work of sending the gospel to those in far-away places.

The Church exemplifies the brotherhood of man through the welcome it extends to all who believe.

Last, and most important of all, the Church offers salvation and the assurance of eternal life for every believer.

Big news—the Church! Can you afford to miss it?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

God Remembers

DID God become God of love recently, or was he always that? This point has bothered some readers of the Bible, for in the New Testament it is made plain that God is love, but in the Old Testament very little is said about this. —Or so it used to be thought. Now that we have the Revised Standard Version, we can see that the Old Testament likewise speaks often of God's "steadfast love," an expression translating a Hebrew word which used to be translated "mercy" or "grace." God's steadfast love is the root and reason of his mercy and his grace.

Dr. Foreman

Happy Endings?

"If God were all-powerful he could keep evil from happening, and if he were all-loving he would not let it happen. But evil happens, so there cannot be a god." So runs an old objection to religion. But it never bothered the writers of the Bible. Their faith was of a stouter sort. Some people cannot believe in God unless he writes, so to speak, a happy ending for every one's story. Now the Hebrew people loved stories with happy endings, and perhaps Joseph's is such a story. In one way it has a happy ending.—Joseph the slave-boy becomes the Grand Vizier of Egypt. Joseph, the boy, his brothers were going to murder, becomes their unknown benefactor. And yet—in its setting it is not quite happy. The same book of Genesis which begins with "In the beginning, God—" ends with the stark expression, "In a coffin in Egypt." Not very hopeful! Further, when you think of all the other stories tied in with that of Joseph, you will admit that not all the threads of this story are neatly tied off in bow-knots of happy endings. What became of Potiphar's wife? the Midianite slave traders? the baker who ended a dinner for the birds? the free Egyptian people who became slaves of the king? Not all Israelite stories end just as we might wish.

Sin and Freedom

It can be said that the stories of good people come out well and the stories of bad people come out badly. There is some truth in that. There is this much truth at any rate: God has never yet abolished sin, and he permits sin's effects to continue to be terrible. The only way to abolish sin outright would be to destroy freedom; for sin is simply man's misuse of the freedom God has given him. God could, no doubt, have made the human race so that they could be wound up like clocks to run right no matter what. But he made men, not machines. And the tragic fact of sin is a fact. Thus every man's story is spoiled more or less. Indeed there are no perfect stories. God is God of love; but he is not the kind of God who would force all men to do right, regardless; nor is he the kind of God who will see to it that no matter what a man does, he is bound to be happy ever after. It is not only that men are affected by the results of their own sins. Worse than this are the injustices, the tragedies, caused for the innocent by the sins of others.

But God Remembers

Nevertheless, God does not forget. He is not careless nor powerless. Among the many truths which the story of Joseph suggests is the doctrine called Providence. Put into simple words, this means that God thinks of things beforehand. In ways we do not understand, for it is his doing and not ours, God works, both in spite of and because of the worst that sinful men can do, works to bring good out of evil. Joseph's brothers and Potiphar's wife were sinners; yet God used their sins, in his providence, to bring good into the lives of countless people. Two questions not cleared up in the Old Testament have more light cast on them by the New. Will evil and good go on side by side forever? The story of Joseph does not look so far ahead. The New Testament shows clearly, No: God will one day make a final separation of good from evil. And then what about those good persons whose lives end in tragedy? The New Testament reminds us that we never see the real end of any one's story in this world; coffins—in Egypt or elsewhere — end chapters, but no coffin ends a Last Chapter!

Along The Potomac

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

Last week I pointed out the true nature of Communism. How can we fight it? Communism is the personification of evil. Unless we see this we have no clear idea of how to combat its destructiveness. Communism must be rejected on its premises—its atheism, its materialism, and its economic determinism. We must also understand that it is a "religion" of promise—it cannot be defeated by the forces of arms. The battle with Communism is ideological and spiritual.

The weapons in the fight against Communism are: knowledge, courage, faith and dedication. The reason for education on Communism is so that we may realize the nature of the danger we face. It should be taught as a vicious Social disease—not as just a course in comparative political philosophy.

I have noted that the battle against Communism is primarily a spiritual conflict. Knowledge, faith, courage, and dedication are the superlative weapons. We must mobilize the loyalty, discipline, and willingness to sacrifice of every American in the fight to protect our nation from the onslaught of evil.

I would like to remind my readers of the public hearing to be held by the Army Corps of Engineers at the Richard Montgomery High School in Rockville on June 25. The Engineers want the views of our people on a comprehensive water development plan for the Potomac River Basin. I urge all who are interested to attend.

Despite printed information to the contrary, Rep. John A. Blatnik of the House Public Works Committee has planned all along to hold hearings on my bill to authorize a dam for the new PEPCO power plant in Montgomery County as soon as the Committee disposes of the Rivers and Harbors bill.

The Army Corps of Engineers has called for bids for the channel of Bear Creek in Garrett County, at Friendsville.

The Senate has approved a bill identical to mine now pending in the House which would preserve the insurance held by Government employees and their various benefit associations.

"FORTY-FOUR-YEARS OF THE LIFE OF A HUNTER," by Meshack Browning, Maryland's famous pioneer hunter, is now available.

Although it was first published 98 years ago and is now in its 12th edition, it is more widely read than ever before.

His truthful accounts of desperate encounters with the savage beasts of the forest, his superhuman efforts to maintain his family in the wilderness, far from human aid or associations, and his undaunted courage in facing the hardships of pioneer life cannot fail to captivate the reader.

It really deserves a place in every Marylander's library.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

The chairman of the Senate District of Columbia committee is frequently referred to as "the unofficial Mayor of Washington."

This position, like all chairmanships of Senate committees, normally is held by a member of whatever political party has the majority on our side of the Congress.

At present, therefore, a Democratic Senator is at the head of the D. C. committee and I have the honor of being the ranking minority member.

In this capacity and as a veteran of 10 years of service on the comparable committee of the House of Representatives, I naturally have an extra keen interest in Capital affairs, most of which have a direct effect on thousands of my fellow Marylanders.

Home Rule Studied

That is one of the reasons why several of my recent bills have pertained to the District, and I would now like to review them, as well as some of the other measures I have sponsored or co-sponsored since I last reported on my personal legislation.

D. C. Vote for President—Our proposed legislation to clear the way for the people of the District of Columbia to participate in the selection of the President and the Vice President is now being studied by the Senate Judiciary committee.

Home Rule Bill—Hearings will begin on July 8 on our bill to provide the Capital with an appointed governor and lieutenant governor, an elected legislative assembly, and a non-voting Delegate to the House of Representatives.

Hospital Equipment, Construction

Hospital Equipment Funds—Our bill to provide funds for the purchase of equipment for the Capital's new Hospital Center was approved quickly by the Senate and it is my hope that it will soon be signed into law.

New Hospital Construction—Hearings have been held on our proposal to make Federal assistance available for the construction of a 250-bed hospital to serve Southeast Washington and the nearby portions of Southern Maryland. I am looking forward to Senate approval of this measure.

Additional Youth Judge—Our bill to provide for an additional judge to handle the enormous workload of Washington's Juvenile court has been referred to the D. C. Committee for study.

Spanish-American War Payments

In addition to our proposed legislation for the Maryland-Capital area, the following measures also were introduced during the past two months under my sponsorship:

Loans for Students—Our bill to provide for Federal loans and loan insurance to encourage worthy individuals to seek college and university training is pending in the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare.

Widows Pensions—The Senate Finance Committee is studying our bill and a similar House measure to bring the pensions of widows of Spanish-American War veterans into line with the current cost of living.

Bill for Wreath-makers

Tax Relief for Physically Handicapped—Also before the Senate Finance Committee is our bill to allow a 15% reduction for the expenses incurred by certain physically handicapped individuals in traveling to and from work, and to provide for an additional exemption for a taxpayer, his spouse or his dependent who is permanently incapacitated, either physically or mentally.

Regulations for Wreath-makers—Our bill to exempt persons who make evergreen wreaths at home from the provisions of the wages-hours law is under study in the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare.

Aid for Farmers and Stockmen—The Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry is considering our bill to simplify, consolidate and improve the authority of the Secretary of Agriculture with respect to the making of loans to farmers and stockmen.

Notes from My Appointment Book

It was quite a busy week on Capitol Hill, with the Senate going into its daily sessions 2½ hours ahead of time to handle the enormous amount of legislation it must act on before adjournment. On the Floor of the Senate, I took part in the debate on the D. C. Appropriations Bill and also delivered an address on the proposed use of Friendship International Airport for New York-Washington-Mexico City flights. My committee work included participation in hearings on my bill to establish the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park, another of my bills to provide adequate pensions for the Capital's retired policemen and firemen, and a bill to authorize construction of a Washington stadium.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 81. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., JUNE 27, 1957. PER COPY, 8c NUMBER 17.

Shrinkage . . . . .

As we contemplate the necessity of reducing the federal budget, it would be well to study an advertisement of Republic Steel, appearing this month in national magazines under the title, "Government always shrinks a dollar."

The advertisement reads: "The only way any government can get money is by taking it from you in the form of taxes. A government doesn't manufacture or mine or farm, for profit. It has no way of earning money.

"It can only tax.

"Then government has to pay its own employes before it gives the money back to you—shrunken.

"This simple truth is overlooked when any group asks the federal government to finance its pet project.

"Yet there is a growing trend to ask the government to finance all kinds of things—our electric power, our schools—to subsidize this group or that group. Even, among extremists, to operate manufacturing plants.

"But whenever the government finances something for you, you pay for it—through taxes—with your own dollar that has inevitably been shrunk.

"The standard of a nation's living has never been raised by high taxation. It is raised by increasing productivity—a management contribution to society."

Police Nab Armed Youths at Altamont

Two teen-agers from Everett, Pa., wanted for armed robbery and burglary by Pennsylvania authorities, were arrested Tuesday afternoon at Altamont by Maryland State Police.

Lt. William E. O'Hara, commander of LaVale barracks, who figured in the arrest along with Capt. Charles W. Magaha, troop B commander, and Tfc. Milton G Hart, said the two youths admitted taking a 1940 Willys Jeep and two new .22 calibre revolvers from Everett.

Pennsylvania State police, at Bedford, said the two youths held up a service station in Coalmont, Pa., after the theft of the jeep and revolvers. He said they surrendered to police after being cornered on a side road at Altamont.

Shortly after state police had been alerted they received a call from a resident of the Altamont area who said two youths had been seen in that vicinity with the jeep. A similar tip had been received that the two boys had been spotted in Franklin, near Westernport.

Lieutenant O'Hara and Captain Magaha left for Altamont, picking up Trooper Hart at Bloomington. When they arrived at Altamont they learned the two boys had left about five minutes earlier, headed for Kitzmiller.

Cornered By Police

Within a few minutes the police noticed the jeep coming down the road. The youths apparently spotting the parked police car, turned around.

The police gave chase and cornered the youths about three quarters of a mile away on a side road along the B. and O. railroad tracks at the Altamont bridge.

The youths, Ronald Leo Stevey, 17, native of Midland, and Allen Jackson, 18, Washington native, who was driver of the vehicle, were lodged in a cell at the LaVale barracks and were taken to the Allegany county circuit court on Wednesday to waive extradition to Pennsylvania.

Moose and Woodmen Tie For Pony League Lead

Dick Struck pitched the Moose into sole possession of first place in the Oakland Pony League last Friday evening when he came up with a two-hitter and beat the Woodmen by the score of 10 to 0. But the lead was only for a short time as a Woodmen victory brought a tie for first place.

Struck struck out 11 and shared batting honors with DiSimone, both players hitting a triple and single. Dixon and Weimer had the two hits for the Woodmen. In a Wednesday game the Woodmen had edged the Moose 11-10, while on Thurday the Rotarians dropped a doubleheader, the first game to the country club, 21 to 10, and the nightcap to the Moose, 15-0.

Tuesday evening Woodmen defeated the Rotary club 13 to 1. Wotring, Prince and Colaw limited the Rotarians to two hits, singles by Sharpless and Martin. The wining team's hits were two-baggers by Beckman and Canty.

Stemple fanned six while the three Woodmen hurlers fanned eight. The victory enabled the Woodmen to tie the Moose for first place with each team winning five and losing two.

State Roads Data Sought by Council

Information concerning plans and policies for interstate roads is to be sought by the Maryland Travel Council, as the result of a motion passed at a meeting of that council last Sunday night at the Mt. Lake Park hotel.

The directors of the council voted to join with the Maryland Motor Court association in asking for this meeting with the State Roads commission. The organizations which represent those who serve Maryland's tourist industry, want to know which of the new roads will be limited access, which will be denied access, and policy toward new business on the routes which would in effect throttle existing businesses.

Travel Council officials were briefed by J. L. Towler, Cumberland, on the campaign to have route 40, Hancock to Washington, Pa., placed in the Interstate system, and on current plans for the C and O. canal parkway.

Leaders of the Travel Council met Sunday night with the Maryland Council of Chambers of Commerce. The joint conference began with a hospitality tour at the Mt. Lake Park hotel. Host was the Garrett County-Deep Creek Lake Promotion council, represented by Helmuth Heise, president; I. R. Rudy, Jr., and Aza Stanton. Earle R. Poorbaugh, director of the State Department of Information and executive director of the Maryland Travel council, was toastmaster at the dinner. Council split up for business session following the dinner.

A joint meeting was held Monday morning at Swallow Falls with some 75 members of the council and their wives attending a workshop on travel at which time James Harte, public relations director of the Greater National Capital committee, Washington Board of Trade spoke on "Attracting tourists to the nation's capital."

Heise said those who attended the meeting voiced the common complaint of all travel groups about the very poor markings about the Falls area itself. He said the travel council had suggested that something be done by the Department of Forests and Parks to remedy this condition.

Older Worker Placement Is Concern Of Agency

Six officials from the U. S. Bureau of Employment Security made a test-run of a newly developed training program in Maryland designed to provide improved services to the nation's growing number of older workers.

Maryland was a pilot state, and Federal officials used the sample instruction to make specific measurements of the effectiveness of the training course they have set up. Eventually the training program will reach into every employment agency.

Milburn W. Mann, a veteran of more than twenty years of service in employment work, will be in charge of the program locally. He is in the office of the Department of Employment Security. Mann said a large percentage of unemployed in this area fall in the age category of "over 45" workers. He said he felt that these persons had lots of good productive years ahead of them and urged employers to give them some consideration.

The Maryland Department, according to Robert B. Kimble, executive director, plans to follow up the training program by arranging a meeting with personnel representatives of business and industry to explore the possibility of a joint approach to an Older Worker job placement program.

A Shabby Heritage

More than a century ago, Lord Macaulay, the English writer and statesman, when speaking of the American Republic, made this prediction: "Your Republic will be pillaged and ravished in the twentieth century just as the Roman Empire was in the fifth century, with this difference: the devastators of the Roman Empire, the Huns and Vandals, came from abroad, while your barbarians will be the people in your own country and the product of your own institutions."

Immediate past history and recent events, illuminate the fact that we are retreating from those fundamental principles which have made this Nation outstanding. Through a combination of sheer stupidity and moral confusion we and our institutions are, in truth, diluting our most dynamic and cherished assets. Indeed, without realizing, we are now handing to our youth a shabby heritage. In explaining this ominous phenomena, it has been said that the fathers and mothers and grandparents of yesterday and yesteryears failed in their responsibility as citizens. That they were the custodians of freedom, and while each day they sang its praise, they allowed its substance to be destroyed. Will the present generation be similarly characterized?

There are signs that we have ignored the lessons of the past, and are still, because of our proneness to go with the crowd and swim with the tide, inadvertently adopting those quixotic ideas which prompted Khrushchev to prophesy in his infamous TV broadcast that "your grandchildren will live under socialism." We meet each new situation with a new expedient with little regard for its moral justification or ultimate consequence. And, as in the shameful New-Fair Deal era, it is happening so gradually we don't seem to know it. For sake of advantage, many of those who should know, turn their backs or temporize with principle and truth.

Regrettably, it appears that America apparently is afraid to defend its belief in basic principles. We seemingly lack the fortitude to draw a firm line between right and wrong. More and more we are operating in gray areas. It is becoming increasingly apparent that we are losing the courage to take a simple stand for moral rights. To our great misfortune, the professional purveyors of do-gooders with their heads in the clouds and their feet planted firmly in mid-air, and the self-styled liberals have made sheer mark. If this hypnotic drift continues, we shall lose the ability and the will to defend ourselves, even as the disciples of atheistic communism have always preached, planned and predicted.

Favor Wheat Quotas

Returns from the wheat referendum June 20 reveal that 81 percent of Maryland wheat farmers voting favored quotas on the 1958 wheat crop, it was announced. Maryland farmers cast 553 votes representing about 11 percent of the farmers eligible to vote in the referendum.

Garrett county had no votes in favor and no votes against. Less than ten farmers in the county would have been eligible to vote under the present regulations.

Nationally, preliminary returns showed 83.3 percent in favor of quotas.

Nation's fifth missile unit began to take shape near San Francisco.

A rocket plane hit an altitude of almost 81 miles.

Epitaph Collecting

I like to collect epitaphs. This one I picked up without having to go browsing. It came by word of mouth but is supposed to be in the cemetery of Old Stone Church at Lewisburg, W. Va.

"To you who are passing by,
As you are now, so once was I.
As I am now
Thou soon shalt be.
Prepare for death
And follow me."

A cadet from the academy passing by added a line of his own:

"To follow you I'm not content Until I know which way you went."

Humor on the Home Front

Our name is not an easy one for people to spell correctly but the great variations keep us all laughing—that is, all but father, who takes all spelling seriously.

This week when I got out freezer cartons for the new supply of spinach, life picked up for me in no uncertain terms. With the children all away the house was quiet, too quiet! But as I started packing in the blanched vegetable and was labeling I had to laugh all the while.

Those crazy kids, when they were doing the labeling last year, wrote in our name in full, but every Hanst was spelled differently. Why, it took the drudgery right out of the job.

No Production?

A specialist in family life tells us that soon we will have no production in the home. Clothing will only be made for the fun of it. Univac will be in the kitchen and you only press buttons to have ingredients assembled for the kind of food you want. A certain code will give you chocolate cake, another lemon pie, and so on.

All production gone, and it will be replaced by affection. But what will give the individual the feel of accomplishment? Even the freezer has taken away some of that feel. You can work all day and be as tired as heck, yet when the family rolls in for dinner there's nothing to show for a hard day's work.

I sometimes wonder if that's the reason I leave jelly sitting on the counters for two or three days—so I can impress my family, and me, with my accomplishments. Maybe other women do the same with ironing, or some other chore.

Can one feel accomplishment without production? I think not. So if most of our work is done by pressing buttons, then the homemaker of tomorrow will just have to have more children to satisfy her deeper yearnings. Maybe that is why present day families are getting larger.

It will likely take time for affection to move to number one place.

But at this moment I know if I don't get some food on the stove for cooking I can't expect any affection.

Letter to the Editor

July 26, 1957.

To the Editor,

Let's take a good look.

Apparently you wrote your baseball editorial to get letters. Since you don't have politics or whiskey editorials to sell your papers, I'll help you out.

Is baseball work or leisure? Ask the boys.

Little and Pony league rules are set up nation-wide. Why should we be different and try to change their schedule to one doubleheader a week? Parents are willing to have their boys playing baseball four nites a week or the boys wouldn't be there.

This is my fourth year working with and for baseball in this community, and I have missed two games in the league my boy was playing. It has been no hardship in spite of working part time and making a home. I have yet to be completely "Poo-ed" after a ball game. Are the eight managers, eight assistants, umpires, scorekeepers and concession stand workers "poo-ed" after working eight hours and then three or four at a ball game? If they are willing—why can't parents attend occasionally? Many parents have had boys playing baseball for three years and have yet to be seen at either ball park.

I have worked with Cub Scouts for two years and at present am an assistant leader in the Girl Scouts. Maybe I have neglected my bridge and golf game, but I believe children are more important.

In conclusion—What is best for the boys concerned and must they play to empty stands every night?

MRS. LINDSAY GONDER

Editor's Note—People must not read into my editorials any more than is there. The editorial wasn't written for any fill-in in place of politics or whiskey editorials, or to sell papers. We did it for exactly what we stated last week "to be the instigator of some careful thinking on the part of everyone. We are all interested in our boys and girls. What we want to decide is—what is best for all concerned." Only nine out of the past 52 editorials have been on the subjects of politics and whiskey. The balance have been on constructive things and for the public good.

Firemen Conventions Are Held Recently

Two conventions of firemen's organizations were concluded recently. The Allegany-Garrett county Volunteer Firemen's association concluded its 45th annual convention at Grantsville in June, while the sixty-fifth annual convention of the Maryland State Firemen's association and the 25th annual convention of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Maryland State Firemen's association was held at Ocean City June 18 to 21.

At the former the officers elected included Paul Haberlein, Frostburg, president; Francis Fatkin, Clarysville, vice-president, Cromwell Zembower, LaVale, secretary; Alvin Rankin, Frostburg, treasurer; Felix Foote, Lonaconing, chaplain.

George Comp, Jr., Deer Park, retiring president, in his annual report, showed he had officiated at 11 executive meetings, installed officers for six fire companies, attended anniversary or special dinners with six fire companies, and attended 11 other firemen events. He traveled 1,931 miles on firemen's business during the year.

The Ladies auxiliary, at its convention, elected Mrs. Elizabeth Zembower, LaVale, president; Mrs. Frances Comp, Deer Park, senior vice-president; Mrs. Arvetla Loar, Midland, junior vice-president; Mrs. Laura Shubart, Barton, secretary Mrs. Hilda Phillips, Lonaconing, treasurer; Mrs. Edna Hounshell, Cresaptown, chaplain. Mrs. Betty O'Brien and Mrs. Eveline Durst, of Grantsville, were appointed to the Ways and Means Committee.

Sixteen of the 23 auxiliaries were present.

A joint Memorial service was held in Grantsville Methodist church. The next convention will be held at LaVale. The next executive meetings will be held at Corriganville in July for firemen and at Grantsville in September, for the auxiliary.

At the state convention, James N. Jarman, Ocean City, was elected president, while Mrs. Nettie Fox, Landover Hills, was chosen president of the auxiliary. George Comp, Jr., was appointed to the state Executive committee. John Prichard, Grantsville, remains as a trustee. Mrs. Frances Comp, Deer Park, and Mrs. Sarah Carter, Mt. Savage, were named organizers for Allegany and Garrett counties.

George Comp, Jr., was among the instructors to be given a 1957 Instructors' arm patch. Between 4,000 and 5,000 firemen and their families attended with 189 of 278 fire companies registered and 91 of 193 auxiliaries registered. Mr. and Mrs. George Comp, Jr., Deer Park, and John Prichard, Grantsville, attended from this county.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland, Maryland.)

This week we shall consider these words of James, recorded in his first chapter, verses 19 and 20:

Know this, my beloved brethren. Let every man be quick to hear, slow to speak, slow to anger, for the anger of man does not work the righteousness of God.

How quick we are to judge! How quick to be angry! For some strange reason this seems to be one of the hardest of lessons for Christian people to learn. The wicked, sharp tongues of people, not only women, but men as well, have done great damage in the ongoing work of the kingdom of God. I have heard much of this, and not only have heard it, but been tempted to follow the same pattern myself. It seems to be the natural thing for a person to criticize another person for something that they have done wrong. The truly repentant sinner would have a hard time being accepted in most churches today. Perhaps not too much by pastors, though they also are sometimes not as willing to forgive as they should be, but particularly by the members who have attended these churches, for so many years, and seem to feel that they have some sort of patent on membership in the body of Christ.

I have had the experience in my own congregation of receiving into our attending fellowship some who have led openly sinful lives, and have heard and seen that they are not welcomed with open arms by my own members, too often.

When Christ came preaching repentance and belief in the Gospel of forgiveness for the sinner, the place where he struck the greatest opposition was in the ranks of those who should have been the best workers for him, the Pharisees. These Pharisees were men of great moral stature, they were very religious men. When Christ spoke in his parable of the Pharisee and the Publican of the Pharisee who claimed that he fasted twice weekly, gave of his tithe each week, gave to the poor, and all of that, he was accurate in the description of the typical Pharisee, for they indeed did all of these things. But their crime was in not understanding that their salvation had to come from outside of themselves, and that this salvation was to come by way of honest confession of sin, and the reliance on God's mercy. They criticized Christ many times for going "in to eat with sinners." And they could not grasp the meaning of his message that those who are well have no need of a physician. But those who are sick. They were guilty of a common sin among so many Christians of today, that of spiritual pride. In commenting on this condition in the Pharisees, W. E. Sangster in his book, "They Met At Calvary," has this to say: "It is usually spiritual pride that ensnares men of this quality. They reach the dizzy heights of moral achievement and they forget that one can only live at those heights upon one's knees. They begin to think that they themselves are the architects of their own virtues."

And so it is with the church of today. We too must remember that Christ has saved us from death, and that we have not earned our own salvation. If a man falls into sin—do not just be angry with his sin, try to understand what is causing it, show him the way of forgiveness, and help him to realize and correct his sinful life. "For the anger of man does not work the righteousness of God."

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

This is the eve of the world's greatest achievement in its long struggle to harness the atom for peaceful endeavors.

After 2½ years of studies, negotiations, hopes and prayers, the International Atomic Energy Agency is about to be brought into existence.

Much misunderstanding has surrounded this issue, and therefore, I would like to present a brief outline of the current status of the agency and what it is designed to accomplish.

Background of Treaty

Behind the IAEA proposal is the historic atoms-for-peace plan which President Eisenhower presented to the General Assembly of the United Nations in December of 1953.

This plan was eventually drafted into a proposed treaty, to which 80 nations gave tentative approval.

Of these 80 nations, 18 were required to submit formal ratifications to make the agreement effective.

A further provision pertaining to this point provided that 3 of the 18 ratifying countries had to be from the five-power block composed of the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada, France and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. These nations were selected because they were considered to be the most advanced in their work with the atom.

Current Situation

Eleven nations, including one in the specifically named group (Russia), have deposited ratifications;

The United States Senate has by a vote of 67 to 19 to approve the treaty, and our nation will be added officially to the list of ratifiers as soon as certain formalities are completed;

Other nations are expected to follow suit, thus providing the international agreement with a sufficient number of signatures.

It should be remembered that in all of the negotiations since the President first offered his atoms-for-peace proposal, the United States has consistently taken the initiative.)

IAEA Objectives

The objectives of the IAEA, as expressed in its Section II, are these: "The Agency shall seek to accelerate and enlarge the contribution of atomic energy to peace, health and prosperity throughout the world.

"It shall ensure, so far as it is able, that assistance provided by it or at its request or under its supervision or control is not used in such a way as to further any military purpose."

Safeguards Against Misuse

Judging from the inquiries made to me by various Marylanders, these objectives have inspired two major questions, which I would like to discuss briefly. They are:

Q. Will the United States be forced to give fissionable materials to the International Atomic Energy Agency?

A. No. Any materials we may make available will be on a purely voluntary basis. Moreover, under existing legislation, quantities of fissionable material made available to the agency by the United States must be paid for.

Q. Will nations receiving such materials be able to use them for military purposes instead of for peaceful projects?

A. Not without everyone knowing it. In the first place, there will be an extremely tight system of regulations, inspections and controls.

Furthermore, the quality of the uranium-235 which will be used in this program will be adequate for most types of power reactor but will be too low for weapons unless processed with the aid of elaborate, expensive and, consequently, noticeable facilities.

And finally the amount of fissionable materials in the possession of various nations at any one time will be relatively small.

How Come You Pump Gas Back In The Ground?

To keep you warm next winter!

The amount of natural gas your family uses varies greatly from one season of the year to another. In fact, it's not uncommon for a family to use 15 times as much gas on the coldest day in winter as on a summer day.

Billions of cubic feet of gas are constantly being piped here from the southwest. In summer, when you need less gas, the surplus supply is stored in underground rocky formations, which once held natural gas. Then on cold winter days, your increased requirements are met by tapping these down-in-the-earth storehouses.

That's one more reason why natural gas is the modern, efficient fuel. And it serves you best when you use it with modern, automatic gas appliances.

Sprays Rid Trees, Shrubs Of Bagworms

It is about time to go after the bagworms, if you happen to have any of these in your spruce, arborvitae, juniper, or related trees. They fortunately do not invade every year, but if you have even a few, they are liable to multiply rapidly and turn the richest foliage to rags, T. L. Bissell, extension entomologist at the University of Maryland says.

Trees that have been damaged have ragged limbs. The bags, two inches in length, are suspended like Chinese lanterns from branch and twig.

The worms build the bags of leaves and small twigs, woven together with tough silk threads. They hide in the bags and sally forth to defoliate the terminal branches. Since this insect is a heavy feeder, it is not too hard to kill with sprays of lead arsenate or malathion mixed in water.

Here are the directions for making these sprays: lead arsenate—use one ounce (one-fourth cup) to one gallon water. Malathion—two teaspoons to one gallon of water.

Best time to spray is in June when the new crop of bagworms is just beginning and the bags are less than one-half inch long.

With small shrubs it is sometimes practical to snip off the bags early and burn them. The proper spray can work surprising results, and if the pest is thoroughly eradicated it may not appear for several years unless trees and shrubs are reinfested from nearby trees. If bagworms are in taller trees, they are easily detected by looking for stripped leaders.

Oakland Country Club News

By JOHN FOX

Several people suggested that I write a column to keep the golfers in the area posted concerning events around the Oakland Country club—so here goes.

Twenty-six members signed up for our match with Uniontown on Sunday, June 30. We need at least 30 and then plenty of moral support besides, if we are to duplicate the hospitality displayed by Uniontown on our trip to their club last year. Players will tee off in foursomes from 10:30 a. m. to noon, and will be paired according to their handicaps. There will be two members from each team in each foursome. Both team mates will play a ball but only the lowest score will be recorded for each hole. It is possible to score three points for the team. One point on the first nine holes, one point on the second nine holes, and one point for total score.

Wednesday, June 19th, was Invitational Day at the Fox Hill Country club in Fairmont, W. Va., and four of our ladies represented the club most successfully. Each of the girls won a prize. Dot Gloffelty (first flight), won second low net; Hilda Pritts (first flight), had the most boggies, Virginia Lohr (second flight), had third low net; and Ellen Seefeld (second flight), had the most 4's.

Number 5 hole which is 500 yards and a par 5 didn't give John Reeves of Westernport much trouble this week. After two fair wood shots he got down to business and sank a 9 iron shot from 100 yards away for an eagle. John was playing with Charles Weicht.

Mrs. Donbaut, who is working in the clubhouse, told the story about Becky Teets slicing into the pasture from No. 7 tee and then playing matador with the local bull while looking for her ball.

Don Smith, tournament chairman, has organized the handicaps and has divided the members into four flights for the first intra-club match. The first round is underway now so please check the sheet.

I'm looking for a name for these weekly jottings. If you have any suggestions let me know.

The fire had gained such headway when the Deer Park and Oakland Fire companies arrived, that it was impossible to save the barn.
